Special List 13

Foreword

The General Services Administration, through the National Archives and Records Service, is responsible for administering the permanent noncurrent records of the Federal Government. These archival holdings, now amounting to more than 1 million cubic feet, date from the days of the First Continental Congress and consist of the basic records of the legislative, judicial, and executive branches of our Government. The Presidential libraries of Herbert Hoover, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry S. Truman, Dwight D. Eisenhower, John F. Kennedy, and Lyndon B. Johnson contain the papers of those Presidents and many of their associates in office. While many of the archival holdings document events of great moment in our Nation's history, most of them are preserved because of their continuing practical use in the ordinary processes of government, for the protection of private rights, and for the research use of scholars and students.

To facilitate the use of the records and to describe their nature and content, archivists prepare various kinds of finding aids. The present work is one such publication. We believe that it will prove valuable to anyone who wishes to use the records it describes.

Preface

Special lists are published by the National Archives and Records Service (NARS) as part of its records description program. The special list describes in detail the contents of certain important records series; that is, units of records of the same form or that deal with the same subject or activity or that are arranged serially. Its form and style are not fixed but vary according to the nature of the records to which it relates. Its distinguishing characteristic is that it goes beyond the general description contained in a record group registration statement, a preliminary inventory, or an inventory and describes records in terms of individual record items.

In addition to lists and other finding aids that relate to particular record groups, NARS issues publications that give an overall picture of materials in its custody. A new, comprehensive Guide to the National Archives of the United States and a guide devoted to one geographical area – Guide to Materials on Latin America in the National Archives of the United States were published in 1974. Reference information papers analyze records in the National Archives of the United States (hereafter called the Archives) on such subjects as transportation, small business, and the Middle East. Records of the Civil War are described in Guide to Federal Archives Relating to the Civil War (1962), Guide to the Archives of the Government of the Confederate States of America (1968), and Civil War Maps in the National Archives (1964); those of World War I in Handbook of Federal World War Agencies and Their Records, 1917-1921 (1943); and those of World War II in the two-volume guide, Federal Records of World War II (1950-51). Genealogical records are described in Guide to Genealogical Records in the National Archives (1964). In the Archives are large quantities of audiovisual materials received from all sources: Government, private, and commercial. The Guide to the Ford Film Collection in the National Archives (1970) describes one of the largest private gift collections. The extensive body of maps and charts is described in Guide to Cartographic Records in the National Archives (1971).

Many bodies of records of high research value have been microfilmed by NARS as a form of publication. Positive prints of these microfilm publications, many of which are described in the current Catalog of National Archives Microfilm Publications, are available for purchase. For other publications, see the most recent Select List of Publications of the National Archives and Records Service, General Information Leaflet No. 3.

Introduction

Among the duties assigned to the War Department when it was created by an act on August 7, 1789, was the administration of Indian Affairs. A Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA) was organized as a separate agency in the Department on March 11, 1824. An act of July 9, 1832 (4 Stat. 564), authorized the appointment of a Commissioner of Indian Affairs who, subject to the Secretary of War and the President, should have "the direction and management of all Indian Affairs and all matters arising out of Indian relations." The BIA passed from military to civil control when it was transferred to the Department of the Interior at the time of its establishment in 1849.

Functions and policies of the Bureau have changed with time and circumstances. By 1970 the principal objectives were to encourage and train native Americans and Alaskans to manage their own affairs under the trust relationship to the Federal Government, to facilitate full development of their human and natural resource potentials, to mobilize all public and private aids to their advancement, and to utilize their skills and capabilities in the management of programs for their benefit.¹

The records of the BIA and its predecessors comprise Record Group 75 in the National Archives of the United States. The maps and other cartographic records, dating from the early 1800's to the mid-1960's, were transferred to the National Archives at different intervals from 1938 to 1972. They amount to about 294 cubic feet, including 13 cubic feet of aerial photographic prints of lands in certain Indian reservations in Arizona, New Mexico, and Utah not described in this special list.

This list consists of revised descriptions of cartographic records of the BIA maintained as central map files by the Mails and Files Division and cartographic records of the Irrigation Division described in Laura E. Kelsay, comp., List of Cartographic Records of the Bureau of Indian Affairs, NARS Special List 13 (Washington, 1954), and descriptions of cartographic records of 10 other divisions or branches of the BIA and of a few Indian agencies and other field offices.

Although the Mails and Files Division had custody of certain records of the Bureau, each of the other divisions also kept its own records. Brief summary descriptions of the types of maps are given in the introductory remarks for the central map files and for the separate divisions preceding the more detailed descriptions given under numbered entries by State or the United States as a whole.

No attempt has been made in this list to cross-reference items described under one State to related items described under another State or between one division and another. Using the index to proper names at the end of the list, the reader can locate all the references to a given Indian tribe, band, or reservation listed herein.

Many differences in the spelling of names of tribes, bands, and reservations were found on the maps. The following sources were consulted in determining the spelling to be used in the list:

Hodge, Frederick W., ed., Handbook of American Indians North of Mexico, Bureau of American Ethnology Bulletin 30 (Washington, 1907-10), 2 vols.

Kappler, Charles J., comp. and ed., Indian Affairs: Laws and Treaties (Washington, 1903), 2 vols. (57th Cong., 1st sess., S. Doc. 452).

- Kroeber, A. L., Handbook of the Indians of California, Bureau of American Ethnology Bulletin 78 (Washington, 1925), 995 p.
- Royce, Charles C., comp., Indian Land Cessions in the United States, Bureau of American Ethnology, 18th Annual Report, pt. 2 (Washington, 1899), p. 521-997.
- U.S. Congress, House, Committee on Public Lands, Compilation of Material Relating to the Indians of the United States and the Territory of Alaska, Including Certain Laws and Treaties Affecting Such Indians, by Subcommittee on Indian Affairs . . . Making Study of Problems in Connection With the Public Lands of the United States Pursuant to H. Res. 66 (Washington, 1950), 1,110 p. (81st Cong., 2d sess., Serial No. 30).

When the above sources showed inconsistencies in spelling, the Territory and State maps published by the General Land Office (GLO, 1876-1945) were used to help determine the most acceptable spelling.

Some maps described in this list are dated to show when they were prepared or when the surveys were made. Some bear the date of approval or certification by the Secretary or Acting Secretary of the Department of the Interior, the Commissioner or Superintendent of Indian Affairs, the superintendent of an Indian agency, a surveyor general of a State or Territory, or the Commissioner of the GLO. Other maps give the date of the information shown or the date when they were received by the BIA. Any of these dates may have been used in describing the maps. Because many of the maps are undated, it is not possible to give an overall date for the maps of a given administrative unit.

In addition to the cartographic records listed herein, others pertaining to Indian affairs are on file in other record groups, the most important of which are Records of the Office of the Chief of Engineers, Record Group 77; Records of the United States Senate, Record Group 46; Records of the Office of the Secretary of the Interior, Record Group 48;² Records of the Office of the Quartermaster General, Record Group 92; Records of the Soil Conservation Service, Record Group 114; and Records of the Bureau of Land Management (the former GLO), Record Group 49.³ Cartographic records may also be found among the unsegregated textual records of these and other record groups in the National Archives of the United States.

The cartographic records described in this list may be examined in the research room of the Cartographic Archives Division in accordance with regulations issued by the Administrator of General Services. NARS is equipped to provide reproductions of maps, plats, and related records in its custody. Information concerning the cost of reproductions will be provided upon request.

Related textual records are described in Edward E. Hill, comp., Preliminary Inventory of the Records of the Bureau of Indian Affairs, NARS Preliminary Inventory 163 (Washington, 1965), 2 vols. Volume 1 includes detailed information about the history and organization of the BIA and functions of the different divisions, and volume 2 gives information about the field offices and their records.

This list was prepared under the direction of Ralph E. Ehrenberg and Patrick D. McLaughlin of the Cartographic Archives Division. Valuable assistance was given by Virginia K. Cooke, who did most of the typing and aided in the preparation of the index and labeling of the published maps. Assistance was also furnished by members of the staff of the Natural Resources Branch, who made many searches for related textual records.

Central Map Files

Most of the cartographic records in the four series described in this part of the list were transferred to the National Archives in 1938 from the Mails and Files Division of the BIA, where they were maintained as central map files by the Bureau. Others were received with a large accession from the Branch of Property and Supply in 1968. Although most of them were prepared by or for the BIA, some were acquired from other sources for official use, often as exhibits or as basic sources of information. Some may have been prepared before the Bureau was established.

The cartographic records in the central map files are described in two groups: A—numbered maps (first and second series) consisting of two files of manuscript, annotated, photoprocessed, and published maps pertaining to Indian lands and reservations; and B—unnumbered maps consisting of published and annotated administrative maps (series three), and published maps of Indian reservations (series four).

The maps in the first and largest series were numbered by the Bureau. They were originally filed in numbered cardboard tubes, many maps often in one tube. They have been removed from the tubes, flattened, and filed by map number. Most of them date from the early 1800's to 1938. Some later numbered maps, dating from 1939 to the 1960's, were added to this series in 1968. The maps in the second series are similar except that they were not numbered by the Bureau. Some were in portfolios and parcels, others were in tubes, and a few received in 1968 were in rolls and folders. They have been removed from the containers and assigned numbers preceded by the letters "CA." Maps in these two series are filed separately but described together under group A, numbered maps, entries 1-413. Except for a few entries under Wyoming, the entry numbers are the same as those in the 1954 edition of this list. Many entry descriptions have been revised and items have been added.

The third series is composed of administrative maps described in general terms under group B, unnumbered maps, entry 414. They date from 1878 to 1947. Several maps were added to this series from the 1968 accession. The maps in the fourth series are an incomplete set of early maps of Indian reservations dating from 1910 to 1921. They are listed alphabetically by name of reservation under entry 415. Some maps listed under this entry in the 1954 edition of this list were transferred to the Forestry and Grazing Division and are now listed under entry 853.

A. NUMBERED MAPS

The first two series of the central map files are described in this part of the list. Most of the maps are manuscript or annotated; some are published or photoprocessed.

The maps in these two series show exploration routes, tribal lands, Indian cessions and reservations, areas selected for withdrawal from and additions to reservations, forts and military reservations, boundary lines, private land grants, roads and railroads, railroad grants, allotments to individual Indians, homestead claims, school lands, church lands, townsites, national forests and parks, timber and mineral lands, farming and grazing districts, cultivated and uncultivated lands, irrigable lands, irrigation projects, and rights-of-way through Indian lands of railroads, pipelines, telephone and telegraph lines, highways, electric transmission lines, canals, and irrigation ditches. Many of the maps, particularly those showing rights-of-way, are on indefinite loan to the BIA for use in its land records and title improvement program.

A 3- by 5-inch card index lists the maps by area or State and gives the title or subject, date, and file number. Usually the size and scale of the map are given and in most cases the name of the agency or person responsible for the preparation of the map. The ribbon copies of the cards are filed by area with subdivisions for tribe, Indian agency, Indian reservation, or other administrative units, such as military reservations and Indian schools. One set of carbons is filed by map number, thus forming a serial or shelf list. The other set of carbons and some cards that were retyped by the BIA are filed by subject.

In addition to the card index there are six old map registers or ledgers. Three are for railroads, one is for telephone and telegraph lines, and two are for all types of maps. The most useful is a large register labeled "Map Index," apparently begun about 1883 to supersede an earlier one. Entries from the earlier register were copied and later entries added. This "index" or register contains information that cannot be derived directly from the maps themselves or from the card index. The register also serves as a double check against maps for which the tube number is known but for which the map number is not known.

Maps in the first two series are described together in the same order as the area index mentioned above; that is, alphabetically by State or Territory, with sections for the United States as a whole, Canada, and Mexico. Within these major geographic divisions they are described under the specific administrative unit, such as Indian agency, reservation, tribe, military reservation, or school, to which they relate. A map is listed under one of these units even though it represents the area before or after the existence of the particular unit. Although only a few of the maps are listed by title, the general nature and contents of all are given. A map pertaining to more than two administrative units is described under the "general" section for the State or Territory. A map pertaining to only two administrative units is described under the first one appearing in the title, and a cross-reference directs the person searching for the second one to the proper entry. Cross-references are also used for different spellings of the same name and for different names for the same reservation.

Alabama

1. GENERAL. 6 items.

A copy of a map of West Florida, which includes the present State of Alabama, showing villages of the Choctaw, Chickasaw, and Upper Creek Nations and including references to treaties of 1765, 1771, and 1772. A sketch, dated December 1809, of the rivers in Alabama and Tennessee running into the Tennessee River as far east as the mouth of the Hiwassee River in Tennessee; the sketch also shows the Chickasaw and Cherokee Indian boundary lines. A diagram showing the Choctaw Cession of 1830, the Creek Cession of 1832, and the Chickasaw Cession of 1833. Maps of southeastern United States, including Alabama, showing the location of various Indian tribes. A map of Alabama compiled by the GLO in 1895.

2. CHEROKEE INDIAN LANDS. 2 items.

Part of a map of the United States with Cherokee lands indicated. A sketch made by Col. Richard Brown, August 5, 1814, showing the Cherokee boundary line.

3. CHOCTAW INDIAN LANDS. 1 item.

A map, compiled in 1882, showing lands ceded by the Choctaw Nation to the United States and by the United States to the Choctaw Nation, including parts of the Choctaw Cessions of 1803, 1805, and 1830 that lay partly in the present State of Alabama.

4. CREEK INDIAN LANDS AND RESERVATIONS. 10 items.

A map of Alabama showing the location of Creek lands under the treaty of March 1832. Large-scale maps of Barbour, Chambers, Macon, and Russell Counties showing the locations of Creek reservations under the treaty of March 1832. Maps, dated 1834, showing Indian reservations in the Coosa and Tallapoosa Land Districts. A diagram of Alabama showing lands of friendly Creeks. A map showing Indian reservations, lands entered and patented, and school lands in Elmore, Tallapoosa, Lee, Macon, Russell, Bullock, and Barbour Counties. A map of part of Alabama and Florida showing a proposed railroad route and the Creek boundary line.

Alaska

5. GENERAL. 41 items.

A map of northwestern America, compiled in 1867, showing the territory ceded by Russia to the United States and annotated to show Russian and Esquimaux settlements. A chart of the American northwest coast showing the track of the U.S. revenue cutter Wolcott during its cruise in June and July 1875 and the area occupied by the Haida Indians. Maps, dated 1875, showing distribution of the native tribes of Alaska and the adjoining territory. A map of Koowak (Kobuk) River relating to a reconnaissance by Lt. J. C. Cantwell in 1885. Sketch maps and a general chart of Alaska made by the Coast and Geodetic Survey (C&GS) in 1885 and 1890, some of which are annotated to show locations of schools, schools proposed, and schools in operation. Maps, dated 1893 and 1910, showing public schools for natives of Alaska, reindeer stations, and good pasturage for reindeer. Maps, dated 1907-10, showing the Chugach National Forest with additions, area proposed for elimination, and military and game reserves. Plats, dated 1910 and 1911, of surveys of additional homestead claims of soldiers in the Controller Bay District. Maps of preliminary survey and definite location of railroads, including a plan of a proposed bridge and trestle and maps of terminal tracts in the Controller Bay and Katalla Bay areas, 1907-10. Maps, dated 1938-43, pertaining to construction of a new school building on the school reserve at Teller Mission, space for Alaskan activities in the proposed Federal building at Wrangell, a proposed national monument in the vicinity of Valdez, lands set aside for Indian reservations, a road and storage plant of the Standard Oil Co. at Bethel, and lands in the Bethel Hospital Reserve granted to the Civil Aeronautics Authority. A map showing right-of-way, approved May 18, 1967, for a road across tribal lands of the Klukwan Indian Reservation.

Arizona

6. GENERAL. 60 items.

Maps of the country between the frontiers of Arkansas and New Mexico explored by Capt. R. B. Marcy in 1849-52, which also show routes and trails as far west as the Colorado River. A map, dated 1864, of the Colorado River from La Paz to Bill Williams Fork, based upon the exploration of 1st Lt. J. C. Ives. Large-scale topographic maps of the Department of Arizona, 1875-76 and some undated. Maps of Arizona Territory and the State of Arizona and adjoining States and Territories, some showing exploration routes, locations of Indian tribes and reservations, mail routes, railways, private land grants, 40- and 50-mile-limit railway grants, and national forests; some bear annotations pertaining to Indian lands, tribes, and reservations. Maps showing Indian reservations in Arizona and adjoining States, some of which show sites selected for schools, military reservations, withdrawals from and additions and restorations of lands to some reservations, irrigation and reclamation projects (including proposed ditches, dam-sites and reservoir sites), and areas in which well-drilling operations have been carried on. An undated map of lands near Fort Bowie. A few maps of proposed irrigation ditches, canals and reservoirs, roads, and railroads. A map showing right-of-way, approved December 5, 1934, to the city of Phoenix for the extension of a sewerline across the Indian sanatorium. Annotated maps (5 sheets, compiled in 1938) of the Parker Migratory Waterfowl Refuge in Arizona and California along the Colorado River. A map showing a transmission line right-of-way across Colorado River tribal lands.

7. CAMP McDOWELL (FORT McDOWELL) INDIAN RESERVATION. 6 items.

Part of a map showing the Rio Verde Valley near Fort McDowell. A diagram showing outline of Camp McDowell Indian Reservation and relative position of a ranch. A plat of a part of the reservation showing a canal, river, and cross sections. A plat showing proposed extension of the reservation. A sketch map of Camp McDowell and Salt River Reservations showing the farm districts. A map showing location of a power transmission line of the city of Phoenix across the Camp McDowell Reservation. See also entry 24.

8. CAMP THOMAS MILITARY RESERVE. 1 item.

A map, bearing a file mark including the date 1877, of the Military Reserve at Camp Thomas, Ariz.

9. CAMP VERDE INDIAN RESERVATION. 1 item.

A map, approved in 1933, showing location of a highway through the reservation.

10. CHIRICAHUA INDIAN RESERVE. 1 item.

A map of part of Arizona showing the reserve.

11. COLORADO RIVER INDIAN RESERVATION. 24 items.

A map of a proposed irrigation canal, surveyed in 1867, for the Colorado River Indian Reservation. Maps, approved 1906-8, of definite location and amended definite location surveys of railroads, including station grounds. A plat, approved June 14, 1909, of the townsite of Parker, a plat showing the location of the townsite, and a map showing allotments nearby. A map of the irrigation project on the reservation at the close of fiscal year 1916. A map, dated May 1915, showing the Colorado River from Blythe Intake to the south boundary of the reservation with a proposed new levee; also sketch maps, approved in 1920, of a proposed cutoff on the river. Maps showing rights-of-way or proposed locations of an oil line, a telephone line, a water pipeline, and highways. A map showing accreted land within the reservation.

12. FORT APACHE MILITARY AND INDIAN RESERVATIONS AND SCHOOL. 52 items.

Topographic maps of Fort Apache, Arizona Territory, showing the site of a proposed milk ranch; one map has annotations of 1923 showing land to be reclaimed and distributed to Indians and the location of the Fort Apache Agency and boarding school. A map of Fort Apache Military Reservation as surveyed in 1909 (original survey made in 1870) annotated to show erroneous features represented on the map. Maps of Fort Apache Indian Reservation showing fire areas, forest types, reserved land, permitted grazing locations or districts, cattle and sheep ranges, fences, farm districts, stockmen's districts, locations of schools, proposed and completed telephone lines, roads, and trails. A sketch map showing the existing and proposed location of the Fort Apache School in 1893, and a plat showing the buildings and garden of the Cibecue Day School in 1908. Maps showing the location of land to be used by the Catholic Church. Right-of-way maps, most of which were approved 1920-32, of highways, a telephone line, and a railroad (including a map of station grounds). A map showing a secondary road between Whiteriver and East Fork as constructed in 1938-39. Maps pertaining to irrigation projects and including locations of ditches, canals, reservoirs, and powerlines. Maps showing locations of minerals, mining claims, and logging areas. A 1942 timber survey map, including a timber stand summary. See also entry 27.

FORT McDOWELL INDIAN RESERVATION.

See entry 7.

13. FORT MOJAVE (MOHAVE) INDIAN AND MILITARY RESERVATIONS. 40 items.

A map of the Indian reservation, and a sketch map of a proposed school farm to accompany a report by the superintendent of irrigation in August 1907. A map (plan) of Herbert Welsh Institute at Fort Mojave, including the military and hay and wood reserves. Maps showing property of certain land and irrigation companies and reservoirs, levees, canals, and ditches. Maps showing allotments on the reservation and lands and the proposed irrigation system of the Cotton Land Co. in 1910. A plat of part of the Indian school farm showing proposed improvements and drainage in 1913. Maps pertaining to right-of-way of a water pipeline for a mining and milling company, 1916-17. A map showing a proposed road between Fort Mojave, Ariz., and Needles, Calif. Maps, approved in 1926, showing Fort Mojave military and hay and wood reserves to be withheld from sale and entry. A map of the Fort Mojave Indian Reservation as surveyed in 1928 and approved January 23, 1931, and a map showing proposed additions to the reservation.

14. FORT VERDE MILITARY RESERVATION. 1 item.

A map of the reservation, ca. 1890.

15. GILA BEND INDIAN RESERVATION. 9 items.

A map furnished by George W. Gordon, special Indian agent, in connection with his report of June 24, 1889, on the Gila Bend Reservation, that bears a copy of an Executive order of December 12, 1882, setting aside lands for the Papago and other Indians. A map of the Gila Bend Reservation allotted by an Executive order of December 6, 1894. Maps of irrigation canals and irrigation ditches on the reservation, 1906-20. See also entry 22.

16. GILA RIVER INDIAN RESERVATION. 41 items.

A map, bearing a file mark including the date 1879, of the reservation and surrounding territory. Maps showing the Gila River Reservation for the Pima and Maricopa Indians, the areas set aside by an act of 1859 and various Executive orders, a proposed extension of the reservation, reservation boundaries, farmlands, roads, railroads, population, medical districts, day schools, and mineral leases. A map, dated 1901, of a Maricopa Indian settlement on the Gila River Reservation showing a canal, roads, and land cultivated. Maps pertaining to irrigation and showing the locations of dams, canals, ditches, wells, pumping stations, transmission lines, and irrigable and irrigated lands. Blueprints of maps and plans, dated 1918-19, of the Gila River project. Right-of-way maps, approved 1888-1937, for railroads (including maps of depot grounds), highways, and telegraph and telephone lines. See also entry 23.

17. HAVASUPAI (YAVA SUPAI) INDIAN LANDS AND RESERVATION. 8 items.

A map showing lands occupied by the Havasupai Indians from a reconnaissance made in June 1881. Sketches showing existing and proposed irrigation ditches. A map of the Supai Canon Indian School grounds, surveyed and platted in 1900, with accompanying plan of a well and a sketch showing farming ground and a proposed irrigation ditch. Two plats showing the reservation according to survey approved in 1905, and a sketch map of the reservation, ca. 1912.

18. HOPI (MOQUI) INDIAN AGENCY AND RESERVATION. 13 items.

A map, bearing a file mark including the date 1880, showing Moqui villages and Agency, boundary of Moqui claim, Navajo and non-Indian settlements on the claim, and boundary of farming and grazing lands. Two maps of the Moqui or Hopi Indian Reservation, one of which shows a proposed division of the reservation. A large-scale topographic map and plans of Keams Canyon, one of which bears the date 1886. A map of the Tusayan quadrangle that includes the area of Keams Canyon and Oraibi Butte, Ariz. A Forest Service map, dated 1909, of the Moqui Indian Reservation showing types of vegetation and annotated to show area recommended for special protection. A sketch showing topography and bearing information concerning land cover relative to timber and grazing, agricultural and grazing allotments, and unsurveyed lands. A map showing the Southwestern Pacific Railroad system in the reservation. A map showing proposed development and extension of a coal mine, ca. 1926. An annotated copy of a 1940 range improvement map. See also entry 21.

19. HUALPAI (HUALAPAI OR WALAPAI) INDIAN RESERVATION. 12 items.

A sketch map of the Hualpai Indian Reservation. A map of the west, south, and east boundaries of the reservation as surveyed in 1900. A plat, approved July 9, 1918, showing land desired by railroad for a quarry site. Right-of-way maps, approved 1923-33, for a railroad, telephone and telegraph lines, and highways across the reservation. Three unapproved plats showing mining claims within the reservation.

20. KAIBAB INDIAN RESERVATION. 7 items.

A map of the reservation, dated 1917, showing boundary as withdrawn by the Secretary, October 16, 1907, and the adjustment of the boundaries to conform with the lines of public survey. A plat of the reservation, dated 1918, showing present and proposed boundaries, locations of an Indian school, a ranch, and an irrigation project. A map showing land proposed to be eliminated from the reservation. A plat of T. 41 N., R. 2 W., Gila and Salt River meridian, Ariz., surveyed in 1911, showing irrigation ditches and cultivated land near the eastern boundary of the reservation. A map showing a Forest Service telephone line from the Utah-Arizona boundary to the eastern boundary of the reservation. A 1921 map of the reservation showing roads, including the Kaibab Wagon Road, and a similar map accompanying a report of an investigation made concerning the trespassing of stock on Indian lands.

MARICOPA INDIAN LANDS. See entry 23.

MOJAVE, FORT. See entry 13.

MOQUI INDIAN LANDS. See entries 18 and 21.

21. NAVAJO (NAVAHO) INDIAN LANDS AND RESERVATION. 86 items.

Maps of the Navajo country. Parts of State maps, dated 1882-1909, showing the Navajo Reservation (including subdivisions), the Moqui (Hopi) Reservation, and other reservations, some of which are annotated to show areas reserved by Executive orders. Topographic maps of the reservation showing routes of survey and travel. Maps of the boundaries of the Navajo Indian Reservation as surveyed in 1869, 1884-85, and partly resurveyed in 1919-20. A sketch map of the Navajo Reserve and proposed extension. Sketch maps of the Navajo Extension and adjoining area south of the Moqui Reservation, with information in margin relating to area, population, dry farming, and stock raising. See also entry 411.

B. UNNUMBERED MAPS

The maps described in this part of the list are from the last two series of the central map files: published and annotated administrative maps (series

3) and published maps of Indian reservations (series 4). Each series is filed chronologically.

414. ADMINISTRATIVE MAPS. 40 items.

The administrative maps are small-scale, special-purpose, published maps generally of the United States and the area west of the Mississippi River that show in color the Indian reservations and in some instances "number of Indians belonging thereto." Place and reservation names are included as well as State boundaries, the principal rivers, and roads and railroads. Though they are an incomplete set of published maps, they reflect the official activities of the BIA and are helpful in showing the approximate area and distribution of the Indian reservations, the locations of Indian agencies and schools, and other information. Maps are included for the following dates: 1878, 1882-85, 1893-95, 1900-1904, 1907-9, 1911, 1916, 1919, 1923, 1933, 1935, and 1941. There are also a few special maps, including two showing Indian tribes, reservations, and settlements in the United States, 1939, and the 1943 revised edition; maps of Alaska showing locations of hospitals, schools, radio stations, and reindeer stations, 1937, 1940, and 1947 editions; and a blue-line print of a 1937 regional administrative map of Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Michigan showing county and Indian reservation boundaries, Indian population, agency headquarters, and locations of schools and hospitals. Other administrative maps include several small maps showing reservations under the jurisdiction of certain agencies, a small-scale 1935 map of the area west of the Mississippi River showing boundaries of field districts and district headquarters, a 1941 map showing area office headquarters and field offices (excluding those in Alaska), and a 1941 map overprinted in color to show Indian reservations, agency and district headquarters, boundaries of district jurisdiction, and transportation routes. There are also four annotated maps, one showing districts 1-10 in color, one showing revised boundaries of district jurisdictions, one showing boundaries of superintendent's districts 1-9, and the other showing districts and parts of districts covered by the regional personnel of the divisions within the Resources Branch (the Forestry and Grazing Division, the Extension Division, the Civilian Conservation Corps-Indian Division, and the Soil and Moisture Conservation Operations Division). Filed with these maps are organization charts of the Office of Indian Affairs for 1911, an undated chart (ca. 1921), and a volume entitled Symbols and Instructions for Maps and Plans published by the Office in 1941.

415. INDIAN RESERVATION MAPS. 55 items.

The following published large- and medium-scale land survey planimetric-type maps of Indian reservations show reservation and township boundaries, place names, rivers and lakes, roads, railroads, schools, and church and agency reserves. Compilation manuscript maps are on file for several of the reservations. For a list of later published maps of Indian reservations, see entry 853.

Cartographic Records of the Land Division

The Land Statistics, Reservations, and Grants Division established in 1846 was later referred to as the Land and Law Division. In 1907 a separate Land Division was established.

Duties of the Land Statistics, Reservations, and Grants Division included all business connected with the location and survey of lands set apart for the Indians, the examination of claims concerning land-ownership, the assignment or conveyance of the lands, and all associated correspondence.

Conflicts arose over some of the early surveys. The sixth section of an act (13 Stat. 41), approved April 8, 1864, provided for the survey of Indian and other reservations and other Indian lands by the GLO in conformity with the rules and regulations under which the public lands were surveyed.

An increase in the responsibilities of the BIA resulted in reorganization and expanded duties. An organization chart in the 1908 Report of the Com- missioner of Indian Affairs shows the two sections of the Land Division. Section A had charge of matters concerning population and allotment; Section B, matters relating to the sale and use of Indian land. By 1911 the Land Division consisted of five sections and was responsible for all matters pertaining to allotments, contracts, sales, records, and forestry and irrigation (its field section).

According to the 1934 Annual Report of the Office of Indian Affairs, the activities of the Land Division included work in "land acquisition, mineral rights and leases, allotments of land in severalty, enrollment of individual Indians, tribal litigation in the Court of Claims, legislation, and hunting and fishing rights."

In the reorganization of 1940 the Land Division became a part of the Indian Resources Branch and later the Branch of Land and Branch of Realty under the Division of Resources.

The cartographic records of the Land Division now in the National Archives of the United States are in three series. The first and largest series was received from the Branch of Realty of the BIA in 1954. It consists of 78 volumes of manuscript, published, and photoprocessed township plats and diagrams relating to surveys in Indian reservations and adjacent areas dating from about 1850 to 1920. The volumes include some manuscript and annotated maps and plats of special surveys.

The second series consists of unbound township plats and diagrams of Indian lands or lands formerly in reservations dating from about 1852 to 1935. They were received in portfolios and parcels with other maps from the Bureau in 1938. Most of the plats are similar to those in the numbered volumes. The plats and diagrams are now arranged in small, numbered folders by State and thereunder by Indian tribe or reservation.

The third series consists of manuscript, annotated, and published maps relating to Indian lands and reservations from about 1911 to 1940. These maps were received from the Branch of Property and Supply of the BIA in 1968. They are now arranged in folders by State and thereunder by Indian reservation.

Maps and plats in these three series are described in two groups: A—special maps, plats, and diagrams in the township plat files relating to the survey of Indian lands (first and second series); and B—manuscript, annotated, and published maps relating to other activities concerning Indian lands and reservations (third series).

See the appendix for a tabulated list of the total number of township plats, maps, and diagrams (first and second series) by name of Indian tribe or reservation and with volume and folder numbers.

A. SPECIAL MAPS, PLATS, AND DIAGRAMS IN THE TOWNSHIP PLAT FILES

Many of these maps and plats are manuscript or annotated and represent early surveys of Indian lands and reservations made by the office of a surveyor general and the GLO for the BIA. The earliest plats are of the Half-Breed Sac and Fox Reservation as surveyed in 1832-33 under contract with William Clark, Superintendent of Indian Affairs. Some of the plats are of boundary surveys, standard parallels, base lines, guide meridians, and exterior township lines within a reservation. Also included are plats of allotment surveys, townsites, areas set aside for Indians by Executive orders, private claims within the Pueblo Indian grants, and a few plats of former military reservation lands and other special surveys.

They are bound in volumes with published township plats of lands in Indian reservations and adjacent areas. Several of the maps and plats are from the numbered series of the central map files of the Mails and Files Division and were taken from that file and bound with the plats before they were transferred to the National Archives and Records Service. Some are from the unbound plats that are arranged in folders by name of Indian reservation. The volume and page numbers or the number of the folder in which these maps are filed are given after each description. See the appendix for a tabulated list of the number of township plats, maps, and diagrams in volumes and folders by name of tribe or reservation.

Arizona

416. COLORADO RIVER INDIAN RESERVATION. 6 items.

A manuscript map showing exterior boundaries and a few township lines within the reservation, and manuscript plats of Tps. 1 and 2 N., R. 1 W., and T. 2 N., R. 1 E., Colorado River meridian, as surveyed by Chandler Robbins in 1875-76 and approved by the Surveyor General at Tucson on May 12, 1876 (vol. 1, p. 49 and 51-53). Two supplemental plats prepared for the purpose of accommodating Colorado River Indian allotments within certain sections of Tps. 8 and 9 N., R. 20 W., Gila and Salt River meridian, approved February 17, 1916 (vol. 1, p. 17¼ and 18 A).

Two tabulation sheets giving statistical information on the Wind River tribal land acquisition project from August 1939 to November 1941.

Cartographic Records of the Irrigation Division

The Irrigation Division was not formally established until 1924 but was preceded by administrative units in the BIA central office concerned with irrigation matters and by engineers and superintendents of irrigation in the field. By 1931 irrigation was practiced on Indian reservations in 12 Western States. The Division was responsible for investigating new Indian irrigation projects, carrying out irrigation programs approved by Congress, and designing, constructing, maintaining, and operating works. Under the BIA reorganization of 1940, the Irrigation Division was assigned to the Engineering Branch.

Maps of the Division, including those of predecessor units and the Engineering Branch, were transferred to the National Archives and Records Service in 1952. They date from the early 1900's to about 1948. Some of the base maps, later annotated, are for earlier dates. These maps are manuscript, annotated, published, and photoprocessed. Many were received from the field offices. Some are maps of the reservations showing allotments, irrigable and nonirrigable lands, locations of irrigation projects, cultivated areas, acreage under irrigation, canals and ditches, wells, pump stations, and dams. Included are maps and plans of canals, dams, reservoirs, and other irrigation facilities.

General descriptions of these maps are given in entries 416-540 in the 1954 edition of this list. Those entries have been revised and renumbered 632-755 in this edition. Cartographic records pertaining to irrigation that were received from the BIA since 1954 have been added to the file and included in this revised list. The maps are arranged in folders by States and thereunder by Indian reservation or irrigation project.

United States

632. WESTERN. 166 items.

A looseleaf folio of 153 published and photoprocessed planimetric and topographic maps, dated 1908-32, of Indian reservations and irrigation projects on Indian lands showing Indian allotments, irrigation systems, irrigable areas, canals, and reservoirs. Some of the maps are annotated. Also included is a 1929 published map of part of the United States west of the Mississippi River showing activities of bureaus of the Department of the Interior. An attached index, revised to June 23, 1932, lists the maps by State and thereunder by reservation or project. A 1933 published map of part of the United States west of the Mississippi River, annotated to show locations of irrigation projects, dams, and reservoirs; also a 1935 map overprinted in color to show Indian reservations, irrigation projects, locations of irrigation supervising engineers, and other information. 669. Pala Indian Reservation. 36 items.

Blueprints of two 1912 maps—one a topographic map of the reservation showing allotments, pipelines, and ditches; the other showing pipelines in the village of Pala. A blue-line print of a 1913 map of the irrigation system of the reservation annotated to show lines completed during 1915. Blueprints of structural plans, dated 1912-15, of irrigation facilities on the reservation. A blue-line print of a 1925 revised map of the irrigation system annotated in 1926 to show locations of proposed new cement pipes. A blueprint of a 1916 map annotated to show location of a proposed diversion dam for which construction work was proposed under the 1946 appropriation request.

670. Pauma Indian Lands and Reservation. 2 items.

A blueprint of a topographic map, dated April 1918, of the reservation showing pipelines and ditches. A blueprint of a plat of the Pauma Rancho showing Indian lands.

671. Pechanga Indian Reservation. 2 items.

A blue-line print of a manuscript sketch showing the Pechanga pipeline through the reservation as surveyed in May 1907, with a few later additions. A blueprint of a topographic map, dated October 1912, showing wells and windmills.

672. Potrero (La Jolla) Indian Reservation. 2 items.

A manuscript plat on tracing cloth of T. 10 S., R. 1 E., San Bernardino meridian, drawn in 1918 from GLO plats and showing pipelines in the reservation as on 1911 Indian Irrigation Service maps. A blueprint of a map showing right-of-way for a canal of the Escondido Mutual Water Co. across the reservation, with stamp on reverse dated April 25, 1919.

673. Rincon Indian Reservation. 23 items.

A blueprint of a map, dated January 1912, showing right-of-way for a canal of the Escondido Mutual Water Co. across the reservation. Two blue-line prints of maps, dated 1913 and 1914, showing the water distributing system on the reservation—one annotated to show a powerplant site, and the other with different types of land colored and showing proposed pipelines and laterals. Blueprints of structural plans and drawings, dated 1913-16, of irrigation facilities on the reservation. A blueprint of a 1917 map of the Rincon project; also a blue-line print of a map that had been annotated to show the allotment scheme on the project, with later annotations showing location of proposed new cement pipes.

674. San Manuel Indian Reservation. 5 items.

Four blue-line prints of a map of the reservation drawn in November 1908, three of which are colored to emphasize irrigation facilities for grainfields and orchards. A blueprint of a map of the Rutherford tract within the reservation as surveyed in 1923.

675. Santa Rosa Indian Reservation. 1 item.

A blueprint of a topographic map, dated 1913, of part of the reservation showing an Indian village, fields, and a proposed pipeline.

676. Santa Ynez Indian Reservation. 6 items.

A blueprint of a map of land near the village of Santa Ynez, surveyed in 1899, subject to the occupancy of the band or village of Mission Indians known as Santa Ynez Indians. Blueprints of plans, dated August 1911, of dams, a flume, and a siphon intake. A blueprint of a 1919 revised map of the reservation, which had been annotated to show acreage dry-farmed, acreage of irrigated and cultivated land, and irrigation facilities.

677. Soboba Indian Reservation. 14 items.

Three blue-line prints of a topographic map, drawn in August 1908, of a part of the reservation—two of which are colored and annotated to show additional irrigation facilities. Blueprints of maps, dated 1913-20, showing allotments and irrigation facilities. A blueprint of a map of the Soboba project, which had been annotated to show acreage dry-farmed and acreage of cultivated land in 1919. Blueprints of plans and drawings, dated 1909-23, of a school reservoir and pumping plant and irrigation facilities on the reservation.

678. Sycuan Indian Reservation. 3 items.

A blueprint of a map of the reservation, dated February 1926, showing irrigation system and irrigable areas. Two blueprints of a map of the reservation showing allotments according to survey of 1894 and corrections of 1895, one of which is annotated to show corrected boundaries according to resurvey of 1911, a cement pipeline, and irrigable tracts.

679. Torres-Martinez Indian Reservation. 7 items.

Two colored photoprocessed maps of the Torres-Martinez Reservation, with penciled notations. Two blueprints of maps of a part of the Torres Reservation—one, dated May 1919, showing the Martinez School, cultivated land, pumped wells, and ditches; the other, dated March 20, 1926, showing allotments, wells, pipelines, and ditches on the "Martinez Unit." A blueprint of a map showing artesian wells on the Torres Reservation; also a blueprint of a plan, dated 1923, of the pumphouse for well No. 10. An undated blueprint of "Log of Wells" near the Torres Reservation.

680. POINT ARENA INDIAN RANCHERIA. 1 item.

A blueline print of a large-scale 1940 topographic map of the rancharia in Mendocino County showing boundary of Indian lands, water pipelines, sewage system lines, and location of buildings, wells, pumphouses, and storage tanks.

681. QUARTZ VALLEY INDIAN RANCHERIA. 1 item.

A blueline print of a large-scale 1939 topographic map of the rancharia in Siskiyou County showing proposed allotment lines and a proposed canal.

682. ROUND VALLEY INDIAN RESERVATION. 1 item.

A blueprint of a 1912 map of the diminished Indian reservation and of Camp Wright showing agency, school, mission, and cemetery reserves.

683. SANTA ROSA INDIAN RANCHERIA. 1 item.

A blueline print of a large-scale 1940 topographic map of the rancharia in Kings County showing boundary of Indian land, irrigation ditches, pipelines, and locations of buildings and wells.

684. SMITH RIVER INDIAN RANCHERIA. 1 item.

A blueline print of a large-scale 1940 topographic map of the rancharia in Del Monte County showing allotment lines, boundary of Indian land, types of vegetation, and locations of buildings.

685. TEJON INDIAN LANDS. 1 item.

A blueprint of a 1922 revised map of lands in Kern County occupied by the Tejon Indians, as surveyed in 1917.

686. TULE RIVER INDIAN RESERVATION. 2 items.

A blueprint of a map, dated 1914, showing a ditch and pipelines in the reservation. A blueprint of a plan, dated May 1922, of a ditch gage.

687. TUOLUMNE INDIAN RESERVATION. 1 item.

A blueprint of a topographic map of the reservation, which had been annotated to show proposed laterals and land cultivated and irrigated in 1919.

688. YUMA INDIAN RESERVATION. 6 items.

A blueprint of a 1911 map of the reservation, revised to April 1, 1913, with existing and contemplated canals and existing drainage ditches colored; also a blueprint of a map showing existing and contemplated canals in July 1913. A manuscript map on tracing cloth, dated 1913, showing canals, ditches, and levees. Two blueline prints of maps of parts of the reservation compiled in 1923 and revised in 1924; also one revised in 1927—all three show figures on irrigable areas and irrigated land.

689. YUMA IRRIGATION PROJECT. 5 items.

A blueprint of a 1916 map showing rights-of-way for canals of the Yuma project through Indian lands on the Yuma Reservation, with information in tabular form concerning the canals and drainage. A published map, dated 1924, of the Yuma irrigation project, Arizona and California, annotated to show the location of a powerplant. A small-scale published map of the Yuma Mesa auxiliary project showing the main canal. A supplemental plat of sec. 6, T. 16 S., R. 23 E., San Bernardino meridian, received by the Irrigation Division on February 17, 1933. A colored photoprocessed graph showing the influence of the flow in the All-American Canal and increased river discharges on the ground water levels from January 9, to February 16, 1939, on the Reservation Division of the Yuma reclamation project.

Colorado

690. GENERAL. 4 items.

A manuscript map on tracing cloth of the Montezuma Valley and works of the Colorado Consolidated Land and Water Co.; also a blueprint with district boundaries colored and file references added. A blueprint of a 1907 map (2 sheets) of the Lumberton Ditch in Archuleta County, Colo., and Rio Arriba County, N. Mex.

691. SOUTHERN UTE INDIAN LANDS AND RESERVATION. 24 items.

A blueprint of a map, dated February 1909, of the allotted lands of the Southern Utes in La Plata County. A blueline print of a manuscript map showing proposed irrigation system for the Southern Ute Agency. An undated manuscript map on tracing cloth of the reservation showing allotments and irrigation canals; also an undated manuscript map of Tps. 33 and 34 N., R. 7 W., within the reservation, with irrigation ditches added. Two annotated blueprints of maps showing allotments and pertaining to a 1910 report on water rights and irrigation. A blueprint of a 1913 map of that part of the reservation where allotments had been made showing the area reserved for the agency and other information. An annotated blueprint of a map showing the Dr. Morrison Ditch as constructed in 1912, and photoprocessed copies of plans and sketches, dated 1916, pertaining to its extension. A colored blueprint of a map of the Animas Ditch, La Plata County, showing ownership of lands in May 1912. A blueprint of a 1916 map of the Southern Ute project, Pine River Valley, annotated to show irrigable lands. Three photoprocessed copies of a 1928 map showing allotments, irrigation ditches, and ownership of lands in the Pine River project for the Southern Ute Indians, including annotations showing irrigable and nonirrigable lands, canals, ditches, lands cultivated by Indians, leased and sold allotments, and other information. Photoprocessed copies of the six sheets of a 1931 topographic map of the Pine River project. Blueprints of structural plans and a profile of the Dry Creek siphon, Pine River project.

Idaho

692. GENERAL. 20 items.

A manuscript map on tracing cloth, dated 1913, showing Indian reservations in Idaho. A blueprint of part of a map annotated to show lands to be irrigated and proposed reservoirs and canals in the Bancroft-Soda Springs irrigation project, Bannock County. A blueprint of an undated map of Kootenai Valley showing Indian allotments along the river. Two sets of photoprocessed maps of the Kootenai River Valley: one set, dated 1915, pertains to drainage investigations and is colored, with high water figures underlined; the other set, dated 1917, shows proposed drainage improvements. A manuscript map on tracing cloth, dated February 1915, of the Kootenai drainage project, and a photoprocessed copy annotated and colored to show Indian allotments. A colored blueline print of a map of the drainage districts of the Kootenai Valley, with acreage and cost of drainage for each district. Published copies of Geological Survey maps of the Kootenai River, sheets 1 and 2, with drainage district 8 outlined in color. An annotated blueprint of a sheet of plans, dated 1915, for a proposed dam at Fort Lapwai.

693. FORT HALL INDIAN RESERVATION. 16 items.

A blueprint of a map, revised to January 1908, showing progress of work on an irrigation system for the reservation. Two blueline prints of a map of the reservation and adjacent lands, one colored to show irrigable and irrigated Indian land and irrigable ceded land under project and areas withdrawn for Blackfoot Marsh Reservoir and Grays Lake Reservoir in 1907. A manuscript map on tracing cloth of the reservation and adjacent lands corrected to July 1, 1912. A blueprint, dated December 3, 1914, of part of a map showing the Montana Division cutoff of the Oregon Short Line Railroad and annotated to show laterals to the main canal in T. 6 S., R. 34 E., Boise meridian. Blueprints, stamped June 30, 1923, of parts of a map (2 sheets) showing irrigable allotments under the Lincoln Creek and Upper Ross Fork Districts. A photoprocessed copy of a 1940 map (9 sheets) showing withdrawn reservoir lands in the reservation.

694. FORT HALL IRRIGATION PROJECT. 120 items.

Blueline prints of 1909 and 1910 topographic maps of ceded lands on the Fort Hall project. A blueline print of a 1912 general map of the project annotated to show lands withdrawn for reservoir sites and lands withdrawn for irrigation projects from information obtained from files of various dates furnished by GLO. Annotated and photoprocessed maps, dated 1921-28, of the proposed Blackfoot River and Grays Lake development area, the Blackfoot Marsh Reservoir, and lands irrigated by the Blackfoot River and tributaries. Blueprints and annotated photoprocessed copies of maps, dated 1924-29, of the Gibson and Tyhee divisions of the Fort Hall project—two of which are annotated to show private ownership boundaries for whites, land leased to whites, and land under cultivation in 1924; the others showing constructed and proposed canals and laterals, drains, areas under pump, and other information. An annotated blueline print of a 1924 topographic map showing the proposed relocation of the Fort Hall main canal. A photoprocessed copy of a 1933 map of the Fort Hall irrigation project and contiguous territory, annotated for use as a "Key Map"; also maps of the different divisions and units, with numbers corresponding to those shown on the key map. Some of the maps are annotated to show irrigable land, additional land cleared, and acres cultivated in 1933. Map 11 of this series (not indicated on the key map) is a 1931 map of the project colored to show allotments farmed by Indians, allotments leased, patented lands owned by Indians and by whites, grazing allotments, tribal land, and the ceded area. A blueline print of a 1933 land classification map of the project colored to show irrigable, nonirrigable, and marginal land. A blueline print of a topographic map, dated April 1935, of the Equalizing Reservoir site, and a blueprint of a general map of the vicinity—both annotated. A set of township diagrams annotated in 1940 to show lands withdrawn for reservoir or irrigation purposes in the Blackfoot Marsh Reservoir and Grays Lake area. Blueprints and blueline prints of structural plans, designs, cross sections, and profiles pertaining to the Fort Hall project and Indian reservation, 1908-29, including plans of the Blackfoot Dam.

Montana

695. BLACKFEET INDIAN RESERVATION. 5 items.

A manuscript map on tracing cloth, dated February 1, 1913, of the reservation showing canals, laterals, roads, and other information. Two 1931 annotated published maps of the reservation, one with the Two Medicine and Piegan irrigation units outlined. Two topographic maps prepared by the National Park Service in cooperation with the Office of Indian Affairs and traced in 1945—one of the Guardipee Lakes Reservoir site in the Blackfoot Indian Reservation, and the other of the Lower Two Medicine Lake Reservoir partly in the reservation and partly in the Glacier National Park.

696. BLACKFEET IRRIGATION PROJECT. 38 items.

Photoprocessed copies of Reclamation Service maps of the project, dated 1910-14, showing canals built or under construction and irrigation divisions or units. One map is annotated to show acreage in the Indian agency and school reserves, acreage in irrigable and grazing Indian allotments, and total acreage of irrigable project lands; it is also colored to show lands under completed canals not irrigated. A blueline print of a map, compiled by the Conrad Land and Water Co. in 1910, colored to show status of land under its system of irrigation adjacent to the project. Two annotated copies of a 1915 published Reclamation Service map, one of which shows acreage irrigated in 1925. Published farm unit plats, approved in 1921, of townships in the Blackfeet project showing private lands, Indian allotments, and irrigable areas. Annotated published Geological Survey quadrangles of areas in the project. Annotated blueprints of maps of several irrigation units, a map of the Birch Creek division, a map showing the proposed channel changes for the Two Medicine River, a map showing allotted lands under completed canals in the Two Medicine unit, and a profile for enlargement of the Two Medicine Canal. A 1932 published map of the Blackfeet project showing irrigation units. A photoprocessed copy of a 1932 Indian Irrigation Service map of the project (2 sheets) showing constructed and projected laterals and canals, and annotated and colored to show accessible and nonaccessible irrigable tracts under constructed ditches, future irrigable tracts, and excluded tracts.

CHEYENNE INDIAN LANDS. See entry 703.

697. CROW INDIAN RESERVATION. 45 items.

A photostat of part of an 1897 GLO map of Montana, which was annotated to show boundaries of the Crow and Northern Cheyenne Indian Reservations. Part of a 1911 published map of the State annotated to show boundaries of areas reserved for the Crow Indians by the Fort Laramie Treaty of September 17, 1851, and treaty of May 7, 1868, and changes in boundaries of the reservation by acts, Executive orders, and agreements from 1875 to 1904. Blueline prints of a map of the reservation, compiled from GLO maps and Indian Service notes about 1909, showing irrigable land and proposed and constructed canals in color; also a manuscript map on tracing cloth of a revised edition corrected to December 20, 1913. Annotated published and photoprocessed maps of the reservation, dated 1910-39, some of which show irrigation units, proposed and completed ditches, canals, dams, irrigated land, acreage under ditch, and agency, school, mission, and farm reserves. A sheet of “General Statistical Data” for irrigation units in the reservation taken from a 1928 report and from 1937 field observations. A 1939 manuscript map of the reservation showing irrigation units and including irrigation data; also two annotated photoprocessed copies and a reduced published copy. A blueprint of a 1911 plat of the Crow Agency annotated to show a proposed sewer. Blueprints (some of which are annotated) of maps, dated 1908-21, of reservoirs, irrigation ditches, canals, and lateral systems. A manuscript map on tracing cloth of the Two Leggings Irrigation Canal in Yellowstone County crossing the Fort Custer Military Reservation and part of the Crow Indian Reservation; also a blueprint with Indian allotments and inherited Indian lands colored. A photostat of an undated map showing ditches built from Pryor Creek by Indians. A manuscript profile of the centerline of Pryor Canyon Dam as surveyed in 1920. Photostats of centerline profiles of two ditches. Blueprints of 1934 maps showing Government and private diversions from the Little Big Horn River and Lodge Grass Creek, one of which is annotated to show Indian-owned lands and white-owned lands under ditch. A manuscript map on tracing cloth, dated 1900, of Fort Custer and vicinity showing centerline of proposed channel for the Little Big Horn River.

698. CROW IRRIGATION PROJECT. 89 items.

A blueline print of a map of the Crow Indian Reservation, annotated June 30, 1928, with information concerning the location of irrigation ditches and irrigation units and other “Project Data” for the Crow irrigation project; also a colored positive photostat of a 1921 map of the reservation, which had been annotated to show information concerning the project to June 30, 1931. An unfinished, large-scale manuscript map of the Crow project. Blueprints and other photoprocessed copies of maps of irrigation ditches and separate units of the project, which have attached small annotated maps colored to show white-owned lands and trust-patented Indian land and attached “Summary Irrigation Data” forms dated June 30, 1937, on which is typed information pertaining to location and climate conditions, water supply, amount and type of irrigation structures and equipment, and communication systems. An annotated photoprocessed copy of a 1938 topographic map of Willow Creek damsite. Blueprints of maps, structural plans, profiles, and cross sections, dated 1912-16, of the proposed Reno Ditch, with attached “Exhibit” labels lettered A-G, I-M, and P. Blueprints of structural plans and drawings, dated 1911-24, pertaining to the Crow project and Indian reservation.

699. FLATHEAD INDIAN RESERVATION. 5 items.

A blueprint of a tracing of a 1908 map of the reservation showing allotments. Two 1911 published maps of the reservation, one of which is annotated to show irrigation divisions. A published map of the reservation annotated and colored in 1914 to show Indian allotments, farm units, boundaries of irrigable areas, lands that could be irrigated, and canals constructed, under construction, or proposed. A 1928 published fire control map of the former Flathead Indian Reservation, with certain lakes, reservoirs, and reservoir sites colored. A 1939 published map annotated to show lands withdrawn for reservoir sites and for construction or irrigation purposes and including GLO withdrawal file numbers.

700. FLATHEAD IRRIGATION PROJECT. 123 items.

Annotated, photoprocessed, and published copies of Reclamation Service maps of the project dated 1909-18, and an Indian Service map, dated 1914, some of which show divisions of the project, proposed and existing canals, irrigable land, power reserves, powersites, townsites, and statistical data; one map shows acreage in the separate divisions and in different land categories and is colored to show irrigated and nonirrigated land under completed canals. Published preliminary farm unit plats of townships in the project, approved 1910-11, most of which are annotated. Blueprints of maps, dated 1912, of private canals and irrigated lands in parts of T. 15 N., Rs. 19 and 20 W., and T. 16 N., R. 19 W., Montana principal meridian. Blueprints of several water rights beneficial use plats, dated 1915 and 1926, for certain areas. Blueprints and blueline prints of maps, dated 1909-29, some of which are annotated: included is a map of the Polson division of the Flathead project; maps showing status of land and irrigation works on the project, the Ninepin Reservoir and canal system, the Tabor Reservoir and damsite, topography on Flathead River near Polson, and the status of lands bordering Flathead Lake; and maps and structural plans submitted by the Rocky Mountain Power Co. pertaining to Flathead River power development. A manuscript map on tracing cloth, dated 1925, of the Camas division of the project, with a legend showing tentative soil classification; also two colored blueprints. Two photoprocessed copies, one stamped 1936, of a land map of the vicinity of Mud Creek, Pablo division, annotated to show white-owned land. A composite map of the Flathead project, dated 1935, made of positive photostats and annotated and colored to show acreage of Indian and white lands irrigated, Indian and white lands idle, and nonirrigable lands. Two sets of photoprocessed maps of the project, with accompanying letter of June 15, 1937—one set colored to emphasize main canals and principal laterals, and the other colored to show irrigated land, irrigable land not irrigated, and non-irrigable land. A set of township diagrams annotated in 1940 to show lands withdrawn for reservoir and irrigation purposes at different dates, and a manuscript map on tracing paper showing lands withdrawn and restored in the Lower Crow Creek Reservoir. A photoprocessed copy of an annotated map of the former Flathead Indian Reservation showing the "Electrical System" of the Flathead project. A set of six annotated photoprocessed maps, stamped January 2, 1946, showing transmission lines. A 1939 published map of the former reservation, with an attached office memorandum listing construction work proposed under fiscal year 1946 appropriation request. Manuscript charts and graphs, dated 1929-30, pertaining to Flathead Power Site No. 1. Photoprocessed copies of structural plans, dated 1932-35, of the Mission reservoir and suspension bridge.

701. FORT BELKNAP INDIAN RESERVATION AND IRRIGATION PROJECTS. 49 items.

A blueprint of a 1918 manuscript map of the reservation, with irrigable and irrigated areas and irrigation units outlined. A blueprint of an undated annotated map showing information pertaining to separate irrigation units and for the entire irrigation system and including a list of private and miscellaneous ditches. Two published maps of the reservation, one with irrigation units colored and statistical information for each typed on the map and dated October 16, 1925. A 1936 published map of the reservation annotated to show constructed and proposed dams, springs, irrigation projects over 50 acres, and private irrigation projects. A photoprocessed copy of a map, dated June 1908, of the Dodson Reservoir site and Dodson South Canal of the Milk River project; also a colored blueline print of a 1911 map showing private claims, pasture and timberlands, and irrigable and irrigated lands on the project.

Blueprints of maps, dated 1910-12, pertaining to irrigation systems on the reservation, including the Big Warm Springs Creek system, the storage reservoir of the Duck Creek system, and the White Reservoir site of the Fort Belknap system. An undated manuscript map on brown paper of Snake Butte Spring and adjoining land on the Fort Belknap irrigation project, and a blueprint of a 1915 map of the irrigable area on the Duck Creek unit of the project. Blueprints of 1921 maps of the Big Warm, Duck Creek, Lodge Pole, Milk River and Three Mile, and Peoples Creek irrigation units on the reservation. Blueprints of structural plans, dated 1910-24, pertaining to the Fort Belknap project, also including a few plans for the Peoples Creek irrigation system.

FORT CUSTER MILITARY RESERVATION.

See entry 697.

702. FORT PECK INDIAN RESERVATION AND IRRIGATION PROJECT. 67 items.

A colored annotated photoprocessed map of the Fort Peck Indian Reservation lignite field, dated 1908. A published copy of a GLO map of the reservation opened to settlement and entry under the President's proclamation of July 25, 1913, overprinted in color to show lands reserved for irrigation, mineral land, and lands subject to entry. Three 1934 published maps of the reservation, including annotations showing dams, springs, irrigated gardens, existing and proposed irrigation projects over 50 acres, irrigation units, irrigable areas, and reservoir sites set aside by the Reclamation Service. A blueline print of a 1910 Reclamation Service map of the Fort Peck project showing irrigable land allotments; a photoprocessed copy of a 1912 map annotated to show acreage in different land categories and colored to show irrigated and nonirrigated lands under completed canals; and a published 1912 map including historical and statistical information. An annotated blueprint of a 1917 map of the Missouri River at Wolf Point. A set of 18 farm unit plats, approved 1921-22, of townships in the Fort Peck project colored to show private lands and Indian allotments and giving irrigable areas for each category. Photoprocessed copies of four 1909 maps of the pumping project along the Missouri River. Blueprints of maps, dated 1912-19, of the Big Muddy Creek, the Big Porcupine, and the Poplar River irrigation units and of the Little Porcupine Creek Canal irrigable allotments colored to show white-owned land and fee-patent and trust-patent Indian lands; some are also colored to show lands eliminated, retained, and annexed. Photoprocessed copies of similar maps, some of which are annotated and colored to show Indian-owned and white-owned lands, land under cultivation, land irrigated in 1928, and lands leased by whites. Typed "Summary of Data" and information in tabular form, dated 1937, pertaining to the Fort Peck irrigation project. Blueprints of 1937 structural plans for the Missouri River pumping unit; also two photoprocessed copies of a 1940 map of the pumping unit, with irrigable land colored—one of which shows figures for the 1946 program. A photoprocessed copy of a map of the Frazier-Wolf Point pumping unit and Little Porcupine irrigation unit annotated with statistical information for fiscal years 1943.

703. NORTHERN CHEYENNE (TONGUE RIVER) INDIAN RESERVATION. 12 items.

Manuscript maps and plans on tracing cloth consisting of a sketch (map) of the Cheyenne Reservation showing the boundary, irrigable area in 1910, and land to be irrigated; a topographic sketch (plat), dated October 1911, of the beach below Tie Creek; a progress map, corrected July 1, 1912, of the Tongue River Canal; an undated map of the Tongue River Ditch; and plans, dated 1907, of the main headgate on Tongue River Ditch and of a flume and water bridge on Crook Creek, Northern Cheyenne Reservation, marked "Tongue River Res." Two annotated blueprints of part of a map of the Upper Tongue River Ditch. A blueprint of a plan of flume constructed in 1909, and a blueprint, stamped 1909, of a plan of repairs to the Crook Creek structure on the Tongue River irrigation project. A published map of the Tongue River Indian Reservation, revised in 1935, annotated to show irrigated lands over 50 acres, irrigated gardens, proposed and constructed dams, springs, and pumping plant projects.

TONGUE RIVER INDIAN RESERVATION.

See entry 703.

Nevada

704. GENERAL. 22 items.

A manuscript map on tracing cloth, dated June 1917, showing Indian allotments and cultivated areas near Summit Lake. Photoprocessed copies of a 1938 map showing Indian lands in Nevada and California under the jurisdiction of the Carson Agency—two with Indian lands and reservations colored, and one annotated to show existing and contemplated irrigation works and work in progress for fiscal year 1939. Five township diagrams annotated to show lands purchased for the landless Shoshone Indians in Nye County, including the Bowler and Doyle ranch lands, with an attached memorandum dated November 1, 1938, and a list of lands affected by a proclamation of October 27, 1938. One photoprocessed copy each of 1939 maps of Bowler and Doyle ranches on Reese River and of the Elko Indian Colony. A blueline print of a 1942 manuscript map of the Duckwater lands in Nye County. Two manuscript plans on tracing cloth, dated 1910-11, and blueprints of plans, dated 1918-21, pertaining to the water and sewer system of the Carson Indian School.

DUCK VALLEY INDIAN RESERVATION.

See entry 711.

705. FALLON INDIAN RESERVATION. 2 items.

A photoprocessed copy of a 1927 map of Carson Sink allotments, Newlands project, T. 19 N., R. 30 E., Mount Diablo meridian, showing cultivated allotments, alkali land, and lands added to the reservation by departmental order of November 21, 1917. An attached sheet entitled "Carson Sinks (Fallon Reservation)" includes information about the source of water supply and irrigation plan. A Reclamation Service plat of T. 19 N., R. 30 E., showing the boundary line of Indian land, ditches and drains, and irrigated area, is marked "Truckee-Carson" project. See also entry 709.

706. FORT McDERMITT INDIAN RESERVATION AND SCHOOL. 4 items.

A blueline print of a sketch map showing boundaries of lands allotted to Indians, irrigation ditches in use in the vicinity of the Fort McDermitt School, and proposed extensions of ditches as recommended by surveys made in June 1908. A blueprint of a 1909 plan for a headgate at Fort McDermitt School. A negative photostat of a map, revised to November 1923, showing irrigation ditches at the school. A negative photostat of a map of the reservation and vicinity copied in November 1931 from a county surveyor's map.

707. MOAPA RIVER INDIAN RESERVATION AND IRRIGATION PROJECT. 17 items.

A blueprint of a manuscript map of the reservation, with notations on reverse stating that it was made from the 1875 original tracing by Bateman and Barnes on file in the Surveyor General's Office at Reno. A manuscript sketch map on tracing cloth of the reservation showing points where water was diverted from the Moapa River by Indians as determined by a 1908 survey, with later notations concerning ditches. Three manuscript maps on tracing paper and two annotated blueprints pertaining to the reservation boundaries: one showing the reservation as resurveyed in 1902 with later notations; one showing topography along the boundary in 1910; and one, dated July 3, 1913, showing boundaries in relation to the public surveys. Two annotated published plats of the reservation as surveyed in 1912 and approved by the Commissioner of GLO on May 16, 1913—both with boundaries outlined, and one annotated on February 6, 1914, to show canals, laterals, irrigable areas, and information concerning size of allotments. An annotated blueprint of a map showing lands irrigated from the Muddy River. A photoprocessed copy of a 1939 topographic map of the reservation. A colored blueline print of a 1941 map showing boundary of the irrigable area of the reservation and annotated to show types of crops and acreage. A manuscript map on tracing cloth showing the irrigation system on the Moapa River project and structural plans of a headgate, flume, and wooden turnout.

708. PYRAMID LAKE INDIAN RESERVATION.
25 items.

A photoprocessed copy of an Indian Service map of the reservation showing acreage in total irrigable land and in land actually irrigated and bearing a notation referring to GLO letter dated May 13, 1908; also a similar map with date 1915 added and a canal along the Truckee River shown in color. A manuscript map on tracing cloth, dated August 1908, showing proposed improvement of the heading of Agency Ditch and including a cross section of the Truckee River at the old dam and elevation of proposed new dam. Annotated photoprocessed copies of a 1909 map of the proposed diversion damsite on Truckee River. A blueprint of a large-scale map of the reservation prepared under the direction of the chief irrigation engineer in 1913. An annotated blueprint of a map of a proposed irrigation system for the reservation, and a profile of Pyramid Lake siphon—both of which were submitted with letter dated June 28, 1918. A photoprocessed copy of a map of the Pyramid Lake project colored to show irrigated area and area not in use and including a typed sheet of "Information of Interest." Blueprints of structural plans and designs, dated 1916-18, of irrigation facilities on the project. A blueline print (8 sheets stamped 1926) of a table of appraisal and classification of Pyramid Lake Indian Reservation lands. A typed description of the "New Truckee River Delta—June 1938," with an attached picture. A photostat of a 1939 vicinity map of the Truckee River annotated to show locations of the diversion dam, Dodge Flats, and the white settlement area in the Pyramid Lake Indian Reservation. An annotated photostat of a perspective drawing of proposed Truckee River channel control. A photoprocessed copy of a report in letter form (11 p.), dated November 14, 1940, pertaining to the irrigation of Dodge Flats.

709. TRUCKEE-CARSON IRRIGATION PROJECT.
4 items.

Published Reclamation Service maps of the project, dated 1903-10, bearing various annotations, one of which shows areas irrigated and probable extension of these areas. A 1906 map is annotated to show the Carson Sink allotments. A 1910 general map of the project is marked "Name changed to Newlands project Feb. 27, 1919" and annotated to show the Fallon Indian Reservation and the Douglas Flats benchlands. See also entry 705.

710. WALKER RIVER INDIAN RESERVATION
AND IRRIGATION PROJECT. 45 items.

Three blueline prints of an Indian Service map: one, stamped November 29, 1909, showing constructed and proposed canals and acreage in irrigated and irrigable land; one, dated 1916, showing ditches, canals, and laterals; and a large-scale map colored to show lands reserved for grazing and allotted, timber, and church lands. A blueline print of a map of the Walker River project showing areas irrigated in 1920 and acreage in alfalfa and grain. A photoprocessed copy of a soil and land classification map of the project (11 sheets) showing first- and second-class land, indicating by symbols areas in which alkali tests were made, and colored to show nonirrigable land and project boundaries. A photostat of a 1928 annotated map with "Information of Interest" concerning the project, and photostats of two similar maps annotated to show areas under constructed and proposed irrigation works and land reserved for irrigated pastures. A blueline print of a 1931 map of the project colored to show lands patented to Indians and lands patented to whites and stamped June 18, 1937. Published Geological Survey topographic quadrangles of the Walker Lake and Carson Sink areas pasted together and annotated to show boundaries of the Walker River Indian Reservation. Manuscript structural plans and maps on tracing cloth, dated 1908-10, and blueprints and blueline prints of maps, plans, and profiles, dated 1909-19, pertaining to the Walker River project. Negative photostats of a map of Weber damsite and of 1932 preliminary drawings of the proposed dam. Photoprocessed copies (3 sheets) of a 1934 map of the Weber Reservoir. A photoprocessed copy of a 1939 map of the Walker River Reservation, with minor annotations.

711. WESTERN SHOSHONE (DUCK VALLEY) INDIAN RESERVATION AND IRRIGATION PROJECTS. 20 items.

Two blueline prints of topographic maps, dated 1912, of the irrigable part of the Duck Valley Reservation, one of which shows adjacent watersheds. Two manuscript maps on tracing cloth, dated November 1911—one of a reservoir site in Owyhee Canyon, and the other of a powersite on Owyhee River. A manuscript map on tracing paper, dated January 1912, of the canal system of the Western Shoshone Indian Reservation. Two blueline prints—one of a map drawn in 1912 of a storage reservoir site in Owyhee Canyon, and the other of an undated map of the proposed Owyhee Reservoir Dam. One blueprint each of an undated map of the proposed Duck Valley Ditch and of a sheet of plans, approved June 18, 1919, for the main canal heading of the Western Shoshone project. A blueprint of an undated map showing townships in the Duck Valley Reservation, and blueprints of topographic plats of three of the townships. Published township diagrams annotated to show lands temporarily withdrawn for the Duck Valley Indian irrigation project and for the Wild Horse Reservoir site. A photostat of a 1924 map of the Western Shoshone project in Idaho and Nevada, including a typed column of "Information of Interest," colored to show irrigated areas in 1929 and apparently additional irrigable area (color not shown in legend). Two photoprocessed copies of a 1930 map of the Western Shoshone or Duck Valley Indian Reservation and contiguous area, one of which is annotated to show lands withdrawn for reservoir sites and irrigation projects according to GLO records and also private land acquired for the Wild Horse Reservoir. A blueline print of a map of the reservoir site annotated and colored to show land status in 1940. A photoprocessed copy of a 1939 map of the Duck Valley irrigation project that apparently had been annotated to show proposed construction work under the 1946 appropriation request, with attached "Office Memorandum."

New Mexico

712. GENERAL. 35 items.

A 1911 Reclamation Service general map of the Rio Grande project, with an overprinted note dated October 1916 concerning the Elephant Butte Dam and Reservoir. Annotated topographic sheets of the Rio Grande Drainage Survey, dated 1917-18. Photostats of a few maps pertaining to improvement of the Rio Grande. An annotated photoprocessed copy of a 1928 Rio Grande Survey Commission map of the Rio Grande drainage above Fort Quitman. Blueline prints of Middle Rio Grande Conservancy District maps of the Albuquerque, Belem, Cochiti, and Socorro divisions annotated to show canals, laterals, dams, drains, and other proposed improvements. A large-scale photoprocessed map of the Cochiti division noted "To accompany report of supervising engineers, dated Dec. 4, 1928, on the criticism of H. J. Hagerman of the Middle Rio Grande Conservancy District" and marked "This map is part of the official plan, Exhibit M-1, as accepted Aug. 1928." Large-scale certified photoprocessed copies of the Conservancy District maps approved by the Secretary of the Interior December 21, 1928. A published map of northern New Mexico annotated to show gaging stations along the Rio Grande River, ca. 1940. A photoprocessed copy of a Bureau of Reclamation general map, dated May 28, 1941, of the middle Rio Grande investigations in New Mexico colored to show irrigated lands and reservoirs and annotated to show areas under Indian Office jurisdiction; storage capacity figures are added for reservoir sites.

713. JICARILLA APACHE INDIAN RESERVATION. 7 items.

A blueline print of a topographic map of Dulce Lake as surveyed in 1910, and two blueline prints of a 1910 topographic map of irrigable lands at Dulce, N. Mex., and vicinity annotated to show Agency Ditch and approximate locations of a new ditch, pipeline, and flume. A blueprint of an undated map showing the water and sewer system of the Indian school at Dulce, and blueprints of two 1913 topographic maps showing existing and proposed water systems for the agency and schools. A blueprint of a small map of the reservation, dated March 1920.

714. MESCALERO APACHE INDIAN RESERVATION. 14 items.

A blueprint of a map of the survey of the new boundary line of the reservation in 1883, which had been annotated to give an estimate of square miles and acreage in the reservation. A manuscript map of the cultivated lands in Tularosa Cañon made from original survey by H. F. Robinson in 1906. A blueline print of a map of part of the Tularosa Cañon showing ditches and cultivated land according to the Robinson map and possible extension of the ditch system from surveys made in 1913. A manuscript map on tracing paper, dated March 1910, of part of the Mescalero Agency showing existing and proposed pipelines and including a profile and a structural plan. An undated manuscript map on tracing cloth prepared for an Indian Service power and reservoir report. Two manuscript maps on tracing cloth of the reservation—one, dated 1913, showing ditches, laterals, and roads and indicating locations of tanks and reservoirs; the other, dated 1921, showing more detailed information and indicating relief by contours. Blueprints of structural plans, dated 1909 and 1910, and three manuscript drawings and plans, dated 1922, of irrigation facilities on the reservation. A photoprocessed copy of a map of Tularosa Cañon annotated to show channels from springs to creeks, canals used for irrigation of Indian lands, and other irrigation facilities, ca. 1940.

715. NAVAJO INDIAN RESERVATION. 29 items.

Blueprints of maps, dated 1902-9, of irrigation ditches in San Juan County, N. Mex., most of which are in the Navajo Reservation; a few also cross the Southern Ute Reservation. A manuscript sketch map, dated July 1908, of the Hogback Ditch on the Navajo Reservation; also a manuscript sheet of plans, dated May 1909, of the headgate and wastegate for the ditch. An annotated blueprint of a 1912 map showing lands under the Hogback Canal, and a blueprint of a sheet of structural plans for repairing washouts on the canal. An annotated photoprocessed copy of a 1920 map of the preliminary survey for a proposed extension of the canal. A manuscript plan, dated February 1916, of a retaining wall for protection of the south abutment of the bridge across San Juan River at Shiprock. A manuscript drawing, dated August 2, 1917, showing construction completed for flood protection of Shiprock School. An annotated blueprint of a map showing San Juan River conditions at San Juan School and Shiprock Agency marked "See Report dated 3-1-24." An annotated photoprocessed copy of a 1929 large-scale topographic map of part of the Hogback project, including the Northern Navajo Agency and school and the San Juan River. Photoprocessed copies of sheets 1 and 3 of a 1941 map of the project annotated to show line of the canal, flumes, pumping plants, and acreage of land under the Hogback extension. A few photoprocessed copies of structural plans and irrigation facilities on the reservation.

716. PUEBLO INDIAN LANDS, LAND GRANTS, AND RESERVATIONS.

717. General. 9 items.

A blueprint of a map of part of New Mexico in the vicinity of the Pueblo Indian grants and reservations prepared in 1913 from a 1908 GLO map. A blueline print of a 1912 topographic map showing the irrigable lands along the east side of the Rio Grande belonging to the Pueblo Indians and indicating the cultivated lands, marshlands, and lands subject to overflow; the map bears tables for separate Pueblo grants showing acreage in different land categories and is marked on reverse "To accompany report of Dec. 8, 1913. H. F. Robinson, Superintendent of Irrigation." A manuscript map on tracing cloth, dated 1913, of the Indian pueblos. A photostat of a 1913 map of Pueblo Indian grants under the Albuquerque School. Blueprints of two maps, dated 1920, showing the location of the Northern and Southern Pueblos. A blueprint of a large-scale map (stamped 1925 on reverse) showing Pueblo grants in Tps. 18-21 N., Rs. 7-9 E., New Mexico principal meridian. A colored published map, dated 1934, of the Pueblo land grants and adjacent lands in New Mexico.

718. Acoma and Laguna Indian Lands. 2 items.

A blueprint of a map of part of the lands of the Acoma-Laguna Indians in Valencia County showing all of the lands irrigated from the water of the San Jose River according to fieldwork in 1910 and including separate lists of Acoma and Laguna Indian ditches. A blueprint of a profile, dated July 1915, of the flume crossing of the Candelaria Ditch over the Rio San Jose in the Acoma Grant.

719. Cochiti and Santo Domingo Pueblo Lands. 2 items.

A blueprint of a map of the Cochiti Pueblo lands showing location of the Rio Grande and land under cultivation according to survey of January 1916. A photoprocessed copy of a map showing cultivated land along the Rio Grande and bearing tables pertaining to assessments under the Conservancy District for the Cochiti and Santo Domingo Pueblos.

720. Isleta Pueblo Grant. 1 item.

A copy of a sketch map showing rights-of-way of drains and levees on the grant as approved November 19, 1931, and marked "Exhibit 'C'."

721. Jemez and Zia Pueblo Grants. 3 items.

A blueprint of a map, dated April 1912, showing ditches of the Jemez Indians not belonging to the Jemez Grant and also location of trespassers on the grant. A blueprint of a map, dated March 1915, showing existing and proposed irrigation development on the Jemez and Zia Pueblo Grants. A blueprint of plans (1 sheet) of a flume over the Arroyo Antonio Pecos Ditch on the Jemez Pueblo as approved October 24, 1919.

722. Laguna Pueblo Grant. 6 items.

A blueprint of a sketch (map) showing the confirmed grant and lands occupied by the Pueblo of Laguna Indians outside of the grant (added by Executive Order 1221 of July 1, 1910). 723. Nambe Pueblo Grant. 4 items.

A blueprint of a Pueblo Lands Board undated plat showing private claims within the grant. A set of three blueprints, dated June 1920, consisting of a map showing cultivated and uncultivated lands of the Nambe Pueblo and also high and low line water development sites, a profile of a pipeline and ditch, and an annotated plan of proposed underground sewer system for the pueblo.

724. Sandia Pueblo Grant. 3 items.

A blueprint of a 1912 plat showing lands claimed by whites and Mexicans inside the grant. A photoprocessed copy of a map of part of the Sandia Pueblo Grant showing Indian and non-Indian holdings and proposed reclamation work and including a table of assessments under the Middle Rio Grande Conservancy District. A copy of a sketch map showing rights-of-way of drains and levees on the grant as approved November 19, 1931, and marked "Exhibit 'B'."

725. San Ildefonso Pueblo Grant. 1 item.

A blueprint of a map, dated June 1912, showing lands of the Pueblo under ditch, with areas outlined in color to indicate lands cultivated by Indians, uncultivated Indian lands, and Mexican lands.

726. San Juan Pueblo Grant. 2 items.

A blueprint of a large-scale topographic map in two sheets, dated December 1919, of the proposed irrigation system for the grant showing alternate ditch locations in red.

727. Santa Ana Pueblo Grant. 2 items.

A photoprocessed copy of a map bearing a table showing assessments under the (Middle) Rio Grande Conservancy District for the Santa Ana Pueblo Grant. A copy of a sketch map showing right-of-way for drain and levee on the El Ranchito Grant or "Santa Ana Grant" as approved November 19, 1931, and marked "Exhibit 'A'."

728. Santa Clara Pueblo Lands. 5 items.

A blue-line print of a large-scale map of a topographic survey in 1915 of lands of the Santa Clara Pueblo, with Indian lands under irrigation and ditches outlined in color and proposed ditches added. Blueprints of maps, dated 1915-21, consisting of a reduced copy of the 1915 topographic survey, a map of the Santa Clara Development showing proposed irrigation facilities, a map of the new townsite of Santa Clara, and a map of the new heading of Santa Clara Ditch showing approximate line of old ditch and proposed canal.

Santo Domingo Pueblo. See entry 719.

729. Taos Pueblo Grant and Adjacent Lands. 5 items.

A blue-line print of a 1910 Indian Service hypsometric and hydrographic map of part of the Taos Pueblo League showing ditches furnishing water to Indian and white lands and giving the acreage of land under ditches, irrigable land not under ditches, and the total irrigable land on the league. A blueprint of a 1912 map of lands under ditch in the Taos Valley irrigated by water from the Rio Pueblo, with a notation in the margin "Map of White lands under Rio Pueblo"; this is a supplement to the preceding map. A blueline print of a 1926 map of the Taos Pueblo Grant, with cultivated and irrigable areas and irrigation ditches colored. A blueprint (part missing) of proposed damsite on the Rio Pueblo, Taos project. A photoprocessed copy of the Rio Lucero Diversion Dam right-of-way map, dated November 20, 1931, including an inset map of the Taos Pueblo Grant.

730. Tesuque Pueblo and Adjacent Lands. 1 item.

A blueprint of a plane table survey map, dated November 1911, of the pueblo and adjacent valley.

731. Zia Pueblo Grant. 4 items.

Blueprints of two maps, dated March 1915—one showing lands on the grant to be irrigated and lands not suitable for cultivation, and the other showing location of heading at San Ysidro for possible irrigation ditch. A blueprint of a 1919 map of the proposed South Side Canal. Plans of an inlet and outlet of a flume over the Jemez River.

732. Zuni Pueblo Grant, Reservation, and Irrigation Project. 29 items.

A manuscript map on tracing cloth, dated 1884, of the Zuni Indian Reservation, including notes on the boundary as given in Executive orders of March 16, 1877, and May 1, 1883, and showing also boundaries of the Zuni Pueblo Grant. A blueline print of an undated map of the reservation, including the grant, showing location of the Zuni Reservoir and canals and irrigable lands. A 1914 published map of the reservation, with area along the southern boundary marked "Executive Order November 30, 1917." Blueprints of a plan and longitudinal and cross sections, dated 1902, of the dam at Zuni Valley Reservoir, and a blueline print of an undated plan of the wasteway and tunnel for the Zuni Dam. An annotated blueprint of a 1906 topographic map of part of the Zuni Valley showing the site of the storage reservoir and land subject to irrigation. A blueprint of a 1908 map of the North Side Canal and laterals of the Zuni irrigation project, and manuscript maps, dated 1908, of structural plans and designs. Manuscript maps and plans on tracing cloth, dated 1909, consisting of a sketch (map) of the mesa south of Zuni Dam showing the old spillway and part of the dam (also a colored blueline print), a map showing existing conditions on the mesa in September 1909, a map of the old spillway of Zuni Dam, and related plans and profiles. Three positive photostats pertaining to the Zuni Dam and vicinity, two of which are dated 1936.

North Dakota

733. FORT BERTHOLD INDIAN RESERVATION. 1 item.

A 1935 published map of the reservation annotated to show locations of subsistence gardens in 1938.

Oklahoma

734. GENERAL. 2 items.

A 1914 published GLO map of Oklahoma annotated to show the different nations and tribes of Indians. A photostat of a Geological Survey map of the State colored and annotated to show the different nations and tribes of Indians and locations of school and subsistence gardens; the photostat is stamped "received October 7, 1938," on reverse.

735. KLAMATH INDIAN RESERVATION IRRIGATION PROJECTS. 24 items.

Manuscript profiles, sections, and plans, dated October 1910, of ditches, laterals, and headgates of the Modoc Point project; also a manuscript plan, dated 1913, of a residence at the headquarters. Blueprints of structural plans, designs, and profiles, dated 1913-16, of buildings and irrigation facilities for the Modoc Point and agency projects, including a profile of the Sprague River Dam, plans of a fishway near the dam, and an annotated plan, approved May 20, 1918, of a fishway for the Klamath project.

736. WARM SPRINGS INDIAN RESERVATION. 1 item.

A 1929 published map of the reservation annotated to show irrigation units.

South Dakota

737. SIOUX INDIAN LANDS AND RESERVATIONS.

738. Cheyenne River Indian Reservation. 9 items.

A 1919 published map of the reservation annotated to show approximate locations of proposed dams and farm districts. Three annotated 1933 revised editions of the 1919 map—one colored to show non-Indian- and Indian-owned irrigable land along the Moreau River, with acreage; one colored to show land status along the river, with acreage for each category; and one annotated to show locations of existing and proposed irrigation dams, springs, and irrigated gardens. Maps of the Moreau River project including: a published map of the reservation, with “stick-ups” for a 1939 map of the proposed project and a typical section of a dam; a manuscript topographic map of a general plan of the Green Grass site on the Moreau River, including cross sections and profiles of a dam; and a manuscript topographic map on tracing cloth, dated June 22, 1939, of the diversion damsite.

739. Crow Creek and Lower Brulé Indian Reservations. 3 items.

A 1934 published map of the two reservations annotated to show dams, springs, existing irrigated gardens, and proposed irrigation projects. Two blueprints of maps of irrigation projects in the Lower Brulé Indian Reservation—one of the Iron Nation project in T. 108 N., R. 74 W., and the other of the Fort George project in T. 109 N., R. 76 W.; both maps were prepared by the Soil Conservation Service in cooperation with the BIA in 1937.

Lower Brulé Indian Reservation. See entry 738.

740. Pine Ridge and Rosebud Indian Reservations. 11 items.

A 1914 map, revised to January 1933, of the Pine Ridge Reservation annotated to show springs, existing and proposed dams, and irrigation projects. A manuscript sketch map on tracing cloth of the South Fork of the White River watershed, Pine Ridge and Rosebud Indian Reservations, with an attached carbon (6 pages) noted “Supplemental Summary of Hodges Report on So. Fork of White River.” A blueprint of a plan, approved August 28, 1918, of the Pine Ridge Dam. A blueprint of a topographic map, dated September and October 1939, of the Oglala project on the Pine Ridge Reservation. Two photoprocessed copies of a map of White Lake and Little White River Reservoir sites annotated on March 17, 1941, to show deeded land, Indian land, Hall land, and the proposed Hall Ditch on the Pine Ridge Reservation. A 1933 published map of the Rosebud Reservation annotated to show existing and proposed dams, springs, and irrigated gardens. A photoprocessed copy of a sheet of detailed plans, dated 1940, of the diversion dam and headwork of the Two Kettle irrigation project on the Rosebud Reservation. Two photoprocessed copies of 1942 maps of the project—one a land-use map annotated to show an additional contour ditch, and the other a proposed general plan of the irrigation design.

741. Sisseton and Wahpeton Indian Reservation. 1 item.

A 1936 published map of the reservation annotated to show dams, springs, and irrigated gardens.

Wahpeton Indian Reservation. See entry 741.

742. Yankton Indian Reservation. 24 items.

A blue-line print of an undated map of the reservation annotated to show locations of dams, irrigated gardens, and irrigation projects. A blue-line print of a map of the reservation annotated September 5, 1939, to show approximate watershed area boundary, location of a dam, flowing artesian wells, a migratory fowl refuge, and the State bass hatchery. Undated blueprints (22 sheets) of plans, profiles, cross sections, and structures of the Lake Andes Regulating Canal, Charles Mix County, formerly a part of the Yankton Reservation.

Utah

743. GOSHUTE INDIAN RESERVATION. 3 items.

Photoprocessed copies of two topographic maps of parts of the Goshute Indian Reservation as surveyed in 1939—one of the area in Juab County, and the other of a part of the 1937-38 purchases in Toole County. A manuscript index map of Supervisory Group District No. 2 showing the Goshute and Skull Valley units.

744. KANOSH INDIAN LANDS. 2 items.

A blueprint of a sketch (map) showing an Indian spring and ditch near Kanosh as surveyed on July 12, 1930. A photoprocessed copy of a 1939 map of lands of the Kanosh Indians in Millard County.

745. SHIVWITS (SHEBIT) INDIAN RESERVATION. 1 item.

A manuscript map on tracing cloth of the “Shebits Indian Reservation” drawn from GLO plats, August 30, 1922. The St. George and Santa Clara Bench Irrigation Co. Canal is shown in red.

746. UINTAH INDIAN RESERVATION. 11 items.

A photoprocessed copy of a Geological Survey topographic map of part of the reservation showing agricultural lands as surveyed 1890-1901 and annotated to show an irrigation canal. A blueline print of an Indian map of part of the former reservation colored to show the forest reserve boundary, grazing land, proposed Indian timber reserves, and school and military reserves and giving the acreage of irrigable and irrigated land as of July 1, 1909. A similar larger scale map, corrected to June 30, 1912, showing irrigation systems and colored to show leased and sold land and land irrigated by Indians. A blueprint of a 1910 map showing allotments on the reservation, with minor annotations added in red pencil. Negative photostats of small township plats of the reservation showing Indian allotments, with names of allottees and irrigation work corrected to January 1916. Blueprints of undated maps of irrigation ditches and laterals on the reservation and of a 1942 map of the proposed Ouray Valley Irrigation Co. Canal and adjacent areas.

747. UINTAH IRRIGATION PROJECT. 66 items.

Blueline prints of 1910 Uintah Irrigation Survey maps of irrigation ditches and lateral systems, with annotations concerning beneficial use extended to 1919. A blueline print of a 1915 Uintah Irrigation Survey project map showing Indian allotments and annotated to show cultivated areas; also a blueline print of a 1920 project map colored to show areas for which water was available. A blueprint of a 1915 map colored to indicate status of land affected by the proposed extension of the Henry Jim Ditch and stamped received February 11, 1916, on reverse. A blueprint of a sketch map, dated October 24, 1917, showing change of point of diversion for the Deep Creek Ditch. Three cloth-backed photoprocessed copies of a Uintah irrigation project map prepared by the Indian Irrigation Service in 1924, annotated and colored in 1927 to show Indian and private canals and the acreage irrigated by each. A large-scale blueline print of the 1924 map, and three smaller scale maps—one of which is annotated and colored to show Indian land, white-owned land, and Dry Gulch Irrigation Co. land; another is annotated and colored to indicate areas affected by the proposed Duchesne exchange agreement between the Indian Service and Moon Lake Water Users Association and shows areas irrigated in 1940. Colored photoprocessed copies of 1926 and 1929 project maps showing project land, Dry Gulch Irrigation Co. land, and other private land and including a list of canals and other information of interest. A blueline print of a 1925 map, with Indian allotments along the Green and White Rivers and Willow Creek colored and noted "Submitted with Henderson's Report 12/20/33 in [File] 7755-32-341." A typed "Summary of Data" on the Uintah Indian irrigation project, including information in tabular form pertaining to the canal system as of June 1937. Blueprints of structural plans and design drawings prepared by the Uintah Irrigation Survey, 1907-10, and of a few plans of irrigation facilities for the Uintah project, dated 1916-17. Design drawings, dated 1922, of the Moon Lake Reservoir and dam by the Dry Gulch Irrigation Co.

Washington

748. GENERAL. 5 items.

A 1909 published map of the State annotated to show irrigation projects. A 1910 annotated published map of the Klickitat River Drainage Basin, and a colored blueline print of a 1910 map showing the surveyed route for the main canal and laterals and irrigated districts of the Klickitat Irrigation and Power Co.—both including land in the Yakima Indian Reservation. A blueprint of a map of the East Okanogan Valley Irrigation District, with lands excluded from the district and Indian lands colored. A blueprint of a map showing Indian allotments in Tps. 37-39 N., R. 25 E., Willamette meridian, Wash., marked "Moses Agreement Allotments" on reverse.

749. COLVILLE INDIAN RESERVATION. 15 items.

One copy each of 1910 and 1911 published maps of the reservation annotated to show proposed water withdrawal by the Geological Survey and additional withdrawal suggested by the Indian Service for protection of water for irrigation. A 1913 published map of the reservation annotated to show land that could be irrigated along the Nespelem and Little Nespelem Rivers. A sketch map on tracing cloth, stamped 1916, of part of the Nespelem project. Two blueprints of 1915 plans of Owhi Lake Dam, Little Nespelem project. Two blueline prints of a 1928 map of the reservation showing irrigation projects, one of which is annotated to show active projects and storage work recommended. A blueprint of a map of the area in the vicinity of the town of Omak and Omak Lake showing roads and a few spots of cultivated land. A published Geological Survey map of part of the Sanpoil River within the reservation annotated to show locations of damsites and a reservoir site and marked "For Report See 17571-30." Three blueprints, marked "Rec'd May 24, 1939," of maps showing a proposed irrigation system along the Columbia and Okanogan River and location of a proposed pumping plant. A plat diagram annotated to show allotted, trust deed, and fee-patent lands in secs. 5-9, T. 32 N., R. 37 E., west of the Columbia River, accompanied by status of allotment sheets dated November 13, 1939.

750. LUMMI INDIAN RESERVATION. 3 items.

An annotated blueline print of a 1929 map of the diked area of the reservation. A manuscript map, dated 1926, on tracing cloth of the reclamation unit of the reservation showing overflow line, overflowed land, and a proposed dike. A blueprint of the reclamation unit map and of map (No. 9413) of a proposed highway in Whatcom County, both on one sheet with lines and symbols showing the proposed dike extended on the highway map. See also entry 751.

PORT MADISON INDIAN RESERVATION.

See entry 751.

SWINOMISH INDIAN RESERVATION.

See entry 751.

751. TULALIP AGENCY INDIAN RESERVATIONS. 4 items.

A blueprint of a 1912 map showing the following Indian reservations under the Tulalip Agency: Lummi, Port Madison, Swinomish, and Tulalip. Two photoprocessed copies (one with minor annotations) of plats of T. 30 N., R. 5 E., Willamette meridian, showing area set aside by the President's order of December 23, 1873, for the Tulalip Indian Reservation. A photoprocessed copy of a plat of the Tulalip Indian Reservation as surveyed and approved in 1874.

752. YAKIMA INDIAN RESERVATION. 14 items.

Maps of the reservation, dated 1906-33, including a blueprint of a 1906 map showing allotments, proposed and existing ditches, and annotated to show canals or ditches along Ahtanum River; a manuscript map on tracing cloth, dated 1908, showing constructed irrigation systems from the Yakima River and proposed extension of the new canal from Union Gap; a blueline print of an Indian Service map colored to show allotments and proposed and constructed canals, ca. 1909; a colored manuscript map and a blueline print, dated August 1910, showing results of a reconnaissance of the Upper Toppenish and Simcoe Valleys to ascertain the possibility of irrigation; a manuscript map on tracing cloth, dated 1913, showing canals and laterals; and a large-scale Indian Service manuscript map on tracing cloth showing allotments and irrigation canals and colored to show lands deeded to Indians and whites and boundary of tribal lands along the Ahtanum River as of October 1933. A colored sketch map, stamped September 23, 1939, showing irrigable lands along Ahtanum Creek; also photoprocessed copies, dated September 1939, colored to show trust-patent land and Indian and white fee-patent land within the reservation and white land outside the reservation.

753. YAKIMA INDIAN RESERVATION IRRIGATION PROJECTS. 140 items.

An annotated blueline print of a 1928 map showing the Ahtanum, Satus, Toppenish-Simcoe, and Wapato irrigation projects on the reservation. A blueline print of a 1913 map of the Yakima Reservation project showing irrigation and drainage canals and annotated to show acreage irrigated from sloughs. An annotated map showing irrigation and drainage canals in 1930, and a photoprocessed copy of a 1932 map of the project showing the project boundary. Manuscript plans and blueprints of maps and plans, dated 1907-14, of irrigation facilities on the reservation not identified by project. A Reclamation Service published map of the Tieton unit of the Yakima project, dated September 1910, annotated to show the north boundary of the Yakima Indian Reservation along Ahtanum Creek. Blueprints, some of which are annotated, of 1908 structural plans of the Ahtanum Canal; also an undated map on tracing cloth of the Ahtanum Indian irrigation project. Blueline prints (8 sheets) of a topographic survey of the Satus project in 1914. Published topographic maps of the Satus project, dated August 1930, some of which are annotated. Photoprocessed copies of a set of manuscript maps consisting of a map of eastern Washington (showing locations of the Wapato and Satus projects) and land classification and soil maps, dated 1932, of the Satus project. An annotated copy of an undated land classification map of the Simcoe project; also a blueprint of a revised construction plan, dated 1920, of a feeder canal diversion weir from Toppenish Creek. Maps and plans of the Wapato project, dated 1906-30, including blueprints of two 1906 maps showing existing and proposed canals and leased, sold, and unallotted lands; a colored blueprint showing Indian lands covered by the proposed irrigation system of the Wapato Irrigation Co.; annotated photoprocessed copies of 1917 and 1923 topographic maps of the project showing also the Simcoe and Ahtanum projects; three topographic maps, dated November 1930, showing irrigation and drainage canals of the Wapato project, one of which is annotated to show pumping unit No. 2; a colored land classification map, dated October 1930; and colored photoprocessed maps of the Wapato unit of the project, dated 1932, showing excluded areas, landownership, and lands within the project assessable in 1932 and in the future. Photographs and soil survey tabulation of classified lands within the project. Large-scale undated maps on tracing cloth of the project—one a contour map (18 sheets), and the other a planimetric type map (5 sheets) similar to the 1932 maps described above. A photoprocessed copy of a map of the Satus pumping unit No. 3, Wapato project. Blueprints of plan-profiles and profiles and alignments of the main canal and laterals of the project, and structural plans and designs of irrigation facilities, dated 1916-28.

Wyoming

754. WIND RIVER OR SHOSHONE INDIAN RESERVATION. 17 items.

A blueline print of a 1909 map of the Wind River Reservation showing irrigation ditches and including information in the margin about each. Six annotated blueline prints of Indian Service maps of the Wind River Reservation and adjacent lands—one stamped November 22, 1909, showing irrigation ditches and giving acreage in irrigable and irrigated land; some showing allotted land in color; two showing additional irrigation ditches and canals; and a larger scale manuscript copy on tracing cloth corrected to July 10, 1912. Two blueline prints of a 1910 manuscript map of the reservation—one annotated to show roads and bridges, and the other annotated on January 1, 1914, to show areas under actual cultivation. A blueline print of a 1910 map of the ceded part of the Shoshone or Wind River Reservation annotated to show location of rights-of-way for canals and ditches applied for by the Wyoming Central Irrigation Co. Three 1912 published maps of the Wind River Reservation colored to show irrigation systems and including typed information concerning source of water supply, area of drainage basin, annual runoff, length of irrigation season, average rainfall on irrigable area, character of soil, range of temperature, and principal products; one map includes figures for area irrigated and farmed in 1927. A blueprint of a 1912 map of the reservation, with corrections; also a 1916 map on tracing cloth, with additional information and a revised legend. A 1934 published map of the Wind River or Shoshone Indian Reservation, with an attached office memorandum concerning construction work proposed under fiscal year 1946 appropriation request for the Wind River project.

755. WIND RIVER AND SHOSHONE IRRIGATION PROJECTS. 140 items.

Two manuscript maps on tracing cloth of ditches on the Wind River Reservation as surveyed in 1905 and 1906 for application of water appropriations. Two large-scale manuscript maps on tracing cloth—one of the Ray Lake Reservoir site, Wind River irrigation system, with the date April 13, 1905, added in pencil, and the other, dated July 1, 1907, showing work done on the Coolidge irrigation system. Blueprints, some of which are annotated, of maps of reservoir sites; also maps and profiles, dated 1907-27, of canals and ditches located on the Wind River or Shoshone Reservation. Some are part of the Wind River irrigation system or project; some are entitled "Shoshone Project Shoshone Indian Reservation." A photoprocessed copy of a 1931 Wind River project map annotated to show a proposed addition to the project recommended by the Land Designation Committee report, dated January 5, 1933. Photoprocessed copies of 1937 revised maps of the separate units of the project, each annotated to show proposed ditches. A photoprocessed copy of a plan and profile, dated January 8, 1943, of the Government school farm and drain. Blueprints of plans, profiles, cross sections, and structural drawings, dated 1907-26, of irrigation facilities of the Wind River and Shoshone irrigation projects; a few manuscript plans on tracing cloth are interfiled with the blueprints.

Cartographic Records of the Forestry and Grazing Division

The cartographic records described in this section include those of the Forestry Division, formally established in 1924, and predecessor branches or sections that had been responsible for forestry matters. In 1930 responsibility for grazing activities on Indian lands was assigned to the Indian Forest Service.

In 1931 a director of forestry was given charge of both the fieldwork and the business activities of the Forestry Division. During fiscal year 1936 the name of the Forestry Division was changed to the Division of Forestry and Grazing to signify more fully the activities for which it was responsible.

The records of the Forestry and Grazing Division and its predecessors are in two series. The first and larger series (group A) consists of manuscript and annotated maps dating from about 1908 to 1945. They were accessioned from the Branch of Property and Supply of the BIA in 1968. They are arranged in folders by State and thereunder by name of Indian reservation. Maps of the United States and large areas are arranged in folders by date. The second series (group B) consists of published maps of Indian reservations dating from 1920 to 1956. Most of these were received with the 1968 accession. Some of the fire control maps were received with previous accessions. The maps are arranged in folders alphabetically by name of reservation.

A. MANUSCRIPT AND ANNOTATED MAPS

This series includes unnumbered manuscript and annotated maps prepared in the Division of Forestry and Grazing and in the Division of Forestry and its predecessor branches and sections. Most are published maps annotated with information pertaining to forestry and grazing. Some are base maps on tracing cloth with no forestry or grazing information. Many were received by the BIA from field offices, particularly those pertaining to lumbering. A few photoprocessed copies of manuscript maps are included if the manuscript is missing. Also included are a few maps received or prepared after the reorganization of branches and divisions of the BIA in 1950. There is no index to these maps.

Many maps relating to forestry and grazing are filed with the numbered series of the BIA central map files.

United States

756. GENERAL. 15 items.

A manuscript map showing boundaries of Indian claims from 1825 to 1846 in the north central part of the United States traced from BIA map 750 in 1916 at the request of J. P. Kinney, Chief Supervisor of Forests. Part of a published map of the United States annotated to show ceded Indian country and reserves in the area now included in Wisconsin and Minnesota. A published Forest Service map, dated December 31, 1910, showing national forests and transportation routes in the United States and annotated to show Indian reservations. A published map of Federal lands of the United States showing grazing districts in 1938 and annotated in 1939 to show Indian reservations on which intense range surveys had been made. A mimeographed copy of "Detailed Descriptions of Roadless and Wild Areas," and photostats of maps of nine reservations showing boundaries of such areas. A photostat of a table prepared from annual Forestry and Grazing reports showing, by State and agency, Indian lands under permit on range units, lands used free by Indians on range units, and the number of livestock grazed for the calendar year 1942.

Alaska

757. GENERAL. 12 items.

A Forestry Division file copy of the 1937 edition of the Department of the Interior map of Alaska showing activities of the Office of Indian Affairs. Published copies of the 1940 edition annotated to show the boundary of the reindeer reserve, reindeer range or grazing units, and 1941 railway, boat, and airway routes. Two published maps of Alaska compiled by the Geological Survey's Alaskan Branch and reprinted in 1941—one of which is marked "Palmer's map showing proposed reindeer range . . . March 1944," and the other annotated to show principal towns and transportation routes. A larger scale 1941 Geological Survey map of Alaska and part of Canada (with a colored manuscript inset of Washington State added in the Yukon) annotated and colored to show reindeer grazing units in western Alaska, routes of travel, and marked on the reverse "Arnold's Alaska Trip." A blueline print map of Alaska colored to show locations of Pacific American fish canneries and routes of travel. A manuscript map of Alaska drawn by E. H. Coulson in 1940, and two undated sketch maps.

758. EKLUNTA INDIAN RESERVATION. 2 items.

A published copy of the Alaska Railroad map No. 25, with an area matted and labeled "Eklunta Indian Reservation"; also an enlarged positive photostat of the area colored to show the location of Eklunta Industrial School and boundaries of the proposed reserve, the Matanuska Valley Colony, and a military reservation.

759. KARLUK INDIAN RESERVATION. 4 items.

A published copy of Coast and Geodetic Survey chart No. 8541, with an area outlined to indicate the reservation. A tracing of the area, an enlarged photostat used in compilation, and a positive photostat of the 1946 map of the reservation with an inset of Karluk Village and vicinity.

760. NUNIVAK ISLAND RESERVATION. 4 items.

Two manuscript grazing formline sketch maps of the reservation showing vegetation types, one dated 1944 and identified as traced from a map compiled by Lawrence J. Palmer. Two blueline prints of the 1944 map with vegetation-type zones colored.

761. UNALAKLEET INDIAN RESERVATION. 2 items.

A photoprocessed copy of the Alaska Road Commission map of the Yukon-Kuskokwim District, corrected to January 1935, with an area matted and labeled "Unalakleet Indian Reservation"; also a positive photostat of the area colored at the mouth of the Unalakleet River where the town, post office, and Government school are located.

Arizona

762. GENERAL. 4 items.

A 1932 published topographic map of Arizona, with the Papago Indian Reservation colored and boundaries of the Navajo Indian Reservation outlined in color. A published Forest Service map of the Apache National Forest, dated 1925, annotated to emphasize roads and drainage in the area adjoining the White Mountain and Fort Apache Indian Reservations in Arizona. A photoprocessed copy of a map of the "Cameron-Desert View approach to the Grand Canyon National Park" in Coconino County, dated 1932, showing right-of-way through the Tusayan National Forest and the Navajo Indian Reservation and indicating sections through Indian allotments. A blueline print of a map of southern Arizona annotated to show the boundaries of the Papago and Gila Bend Indian Reservations and an apparent addition of parts of three townships to the Papago Reservation.

763. FORT APACHE INDIAN RESERVATION. 54 items.

A positive photostat of the Fort Apache quadrangle, with the drainage pattern outlined and names of a few creeks added. A manuscript map of the reservation, compiled and drawn in 1915, showing ranger stations, fireguard stations, lookouts, roads, trails, and telephone and telegraph lines; also a published copy annotated to show types of timber and locations of fires in 1914. Two published copies of a 1938 map of the reservation—one annotated to show timber units and proposed railroads, and the other annotated to show roadless primitive areas and other information. A photoprocessed copy of a fire control map annotated to show fires in 1912. Two blueprints of a 1913 fire control map—one annotated to show locations of fires in 1914, and the other to show types of timber. A manuscript fire control map of the reservation compiled in February 1927 from triangulations and Forest Service and Indian Service maps by V. D. Smith, forest ranger. A photoprocessed copy of a fire control map, compiled in June 1927, with annotations in ink showing two forest and lookout stations and a telephone line and road in the Odart Mountain and Maverick Lake Mountain areas. A manuscript map, compiled in 1914, showing location of a proposed timber sale area in the reservation. Manuscript and annotated copies of the Apache Lumber Co. map, prepared in 1923, showing logging tracks in the Haystack unit and logged areas west of the Apache Railway. Two photoprocessed maps, one dated 1911 and the other 1914, showing locations of proposed timber sale areas in the Sitgreaves and Apache National Forests and in the adjoining Indian reservation and colored to show areas of commercial timber, woodland, and grassland. A manuscript and five annotated maps of the Cady Lumber Co. sale areas in the Fort Apache Reservation, 1925-30, three of which are colored and annotated to show areas cut by years. A manuscript map of the Cady Lumber Co. Ditch, 1929. A negative photostat of the Maverick Mountain timber unit, 1931, and one of the Smith Park-Horse Mesa timber unit, 1932. Manuscript map in 18 sheets of a preliminary survey of a proposed logging railroad for the Smith Park-Horse Mesa unit, 1930, and manuscript sketches of bridges for the Bonita Creek Crossing and the White River, 1932. Maps of several logging units in the reservation, 1928-40, two of which are colored to show the areas and volume cut for certain years.

764. GILA RIVER INDIAN RESERVATION. 2 items.

A blueline print of a 1914 Gila River Surveys map of the reservation annotated to show different classes of roads and noted, "This map accompanies Superintendent's Letter dated July 19, 1932." A copy of a 1932 map of part of the reservation showing land irrigable under the San Carlos project and annotated in color to show constructed and proposed roads and locations of schools and churches.

765. HOPI INDIAN RESERVATION. 2 items.

Two photoprocessed copies of a map of Land Management district 6 of the reservation, with original, proposed, and amended boundary lines added in color and with signatures of approval affixed in November 1942. One copy was approved by the Commissioner of Indian Affairs on April 24, 1943.

766. HUALPAI INDIAN RESERVATION. 12 items.

Aerial photographic prints of the reservation annotated to emphasize drainage and to show a railroad and a highway route. A photoprocessed copy of a 1930 map of the reservation, with an area outlined in T. 28 N., Rs. 7 and 8 W., showing names of ranches and locations of wells and a tank. A published 1941 map of the reservation showing the boundary of the area outside the reservation leased by the Indian Service and annotated to emphasize drainage.

767. KAIBAB INDIAN RESERVATION. 2 items.

A manuscript map of the reservation, dated 1935. A photoprocessed copy of a 1940 map of the reservation annotated to emphasize drainage and to show section numbers along the township lines.

768. NAVAJO INDIAN LANDS AND RESERVATION. 164 items.

A manuscript map of the Navajo and Hopi Indian lands showing boundary according to the treaty of June 1, 1868, boundaries of agency jurisdictions, and areas affected by Executive orders, 1880-1911; also a published copy with correction of the date for one Executive order. A blueline print of a manuscript map of the Northern Navajo Indian Reservation, compiled in 1930 by E. A. Johnson, associate silviculturist. A large-scale manuscript map of the northwestern part of the Navajo country, compiled in June 1936. A 1937 published map of the Navajo country annotated to show "Land Management Districts covering the Hopi and Navajo Indian Reservations with their respective names, numbers, boundaries, acreages, and carrying capacities in Sheep Units year long," dated December 28, 1937, and signed by the Commissioner of Indian Affairs. Four smaller scale 1937 maps of the Navajo country—one annotated to show proposed and completed boundary changes in Land Management districts according to the first amendment effective July 7, 1938, and three showing districts according to the second, third, and fourth amendments of 1940, 1943, and 1946; each map includes a table showing district areas and carrying capacity in sheep units. A large-scale blueline print map of the Navajo and Zuni (N. Mex.) Reservations annotated to show Land Management districts and dated on reverse April 19, 1937. Charts showing the relation of grown livestock to carrying capacity in sheep units, 1935-37 and 1940, and change in livestock ownership for 1937 and 1940 on the Navajo Reservation to obtain proper carrying capacity. A photoprocessed copy of a 1939 map of the Navajo Reservation, with "Fire Location and Range Improvement" title added and annotated to show Land Management districts, water facilities, demonstration areas, pastures, dipping vats, and locations of fires during fiscal year 1941. A manuscript map, prepared in 1928, of the Defiance Plateau timber unit in the Navajo Reservation showing approximate boundary of merchantable timber and sale area; also two annotated photoprocessed copies. Aerial photographs of lands in the Navajo Reservation in Arizona, New Mexico, and Utah.

769. PAPAGO INDIAN RESERVATION. 5 items.

A manuscript preliminary map of the reservation, compiled in 1932; also two blueline prints—one with the reservation boundary outlined in color, and the other annotated to show permanent large villages and corrections to place names. Two photoprocessed copies of a 1938 Soil Conservation Service map of the reservation annotated to show roads and corrections to place names.

770. SAN CARLOS INDIAN RESERVATION. 2 items.

A 1924 published map of the reservation annotated to show trails, campsites, and approximate boundary of the flood control area. A blueprint of a map of the reservation showing cattle ranges and annotated and colored to show the reservation boundary, telephone lines, ranger stations, and types of timber.

California

771. GENERAL. 8 items.

A map of California, published by the GLO in 1928, annotated to show proposed grazing districts under the Taylor Grazing Act of June 28, 1934. An undated manuscript map on tracing cloth of the Big Meadows Reservoir area in Plumas County showing Indian allotments and areas held or leased by lumber companies and by the Great Western Power Co.; also two blueprints with flow lines outlined in color. A blueprint of a 1919 map of the Fall River mills country showing lands held by the Red River Lumber Co. and annotated to show Indian lands sold. Two blueline prints of maps of parts of northern California, with annotations in Shasta and Lassen Counties pertaining to timber holdings of the Red River Lumber Co. A blueprint of a 1938 Bureau of Reclamation map of the reservoir behind Parker Dam, Ariz.-Calif., colored to show Indian lands adjacent to the Colorado River, mostly in California.

772. HOOPA VALLEY INDIAN RESERVATION. 7 items.

A manuscript map on tracing cloth of the reservation, compiled and drawn in 1912. Four blueprints of the 1912 map, including annotations showing Indian allotments, homestead entries, trust-and fee-patent lands, agricultural and open land, brushland, woodland, and timberland. A blueline print received with a letter of July 24, 1930, showing timber types, agricultural land, brushland, grassland, and woodland. A blueprint of a map showing Indian allotments along the Klamath River annotated to show timber types and estimates taken from a map submitted with a report made by I. F. Eldredge of the Forest Service in 1908.

773. ROUND VALLEY INDIAN RESERVATION. 3 items.

A manuscript map on tracing cloth of the diminished reservation and Camp Wright, compiled and drawn in 1912. A blueprint annotated to show allotments and names of allottees, and another annotated to show the location of a sawmill.

774. TULE RIVER INDIAN RESERVATION. 1 item.

A blueline print of a map of the reservation annotated to show the location of the subagency, a clubhouse, and a lookout station; road conditions; and road construction proposed by the Indian and Forest Services, ca. 1938.

Colorado

775. GENERAL. 2 items.

A GLO map of Colorado, published in 1921, annotated to show proposed grazing districts under the Taylor Grazing Act of June 28, 1934, the boundary of the Ute lands ceded June 15, 1880, and the approximate location of the Trinchera Ranch. A published 1930 land classification map of southwestern Colorado annotated with numbers apparently to show carrying capacity for different types of grazing land.

776. UTE INDIAN LANDS AND RESERVATIONS. 21 items.

A manuscript map on tracing cloth, compiled in 1913, of part of the Southern Ute Indian Reservation; also a blueprint annotated in 1913 with information from tractbooks to show allotted land and allotments deeded. A photoprocessed copy of a forestry and grazing base map of the Southern Ute Reservation in four sheets annotated to show live-stock movements. A published map of the Consolidated Ute Reservation in Colorado and New Mexico, with an additional legend explaining annotations regarding water supplies, proposed fences, corrals, cattle salt grounds, shelter cabins, range plants, and forage; two overlays, dated 1937, pertaining to livestock, grazing, and number of stock. A positive photostat of a 1942 map of the Ute Mountain Indian Reservation annotated with information apparently to be used in a new edition. A set of 14 aerial photographs of the Consolidated Ute lands, some annotated.

Florida

777. SEMINOLE INDIAN LANDS AND RESERVATIONS. 10 items.

A 1941 manuscript map of the Big Cypress, Brighton, and Dania Reservations traced in the Forestry and Grazing Division from a map of part of Florida compiled by the Land Division in June 1936. Positive photostats of nine GLO plats of the dependent resurveys made in 1938-39 of the boundaries of Seminole Indian lands, approved March 23, 1940, by the Supervisor of Surveys and accepted by the GLO on January 14, 1941.

Idaho

778. GENERAL. 2 items.

A GLO map of Idaho, published in 1921, annotated to show the Owyhee grazing district. A photoprocessed copy of a 1923 map of Benewah County annotated to show timberlands of the McGoldrick Lumber Co., lands owned by the Catholic Church, timbered trust allotments, and small sawmills.

779. COEUR D'ALENE INDIAN RESERVATION. 4 items.

Published maps of the reservation—one annotated with information taken from tractbooks in 1912 to show timber, agricultural, and grazing lands and numbered allotments with allottees' names; one annotated to show allotments sold and logged and timber estimates taken from Dunston's report in 1915; one showing timber sales plotted to June 30, 1923, including the Hangman Creek unit; and one submitted with the annual forestry report for fiscal year 1926 showing land timbered, cultivated, patented, and cutover and the areas cutover during 1926.

780. DUCK VALLEY INDIAN RESERVATION. 1 item.

A manuscript map on tracing cloth of the reservation in Idaho and Nevada, compiled in 1930 from GLO township plats.

781. FORT HALL INDIAN RESERVATION. 6 items.

An undated manuscript map on tracing cloth of part of the reservation. Two published maps of the reservation, dated 1913—one annotated to show Indian allotments and Government, timber, and grazing reserves; the other annotated with information apparently for the 1930 edition and colored to show irrigable land, part of the powersite reserve restored to the public domain, and the area in the American Falls Reservoir. An annotated photostat of the 1930 published map of the reservation. A photoprocessed copy of a 1934 map of the reservation annotated to show water available to range stock and storage tanks and troughs.

782. NEZ PERCE INDIAN RESERVATION. 3 items.

An undated manuscript map on tracing cloth of the former reservation, and a blueprint annotated to show roads, railroads, and a few corrections to place names. A 1911 published map of the former reservation annotated to show cultivated land, grassland, brushland, Indian allotments, and marketable timber; some timber areas are identified with the Craig Mountain Lumber Co. name, June 28, 1918.

Kansas

783. IOWA INDIAN RESERVATION. 1 item.

An undated manuscript map on tracing cloth of the reservation in Kansas and Nebraska, compiled from GLO plats.

784. KICKAPOO INDIAN RESERVATION. 1 item.

A manuscript map of the reservation, compiled in 1941 from GLO plats.

785. POTAWATOMI INDIAN RESERVATION. 1 item.

A manuscript map of the reservation, compiled in 1941 from GLO plats.

Michigan

786. GENERAL. 1 item.

A manuscript map on tracing cloth of Big Beaver Island, compiled and drawn in June 1919, showing Indian allotments, swamps, and trails and including inset maps of Hog and South Fox Islands and an index map showing the location of Big Beaver Island in relation to several small islands.

787. L'ANSE INDIAN RESERVATION. 3 items.

Three 1912 published maps of the reservation, with a small inset map of the Ontonagon Indian Reservation—one annotated with information taken from a tractbook on July 10, 1912, to show Indian allotments and indicating those sold, unallotted land sold or vacant, and fee-patent allotments; one annotated to show unsold allotments and timber estimates in 1915; and the third annotated to show boundaries of timber sale tracts in 1916 and 1917.

ONTONAGON INDIAN RESERVATION.

See entry 787.

Minnesota

788. GENERAL. 1 item.

A published Geological Survey map of Minnesota, with Indian and forest reserves colored in crayon and treaty dates added in pencil for some reservations.

789. CHIPPEWA INDIAN LANDS AND RESERVATIONS.790. General. 10 items.

Four annotated blueprints of a 1912 map of the Leech Lake, Chippewa, Winnibigoshish, Cass Lake, and White Oak Point Reservations—one including annotations showing tracts of land on which lumber was offered for sale and for which bids were opened in March 1913, with names of companies whose bids were accepted; one showing progress of timber cutting; one with unexplained annotations; and the other annotated to show certain lands cutover in 1912. A manuscript map on tracing cloth as revised in 1916 of the reservations listed above. Two published copies of the 1916 map, including annotations showing Indian allotments, different types of roads, telephone lines, forest lookout stations, and allotments with timber contracts in 1917-18; two published copies with annotations showing agricultural lands, swamplands, Indian allotments, and unsold pinelands in 1921-22; and a first proof copy of the 1916 map overprinted in 1924 to show lands patented to the State as swamplands and lands not yet patented but claimed by the State as swamplands.

791. Boise Fort (Nett Lake) Indian Reservation. 8 items.

A manuscript map of the reservation showing swamp area, Indian allotments, allotments on which timber was subject to sale by the GLO, and fee-patented allotments according to data taken from Indian Office tractbooks in March 1929; also shown are trails, roads, an old railroad, and locations of pine timber. Three blueprints, including annotations showing allotments with timber contracts, timber estimates made by lumberman Mark L. Burns to November 1910, types of timber, areas opened to homesteading in 1904 and 1916, subsisting homesteads in 1921, and other information. A blue-line print annotated to show timber units, allotments with approved timber contracts, and allotments with no timber contract as of March 12, 1929. A blueprint of a map of the reservation showing allotted areas, annotated to show the location of a Civilian Conservation Corps—Indian Division camp, and marked on reverse "To Kinney from Carlson, Oct. 1930." Two blue-line prints of a map of the Bois Fort (Nett Lake) Indian Reservation, compiled in 1935, annotated to show cutting status of timber on allotments under contract to the Northwest Paper Co.—one as of September 1943 and the other as of July 1945.

Cass Lake Indian Reservation. See entry 790.

Chippewa Indian Reservation. See entry 790.

792. Fond du Lac Indian Reservation. 2 items.

Two 1910 published maps of the reservation—one annotated to show lands deeded to the State and the status of timber cutting and logging on Indian allotments, and the other annotated to show original allotment numbers and names, allotments contracted for timber, and allotments for which contracts were not approved as of August 21, 1911.

793. Grand Portage Indian Reservation. 10 items.

A manuscript map of the reservation, compiled and drawn in 1911, giving the acreage to be opened to settlement and the acreage allotted to Indians and showing allotments with allotment numbers and names, areas reserved for "agency and wood purposes," swampland, roads, and trails. Two blueprints of the preceding map—one annotated and colored to show areas of good soil, stony land, and all rock; the other annotated to show allotments with timber contracts, allotments for which fee-patents had been issued as of November 20, 1916, and areas reserved for waterpower purposes. A manuscript map, dated 1921, of the reservation similar to the 1911 manuscript map, with allotments outlined in heavy black lines. Six blue-line prints of a map of the reservation and Pigeon Point, compiled in 1936 from GLO plats—one annotated to show different types of allotments, land restored to tribal ownership by a departmental order of November 29, 1935, and land purchased for the Grand Portage Band; the others annotated to show trails, roads, highways, roadless areas, forest lookouts, and other information.

794. Leech Lake Indian Reservation. 2 items.

Two 1911 published maps of the Leech Lake Indian Reservation—both annotated to show areas included in the Minnesota National Forest and allotment numbers, and one showing only the allotments with timber contracts dated 1904 and 1905.

Nett Lake Indian Reservation. See entry 791.

795. Red Lake Indian Reservation and Forest. 13 items.

Four 1910 published maps of the reservation, including annotations showing types of timber, land classification, telephone lines, fire towers, roads, trails, schools, and other information. A large-scale manuscript township map (6 sheets including legend) showing topography, roads, and the types of timber in the area south of Lower Red Lake on the reservation from data obtained on a cruise begun November 15, 1916, and completed March 14, 1917; also an incomplete set of tracings on eight sheets. A plat of the timbered area, and large-scale manuscript plats on tracing cloth (11 sheets including cover) showing the types and estimated amount of timber in the area south of Lower Red Lake on the reservation from data obtained on the 1916-17 cruise. A large-scale manuscript map on tracing cloth, dated 1919, showing the Red Lake Indian Forest; also a blueprint of part of the map annotated and colored to show agricultural and forest land in the area south of Lower Red Lake. Two 1922 published maps of "The Point" within the Red Lake Indian Forest, one annotated and colored to show forest land, agricultural land, and swampland.

796. Vermilion Lake Indian Reservation. 2 items.

An undated manuscript map on tracing cloth of the reservation in T. 62 N., R. 16 W., fourth principal meridian. A blueprint of a map, dated 1923.

797. White Earth Indian Reservation. 4 items.

Three 1910 published maps of the reservation, including annotations showing State swampland selections approved and patented in 1911 and selections not patented because of conflicts with Indian allotments, the status of allotments as to contracts for timber sales, areas approved for sale to certain companies, and other information. One 1910 map overprinted to show lands patented to the State as swamplands and lands not patented but claimed by the State as swamplands; annotated to show roads, telephone lines, lookout stations, and lookout towers; and dated 1937 in the lower right-hand corner.

*White Oak Point Indian Reservation.

Montana

798. GENERAL. 4 items.

A GLO map of Montana, published in 1907, annotated to show areas ceded by the Crow Indians. Two GLO maps of Montana, published in 1926—one annotated to show proposed grazing districts under the Taylor Grazing Act of June 28, 1934, and the other annotated to show the locations of Turtle Mountain allotments and the agencies to which they were assigned. A Forest Service map of the Sioux National Forest in Montana and South Dakota, published in 1919, annotated to show areas eliminated from the Long Pines Division.

799. BLACKFEET INDIAN RESERVATION. 6 items.

Two 1910 published maps of the reservation—one annotated to show highways constructed and projected in 1914 and other corrections, and the other annotated to show areas under the Reclamation Service, allotments (some irrigable), and timber reserves as of November 1921. Part of a 1910 map of the reservation annotated to show the boundaries of lands reserved for timber, pine timber area, and poplar and brush land. A published map of the Glacier National Park and adjacent areas, 1915 edition, annotated to show timbered areas and timber reserves along the western boundary of the reservation. A blue-line print of a map of the reservation annotated in January 1932 to show alienated lands and lands leased as of May 1, 1930. A 1931 published map of the reservation annotated to show grazing units.

800. CROW INDIAN RESERVATION. 3 items.

A 1911 published map of the reservation annotated to show fee-patented lands, competent allotments held by lessees to 1937, noncompetent allotments, farm leases, State and tribal lands, range boundaries, and wire fences. Two published maps of the reservation revised in June 1929—one annotated in 1933 to show grazing units; the other annotated to show fee-patented lands, competent allotments, and grazing units.

801. FLATHEAD INDIAN RESERVATION. 19 items.

Three undated published maps of the reservation, including annotations showing timberland, numbered allotments, areas reclassified as agricultural or grazing land, locations of sawmills, logging units and logging railroads, estimated board feet per acre, and the boundary of the proposed addition to national forests as outlined by the Forest Service in 1920. A 1928 published fire control map of the former reservation annotated in 1933 to show alienated lands with timber, acreage of other alienated lands, and acreage of State lands. A 1939 published map of the former reservation annotated to show logging units. A blueline print of a map of the Ronan logging unit annotated to show alienated and cutover lands and submitted with a report of June 3, 1925. A manuscript map on tracing cloth, dated 1923, of the Big Arm logging unit. Two sets (6 sheets each) of Forest Service forest-type maps, dated 1940-42, covering the former reservation—one set colored to show timber types, and the other set (trimmed sheets) including a legend explaining figures representing board measurement and letters indicating timber types.

802. FORT BELKNAP INDIAN RESERVATION. 6 items.

Four 1923 published maps of the reservation—two annotated to show timber and mission reserves and the location of a Boy Scout camp for which a permit was issued in 1930, one annotated in 1935 to show stock water facilities, and one annotated in 1936 to show roads and trails, telephone lines, range or guard cabins, lookout stations, main range division fences, and the location of the Emergency Conservation Work (ECW) camp and headquarters. A photoprocessed copy of a 1931 land status map of the reservation annotated with information from a 1930 map to show fenced and leased lands. A photoprocessed copy of a location map and profile of the road from Agency to Hays marked "Checked and approved April 9, 1932, Wm. W. Halsey, Senior Forest Ranger."

803. ROCKY BOY'S INDIAN RESERVATION. 2 items.

A blueline print of a map of the reservation traced from the proclamation map of Fort Assiniboine Military Reservation by the Forestry Division on November 8, 1930. A blueline print (in 2 parts) of a large-scale manuscript topographic map of the reservation and purchase area.

804. TONGUE RIVER OR NORTHERN CHEYENNE INDIAN RESERVATION. 10 items.

A manuscript map on tracing cloth of the Tongue River or Northern Cheyenne Indian Reservation marked "File 83005-14, M. L. Burns' Report," showing timbered areas with approximate number of board feet and where sawmills and ranger cabins should be located. Five blueprints of a 1912 map of the reservation—two colored to show timbered areas and open land and annotated with information from a report (file No. 75423-14) dated July 25, 1914, by Mark L. Burns, lumberman; two annotated to show locations of telephone lines, sawmills, and "bug areas"; and another annotated and colored to show timberland, agricultural land, and grazing land according to an act of June 3, 1926. A manuscript map of the reservation, dated 1912, with drainage revised in 1929; also two blueline prints, one annotated to show administrative sites and the other annotated to show secondary roads and telephone lines. A blueline print of a 1930 map of the reservation annotated and colored to show timberland, agricultural land, and grazing land.

Nebraska

805. GENERAL. 2 items.

A published Geological Survey map of Nebraska, compiled in 1920-21, annotated to show boundaries of the Ponca Reserve according to treaties of March 12, 1858, and March 10, 1865, and areas withdrawn and restored to the Santee Sioux Reservation by Executive orders from February 27, 1866, to November 16, 1867. A 1922 GLO map of the State, with similar annotations.

806. PONCA INDIAN RESERVATION. 1 item.

A manuscript map on section paper of the reservation as established by a treaty of March 10, 1865, compiled in the Forestry and Grazing Division from GLO plats.

Nevada

807. PYRAMID LAKE INDIAN RESERVATION. 1 item.

A 1940 published map of the reservation annotated to show locations of demonstration plots, windmills, riders' cabins, and fences.

808. WALKER RIVER INDIAN RESERVATION. 4 items.

An undated manuscript map on tracing cloth showing boundaries of the reservation, a grazing reserve, a timber reserve, and rock quarry. A photoprocessed copy of a map of the reservation, with the "Walker River Indian Reservation Grazing Area" and the proposed grazing area extension colored. A positive photostat of parts of the Hawthorne and Carson Sink Geological Survey quadrangles that had been annotated apparently to show grazing units, marked "Walker River Reservation—Adapted by: Richard B. Millin, Regional Forester," and dated April 3, 1939. A 1943 published map of the reservation annotated with a few corrections.

809. WESTERN SHOSHONE AND PAIUTE INDIAN RESERVATION. 2 items.

A photoprocessed copy of a 1938 Soil Conservation Service woodland-type map of the reservation in Nevada and Idaho (in 2 sheets) colored to show timber types.

New Mexico

810. GENERAL. 4 items.

A GLO map of New Mexico, published in 1927, annotated to show proposed grazing districts under the Taylor Grazing Act of June 28, 1934. A photoprocessed copy of a chart and a colored photoprocessed graph showing the results of a comparison between heavy and moderate stocking on the New Mexico State College experimental range; also a colored photoprocessed graph showing actual operation and production figures on the Victorio Land and Cattle Co. range as reported by Manager J. L. Black for 1926-33, 1934-37, and 1938-41.

811. JICARILLA INDIAN RESERVATION. 15 items.

A 1910 large-scale published map of the reservation annotated to show numbered allotments and with manuscript insets showing agricultural allotments in a few sections in Tps. 29-32 N., R. 2 W. Two 1910 maps colored to show timber areas with the number of board feet per acre, woodland, grassland, and park areas; one map also shows boundaries of timbered areas according to the report of a timber cruise made in May 1917. Three 1911 smaller scale published maps of the reservation—one annotated to show timber estimates for La Jara Basin in 1925, one annotated to show standing timber in 1926 and areas previously cut by certain lumber companies, and the other annotated to show water facilities, roads, stock driveways, and ranches in the southern part of the reservation in 1931. An annotated blueprint showing names of a few lumber companies and indicating camps and railroads in use and those abandoned. A manuscript map on tracing cloth, dated 1928, of the northern half of the reservation. A blueline print and a reduced published copy—both annotated and colored to show timber areas cut by years for 1914 and 1917-30, the latter also showing two areas cut in 1931; also a blueline print annotated to show boundaries of erosion flood control, pest control, and improvement areas and campsites. A manuscript map of tracing cloth of the southern half of the reservation, compiled in December 1930. Two overlays (one each for the northern and southern halves of the reservation) prepared in 1937 to show grazing units and types of vegetation. A manuscript map of the reservation traced in 1945 from a 1939 map.

812. MESCALERO INDIAN RESERVATION. 6 items.

A 1912 published map of the reservation annotated to show timberland, grassland or open land, mixed areas, logging units, and areas cut for the years 1926-30. A manuscript map, dated June 3, 1929, showing location of the George E. Breech Lumber Co.'s logging railroad survey across land cultivated by Mescalero Indians in T. 14 S., R. 14 E. A manuscript map on tracing cloth of the reservation, including data for a fire protection map for the 1930 season. A photoprocessed copy of a 1938 Soil Conservation Service map of the reservation (2 sheets), with additions and corrections. A 1938 published map of the reservation annotated with the title "Timber Cutting Progress Map" and colored to show logging units with areas cut for the years 1921-44.

813. NAVAJO INDIAN RESERVATION. 3 items.

Photoprocessed copies of 1938 Soil Conservation Service land status maps of parts of the Navajo District, with the new title "Map of Navajo Reservation Showing Water Developments and 1931 Indian Withdrawal" added in ink and annotated to show boundary of Indian withdrawal, Indian Service District boundaries, and symbols for stock tanks, developed springs, and wells.

814. PUEBLO INDIAN LANDS, GRANTS, AND RESERVATIONS. 14 items.

A published map of the Pueblo land grants and adjacent lands, compiled by Mark W. Radcliff in February 1934, annotated in pencil to show land in the Taos Grazing District, with State lands and unidentified areas outlined in color; also a blueline print colored by hand with forest boundaries outlined. Two positive photostats of maps of Pueblo grants annotated to show roads. A small map showing the areas under the United Pueblos Agency jurisdiction, excluding the Zuni Indian Reservation, apparently for use as an inset map. A blueline print of a 1942 map of the area under United Pueblos jurisdiction annotated and colored to show Indian tribal land, resettlement purchase land, Navajo areas, and national forests. A set of six manuscript maps, compiled in 1944 and 1947, of pueblos and reservations. A blueprint map of the Santa Clara Indian Reservation and original Santa Clara Grant annotated to show the number of acres in the original grant and with a reference citation for the Shoestring Grant. A manuscript map on tracing cloth of unsurveyed T. 20 N., R. 5 E., New Mexico principal meridian, in the Santa Clara Reservation, prepared from data compiled by John W. Farmer, timber cruiser for the GLO, while estimating timber in May and June 1910.

815. ZUNI INDIAN RESERVATION. 1 item.

A 1914 published map of the reservation colored to show timberland, yellow pine areas, and irrigated land.

North Carolina

816. CHEROKEE INDIAN LANDS AND RESERVATION. 10 items.

Three manuscript maps on tracing cloth of parts of the Qualla Indian Reservation for the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians signed "Lincoln Crowell, Chief of Field Party," and one sheet of timber estimates for the 1915-16 field season. A manuscript map and tracing of the "Qualla Boundary" tract, dated 1932, showing county, township, and reservation lines and mountains, drainage, roads, telephone lines, and a lookout tower. A photoprocessed copy of a large-scale 1937 map of the Qualla and 3,200-acre tracts in the Cherokee Indian Reservation annotated to show telephone lines and with minor corrections; also two smaller scale published maps, one with corrections and the other annotated to show the number of families in certain areas. A photostat of a map showing landownership along the southeastern boundary of the reservation and certain tracts as surveyed in 1933-34.

North Dakota

817. GENERAL. 2 items.

A GLO map of North Dakota, published in 1918, annotated to show the location of Turtle Mountain allotments and the agencies to which they were assigned. A chart with attached pictures illustrating the effects of overgrazing.

818. SIOUX INDIAN LANDS AND RESERVATIONS.

819. Devils Lake Indian Reservation. 1 item.

A manuscript map on tracing cloth of the reservation, dated 1935, showing different types of roads, churches, cemeteries, schools, wells, and telephone and telegraph lines.

820. Standing Rock Indian Reservation. 1 item.

A photoprocessed copy of a published map of the reservation in North and South Dakota annotated to show boundaries of pastures with acreage, boundaries of ceded land, a proposed railroad, and the cost of appraising and classifying surplus land, ca. 1910.

Oklahoma

821. GENERAL. 2 items.

A GLO map of Oklahoma, published in 1914, annotated with names of former Indian nations and reservations, and part of a State map showing the different areas in color.

822. CHEYENNE AND ARAPAHO INDIAN LANDS. 1 item.

A blueline print of a 1929 Geological Survey map of restricted Indian land in the former reservation, with allotted pastureland and reserved areas outlined in color.

823. CHOCTAW INDIAN LANDS. 4 items.

A composite map of Geological Survey quad-range maps mounted on cloth with an attached title "Proposed Forest Reserve, Choctaw Nation, Oklahoma." The map is annotated to show limits of the proposed reserve, segregated coal lands, and allotted lands; it bears a stamp and file mark including the date 1911. A published map of the timberlands in the former Choctaw Nation, dated June 1913, overprinted in color to show agricultural land, grazing land, and timberland and giving an estimate of pine timber per section. A blueline print of a topographic map of Tps. 1 and 2 S., Rs. 24 and 25 E. A blueprint of a topographic map of the Choctaw-Chickasaw Sanatorium Reserve and vicinity in Tps. 3 and 4 N., R. 21 E., Indian meridian, Okla.

Oregon

824. GENERAL. 9 items.

A GLO map of Oregon, published in 1910, annotated apparently to show the number of acres of allotted land sold in certain areas, the price per acre, and the file numbers for related records; also a 1914 published Geological Survey map of the State, with similar annotations and with Indian reservations hand colored. A map of the State, published by the GLO in 1922, annotated to show proposed grazing districts under the Taylor Grazing Act of June 28, 1934. A manuscript map on tracing paper, dated 1942, showing locations of islands in the Columbia River near Celilo (T. 2 N., Rs. 13-15 E., Willamette meridian) traced from GLO plats of surveys made in 1939; also published copies of the township plats, with minor annotations.

825. KLAMATH INDIAN RESERVATION. 103 items.

Seven published copies of a 1910 large-scale map of the reservation, including annotations showing types of timber, timber estimates, timber allotments, merchantable and unmerchantable timber, sale areas, boundaries of logging units, information pertaining to some units (including file numbers with dates, 1912-24), cruised areas, guard districts and stations, roads, and telephone lines. Two copies of a 1911 smaller scale map of the reservation—one marked "Exhibit A" and annotated to show logging units and cutover areas, and the other colored to show agricultural and grazing land. Manuscript map on tracing cloth of the reservation marked "I.O. File No. 67864-23"; also a published copy with minor annotations. A large-scale manuscript topographic map on tracing cloth compiled and drawn in 1925 in the Forestry Branch; a blueprint annotated with additional place names; and eight published copies that include annotations showing the area surveyed after the beetle infestation in the summer of 1930, logging units for different dates, areas cut by years (1918-45), grazing ranges with number of livestock, and sheep and cattle ranges according to grazing permits. A blueline print of the 1925 map colored to show fee-patent and trust-allotted lands, with an attached overlay showing in color unsold timber sale units, completed timber sale units (1916-54), units under contract for first cut, and areas logged prior to January 1, 1955, on active units. A manuscript fire control map on tracing cloth prepared in the Forestry Branch in 1929, and a blueline print of a tentative fire map of the reservation annotated to show roads and telephone lines. A blueline print of an Indian Service roadmap of the reservation annotated to show two lumber company camps near the eastern boundary and the location of a sawmill. Two photoprocessed maps of the reservation prepared from Department of Agriculture aerial photography (1952-53), one of which is colored and has an attached summary of data concerning sustained yield units in the Klamath Indian Forest. Large-scale, undated manuscript topographic maps (most on tracing cloth) of townships within the reservation showing types of timber and estimated board feet, and several colored and annotated blueprints and blueline prints. Large-scale manuscript topographic maps and a few photoprocessed maps of timber and logging units, dated 1916-37, some showing allotments, roads, railroads, telephone lines, types of timber, and timber estimates.

826. SILETZ INDIAN RESERVATION. 5 items.

A manuscript map on tracing cloth of the former reservation, compiled in June 1913, showing areas reserved for timber under an act of August 15, 1894, to be sold under an act of May 13, 1910. Four annotated blueprints of the manuscript map—one showing Indian allotments and indicating those deeded prior to and since June 26, 1913, to about 1918; two pertaining to progress reports of the timber cruise in 1918; and another, dated 1919, identified as a timber sales map and annotated with allotment numbers and names of allottees as listed in groups 1-9 and in scattered allotments.

827. UMATILLA INDIAN RESERVATION.
5 items.

A manuscript map on tracing cloth of parts of Tps. 1 and 2 N., R. 35 E., Willamette meridian, dated 1910, colored to show the yellow pine timbered area. Three blueprints of a map showing the original and diminished boundaries of the reservation and including annotations showing the yellow pine area—one also showing Indian allotments, and another showing tribal land within the diminished boundaries according to information from tractbooks in December 1930. A blueline print annotated to show land status from Indian land records in August 1932.

828. WARM SPRINGS INDIAN RESERVATION.
17 items.

Two blueprints of a 1907 Forest Service map of the reservation—one colored to show commercial forest, timberland, woodland, cutover area, and cultivated lands; the other annotated to show a new ranger trail and telephone lines proposed or under construction. A blueline print of a 1917 forest map of the reservation annotated to show corrections in telephone lines and roads. A manuscript forest map on tracing cloth dated 1922. A blueline print of an Indian Service map of the Warm Springs reservation colored to show a large area for which estimates of timber were received in July 1925. A booklet containing manuscript quarter-township contour maps, dated 1926, of part of the reservation, apparently related to the map showing the area for which estimates were made in 1925. A large-scale manuscript fire control map on tracing cloth prepared in the Forestry Branch in 1927, and two small-scale annotated published copies—one annotated to show lands reserved for ranger stations, and the other colored to show forest and timberland and the boundary of the Metolius logging unit. A large-scale manuscript map on tracing cloth of the reservation, compiled and drawn in 1929; also manuscript contour and drainage sheets for overprinting the final published topographic map. Two published copies of the 1929 topographic map of the reservation—one annotated in 1941 to show fee-patented land and powersite withdrawals in the Schoolie sale area, and the other annotated to show the location of a mill and townsite near the Warm Springs Agency and colored apparently to show timber areas cut in 1943 on the Schoolie unit. A large-scale colored photoprocessed plat of the lumber manufacturing plant of the Warm Springs Lumber Co., dated September 18, 1941. Photoprocessed copies of parts of maps of the Oregon and Mount Hood National Forests, with annotations along the northern and western boundaries of the Warm Springs Reservation.

South Carolina

829. CATAWBA INDIAN RESERVATION AND PURCHASE AREAS. 1 item.

A photoprocessed copy of a map showing different types of roads and boundaries of the reservation and purchase areas in York County, compiled and drawn in the Division of Forestry and Grazing in 1944.

South Dakota

830. GENERAL. 2 items.

A GLO map of South Dakota, published in 1918, annotated to show the location of Turtle Mountain allotments assigned to the Cheyenne River Agency. A Forest Service map of the Sioux National Forest in South Dakota and Montana, published in 1919, annotated to show area eliminated from the Long Pines Division.

831. CHEYENNE RIVER INDIAN RESERVA-TION. 2 items.

A photoprocessed copy of a published map of the reservation annotated to show projected railroads, boundaries of pastures, boundary of ceded land, allotted lands, and the cost of appraising and classifying surplus land, ca. 1910. A positive photostat of an undated map of the reservation checked and annotated apparently for use in compiling a new edition.

832. PINE RIDGE INDIAN RESERVATION.
5 items.

Two large-scale maps of the reservation, published in 1914—one annotated to show boundaries of timber reserves according to a Forest Service report in 1909 and colored to differentiate timber, wood, and grass land; the other annotated and colored in 1931 to show timber reserves from land allotment record files of 1911 and 1915. A smaller scale 1914 published map of the reservation annotated to show range boundaries and locations of reservoirs, and a 1933 revised edition of the 1914 map annotated in 1941 apparently to show grazing units. A map of the reservation, published in 1940, annotated to show the boundary of an area to be made available to the Army Air Corps in July 1942 and that part of the area realigned in August 1942.

833. ROSEBUD INDIAN RESERVATION. 1 item.

An undated published map of the reservation colored to show a timber reserve in the southwestern part and annotated apparently to indicate locations of proposed small reserves in the northwestern part.

Texas

834. ALABAMA AND COUSHATTA INDIAN RESERVATION. 1 item.

A published map of the reservation, compiled in the Division of Forestry and Grazing in 1942 from a Soil Survey map of Polk County, annotated in pencil to show acreage.

Utah

835. GENERAL. 2 items.

A GLO map of Utah, published in 1926, annotated to show proposed grazing districts under the Taylor Grazing Act of June 28, 1934. A manuscript map on tracing cloth showing boundaries of the former Uncompahgre Indian Reservation and of a proposed grazing reserve.

836. UINTAH AND OURAY INDIAN RESERVATION. 4 items.

A composite map made of Geological Survey reconnaissance maps (Ashley, Uinta, and Salt Lake sheets) pasted together, with boundaries of the reservation and a township grid added in color and certain areas identified as grazing and timber reserves. A published GLO map of part of the Uintah Indian Reservation to be disposed of under an act of March 3, 1905, and a President's proclamation dated July 14, 1905, with legend marked to indicate grazing land and proposed Indian timber reserves as "Present Indian Lands." A manuscript map of part of the Uintah and Ouray Indian Reservation showing drainage. A positive photostat of a 1944 map of the reservation, with color added to show changes in land status according to records available in 1946 and with corrections apparently for a new edition.

Washington

837. GENERAL. 5 items.

A published Geological Survey map of Washington, compiled in 1914, with Indian reservations colored in crayon and an annotation in the margin regarding the sale of 69.40 acres, apparently on the Chehalis Indian Reservation. Three manuscript maps on tracing cloth—one, compiled and drawn in August 1916, showing the Chehalis, Muckleshoot, Nisqually, and Squaxon [sic] Island Indian Reservations on one sheet; one of the Shoalwater (or Georgetown) Indian Reservation, dated 1915; and one of the Ozette Indian Reserve, dated 1923. A blueline print of a 1942 "Fireman Map" of parts of Ferry and Okanogan Counties annotated to show the boundary between the Chelan and Colville Forests.

838. COLVILLE INDIAN RESERVATION. 25 items.

A 1910 published map of the reservation annotated and colored to show land with timber, areas with cottonwood and elders, and cultivated land and also to show in tabular form the amount of timber by township according to Charles S. Webster's report in 1911. Four published copies of a 1913 map of the reservation—one annotated to show status of lands on January 31, 1921, with additions and corrections to May 1929, and the others including annotations showing grazing, timber, and allotted lands, proposed and existing logging units, and mountainous forest area that should be conserved for watershed protection. A 1915 published map of the reservation annotated to show timber and grazing land and allotments as compiled from a report furnished by the Colville Classifying and Appraising Commission. Four published copies of a 1921 map of the reservation, including annotations showing grazing reserves, forest administration stations and reserves, logging units, roads, trails, logging railroads, telephone lines, and lookout stations. Three published copies of a 1930 fire control map of the Colville and Spokane Indian Reservations—one annotated to show logging units in the Colville Reservation; one annotated to show administrative sites in both reservations and logging units in the Spokane Reservation, including the years timber was cut from 1920 to 1929; and the other colored to show alienated lands in timber area and indicating the total acreage, separately and for both reservations, in 1933. A 1945 published map of the Colville Indian Reservation marked "Slash Map as of Sept. 1, 1945" and colored to show the status of slash disposal under the supervision of the Forestry Department, 1942-45. Several manuscript, annotated, and photoprocessed maps of logging units in the Colville Reservation—two dated 1922, one 1942, and one 1943. Two photoprocessed maps of the reservation annotated to show roads, trails, stock driveways, logging units, lookout stations, telephone and powerlines, and other information apparently for use in a new compilation.

839. MAKAH INDIAN RESERVATION. 11 items.

A blueline print of a plat of the Indian village of Neah Bay as surveyed 1913-15, enlarged and traced in the Forestry Branch from a GLO plat. A blueline print of a map of the reservation, dated December 29, 1924, with an annotation indicating certain lots in Neah Bay Village reserved for "Forest Administration purposes." Two published copies of a 1930 map of the reservation—both annotated to show allotments and indicating those having timber contracts, one of which is colored to show reserved timber, nontimbered or unmerchantable timber areas, and the areas cut, 1926-30 and 1932-44. A photoprocessed copy of a topographic map of the reservation, compiled at Neah Bay Indian Agency in 1935 after a cruise made by Charles Stinger, annotated to show roads, trails, railroads, a proposed cemetery, a forest nursery, and campgrounds. A photoprocessed copy of a map of the northeastern part of the "Wa-ach Logging Unit" colored apparently to show areas cut by year from 1926 to 1930. A manuscript map, dated June 1, 1930, showing space allotted to the Washington Pulp and Paper Corp. at Neah Bay and the additional space required. Two manuscript right-of-way maps on tracing cloth, dated September 7, 1932, showing location of a proposed logging railroad in T. 33 N., Rs. 14 and 15 W., to remove timber from the reservation; also a map showing the location of a railroad and a proposed chipping plant at Neah Bay. A published map of the reservation with an attached legend dated January 5, 1945, indicating by different colors nontimbered and reserved areas; areas cut, 1926-31; and areas logged, 1932-44.

840. QUINAIELT (QUINAULT) INDIAN RESERVATION. 49 items.

Five published copies of a 1911 map of the reservation—one annotated and colored to show timbered and burned areas, prairie, and cultivated land according to a field examination by F. W. Reed in 1904; the others including annotations showing logging units, areas for which timber clearing permits had been granted, Indian allotments as of October 2, 1912, and the number of board feet of spruce timber found on each quarter section during the 1915-16 cruise. A manuscript allotment map on tracing cloth of the reservation, compiled in 1918 and revised in 1919; also two blueline prints, one that is annotated to show fee-patented allotments and allotments with timber contracts. A blueline print (in several sheets) of a large-scale allotment map of the reservation, compiled in the Forestry Branch in 1929. Six published copies of a topographic map of the reservation, compiled in the Forestry Branch in 1920—two annotated and colored in 1922 to show land classification (one of which also shows timberland, with an estimate of the number of board feet per acre, cutover land, and recently burned areas); one colored to show logging units; one with the Milwaukee Trail unit and the Quinaielt Lake unit outlined and several allotments throughout the reservation colored; one submitted in March 1931, annotated to show logging unit boundaries and the status of allotments; and one colored and annotated in January 1939 to show the boundaries of timber sale units and the status of timber-cutting and logging within certain units. Manuscript maps on tracing cloth and a few annotated photoprocessed copies of maps, dated 1920-29, of proposed and existing logging units on the reservation, some of which are identified as timber estimate and stand maps. A blueprint of a right-of-way map of the Aloha Lumber Co. Railroad across the Moclips logging unit. Colored photoprocessed copies of four logging unit maps, including annotations showing areas cut from 1922 to 1945. Two published copies of a 1943 map of the reservation annotated and colored to show areas of timber cutting by years, one from 1922 to 1945 and the other from 1936 to 1945. A published map of the reservation annotated to show cabins, lookout stations, and roads.

841. SKOKOMISH INDIAN RESERVATION. 3 items.

A manuscript map on tracing cloth, compiled and drawn in February 1914, showing Indian allotments and indicating those sold. Two blueprints of the 1914 map—one annotated and colored to show logged-off land and land with timber according to Dunston's report (file No. 48205-14), and the other with colored tracts numbered 1-4, apparently timber sale tracts (file No. 57614-18).

842. SPOKANE INDIAN RESERVATION. 6 items.

Three published copies of an undated map of the reservation, two of which are colored to show types of timber, cutover land, areas with scattered trees, and cultivated land; the other is annotated and colored to show Indian allotments, timber and agricultural land, allotments for which timber contracts were approved as of January 15, 1923, boundaries of two logging units, ca. 1924-25, and other information. A large-scale manuscript contour map on tracing cloth of the eastern division of the reservation prepared after the timber cruise of 1917, and a blueprint annotated and colored to show fee-patent allotments and a few logging units. A blueline print of a 1918 Indian Forest Service map of the reservation showing Indian allotments. See also entry 838.

843. TULALIP INDIAN AGENCY AND RESERVATIONS. 9 items.

A manuscript map on tracing cloth, compiled and drawn in November 1912, showing the Lummi, Port Madison, Swinomish, and Tulalip Reservations under the Tulalip Agency. Four blueprints of the 1912 map—two annotated with information from a tractbook in 1913 to show status of Indian allotments; one annotated to show cleared and logged-off land, merchantable timberland, and timber estimates for the Tulalip Reservation and scattered timber and nontimberland in the Swinomish Reservation; and the other annotated to show a proposed timber sale area in the eastern division of the Tulalip Reservation. A manuscript map of the Tulalip Reservation drawn by C. E. Dunston, ca. 1913, and colored to show merchantable timberland, logged-off and cleared land, and swampland and giving timber estimates by types of timber. Three annotated blueline prints of a map of the Tulalip Reservation, one of which is stamped July 1, 1914, has colors added to the legend, and is annotated to show boundaries of timber sale areas and status of some of the allotments shown on the inset "Allotment Plat."

844. YAKIMA INDIAN RESERVATION. 10 items.

Four published copies of a 1912 map of the reservation—one annotated and colored to show Indian allotments, the boundary of the Wapato project, and land classification according to the Yakima Appraisal Commission report (file No. 80180-1910); one annotated and colored to show Indian allotments, merchantable and unmerchantable timber, district headquarters, and lookout stations according to C. E. Dunston's report (file No. 63363-1912); one showing grazing units, types of ranges, and stock driveways as copied from a grazing map submitted in 1930; and one annotated to show the location of ranger and lookout stations. A manuscript forest and grazing map on tracing cloth of the reservation, dated 1916-17; also an annotated blueprint, submitted in 1923, showing Indian Forest Service pole and tree telephone lines, private telephone lines, and an Indian irrigation line. A blueprint of a forest map of the reservation, dated 1914, with a legend for forest map symbols added. Two 1930 published fire control maps of the reservation—one annotated to show the locations of the Vernon Parish Lumber Co. lands and tribal lands from which exchange selections would be made, and the other annotated to show alienated lands in the timbered area and the total acreage in 1933. A photoprocessed copy of the 1930 fire control map, as revised in 1934, that had been annotated to show proposed logging units.

Wisconsin

845. GENERAL. 5 items.

A GLO map of Wisconsin, published in 1912, annotated to show boundaries of areas ceded by treaties from 1831 to 1856, the area reserved for the Menominee Indians by a treaty of 1854, and the "Present Menominee Reservation." A published Geological Survey map of Wisconsin, compiled in 1910 and 1911, with Indian reservations colored in crayon. A manuscript map on tracing cloth of T. 28 N., Rs. 13 and 14 E., Shawano County, formerly a part of the Stockbridge Indian Reservation, stamped "Received Aug. 30, 1937." A manuscript map on tracing cloth of the Mole Lake purchase area, T. 35 N., R. 12 E., fourth principal meridian, compiled from a GLO plat in July 1938; also a blueprint marked "Advance sheet subject to correction."

846. CHIPPEWA INDIAN LANDS AND RESERVATIONS.

847. Bad River (La Pointe) Indian Lands and Reservation. 9 items.

A manuscript map on tracing cloth of the Bad

River or La Pointe Indian Reservation, prepared by James A. Howarth, Jr., Green Bay, April 1908. Two large-scale maps of the reservation, published in 1911—one of which is annotated to show Indian allotments, logging railroads, and school and swamp lands; the other is annotated to show timber estimates on allotted and tribal lands and certain areas on which timber was cut during the winter of 1914-15. Four smaller scale maps of the reservation, published in 1911, including annotations showing school and swamp lands, names of persons or corporations who claimed to have ownership interests in the school and swamp lands; one is identified as a copy of a map submitted by R. W. Hayes, forest assistant, with letter of J. P. Kinney, dated June 15, 1917, and shows cutover lands, State or swamp lands, tribal lands, and allotted lands. A folder of manuscript plats on tracing cloth of townships within the reservation, submitted with W. C. Birdwell's letter of April 1, 1915, showing cut and uncut areas on the reservation and amount of merchantable timber remaining after work of the 1914-15 season. A folder labeled "Timber Map" that contains blueprints of manuscript plats of townships within the reservation, prepared by Ralph W. Hayes in 1916 to show types of timber and the status of timber removal.

848. Lac Court Orielles Indian Reservation. 6 items.

Four large-scale and two smaller scale published copies of a 1911 map of the reservation, including annotations showing land reserved for agency, school, and church purposes; Indian allotments; swamplands selected but not patented; boundaries of timbered tracts sold or to be offered for sale; status of contracts for timber cutting; tracts on which timber was cut or partly cut; and file numbers relating to textual records from 1911 to 1918.

849. Lac du Flambeau Indian Reservation. 7 items.

Four large-scale published copies of a 1911 map of the reservation, including annotations showing timber estimates in 1913, swampland, cutover lands, status of timber contracts on allotted and unallotted lands, areas reserved under an act of May 19, 1924, allotted and deeded land and land for which certificates of competency had been issued to owners according to the 1930 Annual Forestry Report, and swampland claimed by the State in 1866 and according to the Commissioner's report in August 1881. A smaller scale 1911 map colored to show lands claimed by the State as copied from a map submitted in 1930 by the chief clerk of the land department at Madison. A manuscript map on tracing cloth showing swampland with no timber, swampland with estimates of timber, cutover and unallotted lands, and status of contracts for some areas. A photoprocessed copy of a 1935 map of the reservation colored and annotated to show tribal land, allotted and alienated lands, a school site, and farmland and indicating lands claimed by the State.

La Pointe Indian Lands and Reservation.
See entry 847.

850. Red Cliff Indian Reservation. 1 item.

A large-scale 1912 published map of the reservation annotated with information from 1914-15 files to show a projected road and Indian allotments with allotment numbers and names and indicating those from which allottees were granted permission to remove timber without restrictions.

851. MENOMINEE AND STOCKBRIDGE INDIAN RESERVATIONS. 81 items.

Two manuscript maps on tracing cloth prepared by members of field parties in 1908—one showing topography, soils, vegetation, burned areas, old cutting areas, roads, camps, and trails in T. 30 N., R. 16 E., in the Menominee Reservation; the other showing vegetation and types of soil, topography, roads, clearings, and camps in the "Blown Down District." A manuscript map on tracing cloth, dated 1908, showing the "Blown Down District," with names in several sections and locations of millsites. Two Forest Service maps, dated 1908; a blueprint showing the proposed location of millsite No. 2; and a manuscript map on tracing cloth showing the proposed location of millsite No. 3. A blueprint of a map of the Menominee and Stockbridge Reservations prepared by James A. Howarth, Jr., Green Bay, with annotations later added in the townships of the "Blown Down District." Three published copies of a 1910 map of the Menominee and Stockbridge Reservations—one annotated to show lands patented to the State, swamplands not patented, logging roads, 1909-11, and areas designated for cutting during the winter of 1911-12; one annotated and colored to show areas logged from 1910 to 1924; and one with circles apparently indicating areas covered by forest lookout stations or watchtowers. Undated, large-scale manuscript (cloth-backed) topographic maps of eight townships in the Menominee Reservation. Manuscript maps on tracing cloth of all of the townships in the reservations except T. 30 N., R. 13 E., showing topographic and cultural data obtained from field notes of a timber cruise and land classification survey conducted in 1914-15, some of which are noted as traced and lettered in September 1918. A manuscript topographic map on tracing cloth of T. 30 N., R. 13 E., drawn by Lincoln Crowell, deputy supervisor of forests, in September 1915; also a blueprint colored to show agricultural land, wooded swampland, and open marshland. A blueprint of the map of T. 29 N., R. 14 E., annotated and colored to show land classification and timber estimates. A photoprocessed copy of a 1914 map of the reservation showing logging operations of the Menominee Indian Mills, with areas logged from 1910 to 1914; also a few blueprints of records pertaining to surveys and timber estimates for the reservation by Earnest J. Brigham, superintendent of logging. Copies of timber estimates and summaries of the Menominee cruise of 1914-15 (assembled by townships), one set including a certification by Crowell, dated February 15, 1915. A manuscript topographic map on tracing cloth of the Menominee Reservation, prepared by the Forestry Branch in 1918; also a blueprint annotated and colored to show land and timber classification. A manuscript map on tracing cloth of railroad logging operations by the Menominee Indian Mills, compiled in 1919 from data obtained from records of logging operations and the cruise of 1914-15. A set of eight photoprocessed maps, dated 1918-19, showing roads and areas scouted in the Menominee Reservation and vicinity, the White Pine planting area, and types of timber and distribution of infections in the Keshena area; the maps are marked "I. O. file No. 18428-20 with 95715-18." Nine published copies of a large-scale topographic map of the Menominee Reservation, compiled in the Forestry Branch in 1920, including annotations showing timberland with estimated board feet per acre, land classification, areas logged and cut by years from 1908 to 1930, flood area on the proposed Wolf River Power project, and areas burned by forest fires in 1931 and 1934. Three smaller scale copies of the 1920 map, including annotations showing Forest Service-proposed cutting areas, 1910-13, logging roads and railroads, truck trails, State highways, and areas cut by years from 1908 to 1942; also two copies with annotations pertaining to swamplands. Two colored manuscript maps on tracing cloth, dated 1923—one showing soil types on the northeastern part of the Menominee Reservation, and the other showing forest types on the Wolf River working circle within the reservation. A manuscript planting and improvement map of the Dalles unit of the Wolf River working circle, dated 1924. A large-scale manuscript map, dated 1925, showing the Menominee Indian Mills cutting areas, 1911-24. A manuscript map on tracing cloth of part of the reservation, with legend (uncolored) showing areas logged by years, 1910-25. A negative photostat of a 1930 map showing the "Blown-Down Area." A manuscript map on tracing cloth of the reservation, drawn in the Division of Forestry and Grazing in 1938. A photoprocessed copy of a map of the Menominee Reservation and vicinity, prepared by Lester Dinsmore, August 2, 1938, showing highways, improved roads and trails, railways, and areas as observed from lookout towers. A manuscript map on tracing cloth of part of the reservation, compiled in 1941, with symbols along the section lines indicating the type of timber at the time of survey. A colored photoprocessed copy of a map of the Menominee Indian Mills at Neopit, Wis., dated July 19, 1923. A manuscript floor plan, dated 1926, of the new planing mill; also blueprints of plans for a planing mill, machine shop, and roundhouse at Neopit, stamped 1926. A blue-line print of a map, revised August 16, 1929, of the Menominee Indian Mills sewerage system. A large-scale manuscript plat on tracing cloth of the town of Neopit, with file marks including the dates 1909 and 1911; also an annotated blueprint. An annotated photoprocessed copy of a map, dated January 1, 1943, of the village of Neopit.

Wyoming

852. WIND RIVER OR SHOSHONE INDIAN RESERVATION. 10 items.

A 1912 published map of the Wind River Reservation annotated to show land classification, burned-over areas, and restocked areas according to information obtained in a field examination by Theodore F. Rixon of the Forest Service in 1906. A published Geological Survey map of Wyoming, compiled in 1913, with the Shoshone Indian Reservation hand colored. A manuscript map on tracing cloth of part of the reservation, dated December 9, 1932, showing roads to be graveled, roads completed, and proposed bus routes. Four published copies of a 1934 map of the Wind River or Shoshone Reservation—two with attached sheets entitled "Exhibit A-Range and Timber Map," including a colored legend identifying forest lands, different types of ranges, and boundaries of grazing units and reclamation areas; one annotated and colored to show lands acquired by purchase or exchange and lands restored by Executive orders, 1940-45; and the other with corrections added October 21, 1940. A positive photostat of a 1934 published map of the Wind River or Shoshone Reservation, which had been annotated as a 1938 grazing map. Two published copies of a 1940 map of the Wind River Reservation—one annotated to show boundaries of three areas for reclamation withdrawals as given by the Reclamation Service on May 6, 1941, and the other annotated to show boundaries of two areas as of August 1941.

B. PUBLISHED MAPS

This series is an incomplete record set of published maps of Indian lands and reservations compiled by the Forestry and Grazing Division and the Forestry Division or Branch from 1920 to 1956. Most of the maps were compiled and drawn or revised by E. H. Coulson, chief engineering draftsman.

853. MAPS OF INDIAN LANDS AND RESERVATIONS.

The following unnumbered published maps (mostly of Indian reservations) are large- and medium-scale planimetric type maps (usually one for each scale) showing roads, railroads, trails, telephone lines, forest ranger stations, lookout stations, sawmills, reservation boundaries, parts of adjoining national forests, stock driveways, fences, reservoirs, wells, tanks, streams, and water improvements for livestock. Included are a few topographic maps and several fire control maps. Compilation manuscript maps are on file for some of the reservations. The maps are arranged in folders alphabetically by name of reservation.

Cartographic Records of the Education Division

The Education Division was established in 1885. At different times it had responsibilities for matters other than schools, such as health, general supervision over field personnel, law and order, industries, construction, and statistics. On June 1, 1926, it was renamed the Administration Division. In 1930 the schools section of the Administration Division became the Education Division. In the reorganization of March 1931, the assistant to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs on human relations became responsible for coordination of the Divisions of Health, Education, and Agricultural Extension and Industry. Education and medical supervision over the natives of Alaska was transferred to the Bureau on March 16, 1931. Responsibility for reindeer service was placed under the Education Division in 1937. In the reorganization of 1940, the Education Division became a part of the Community Services Branch, which was established to provide Indian communities with such necessary services as school and health facilities, the enforcement of law and order, and relief.

There are only a few unnumbered maps from the Education Division on file among the records in the Cartographic Archives Division. Other maps and charts pertaining to schools and education are on file among the numbered series of the BIA central map files.

United States

854. GENERAL. 3 items.

A photoprocessed copy of an undated manuscript map showing by letters and symbols the locations of Protestant missions for Indians in the United States. A blueline print of a 1936 Soil Conservation Service preliminary base map of the Navajo Indian Reservation in Arizona, Utah, and New Mexico annotated to show the location of district headquarters, the Navajo Agency, boarding and day schools, and telephone lines. A photoprocessed copy of a 1940 historical and geographical map of the Navajo country.

Alaska

855. GENERAL. 8 items.

A blueline print of a map concerning activities of the Office of Indian Affairs in Alaska annotated with symbols to show locations of Federal and Territorial schools and Federal industrial schools, dated January 5, 1934. Published maps of Alaska, 1940 and 1941 editions, annotated with names and information apparently for a new edition, including symbols to show locations of hospitals, other medical service centers, native schools and stores, native industrial enterprises, radio stations, and reindeer stations; also two unfinished manuscript maps, one with a complete legend of symbols. A 1940 published map annotated to show boundaries of the reindeer reserve and grazing units.

South Dakota

856. PINE RIDGE INDIAN RESERVATION. 1 item.

A 1940 published map of the reservation annotated to show areas served by Indian Service and public schools.

Wisconsin

857. VILLAGE OF LAC DU FLAMBEAU. 1 item.

A 1928 published map of the village annotated to show block 31 sold to Public School Board District No. 1 for a school site. "File 15335-32-308.3."

Cartographic Records of the Division of Extension and Industry

The Division of Extension and Industry, at first called the Division of Agricultural Extension and Industry and later the Extension Division, was organized in 1930 for the purpose of giving more direct assistance to the Indians in home and economic problems. The field staff consisted of a director, four supervisors of extension, agricultural and home extension agents, farm agents or farmers, stockmen, and dairymen.

Extension programs were based on physical inventories of the resources of a reservation or area worked out locally in cooperation with the Indians. Extension workers promoted 4-H Club work for Indian boys and girls that supplemented classroom work with instruction and practical experience in agriculture, stockraising, and home-making.

After July 1, 1956, the Department of Agriculture took over most of the extension work of the BIA.

Only a few unnumbered maps of the Division of Extension and Industry are on file among the records in the Cartographic Archives Division. Some maps from this division and earlier maps from the Industries Section are among the numbered series of the BIA central map files.

California

858. HOOPA VALLEY INDIAN RESERVATION. 1 item.

A blueprint of a 1937 map of the reservation, which had been annotated to show road projects for 1937-38 and with additional annotations indicating farmers' quarters at Hoopa, Weitchpec, and Johnson's Indian Village.

859. MISSION INDIAN RESERVATIONS. 1 item.

A photoprocessed copy of a 1936 map colored to show areas included in the reservations and annotated to show the districts covered by different farm agents and the enrolled population of each district.

Oklahoma

860. GENERAL. 1 item.

A positive photostat of a manuscript map of Osage County, dated January 1, 1940, showing the total acreage in the county and estimated acreage of tillable and grazing land and colored to show cultivated land, open prairie pasture, and timbered pasture.

861. OTOE INDIAN LANDS. 1 item.

A blueline print of a map of the former Indian reservation annotated to show homes on Indian lands and location of a farmer's station.

862. PONCA INDIAN LANDS. 1 item.

A blueprint of a map of the former Indian reservation annotated to show homes on Indian lands and locations of public schools, boys' and girls' clubs, and a farmer's station.

863. WICHITA AND KIOWA, COMANCHE, AND APACHE INDIAN LANDS. 1 item.

A blueline print of a 1933 (revised in 1936) Geological Survey map of the former Indian reservations annotated to show district boundaries and locations of farm agents, home and field aids, irrigation plots, canning kitchens, and credit associations.

Washington

864. INDIAN RESERVATIONS UNDER THE TULALIP AGENCY. 1 item.

A blueline print of a manuscript map of the reservations, prepared in June 1933, annotated to show the location of a farmer's station on the Lummi Reservation.

Cartographic Records of the Statistics Division

The Statistics Section was organized as part of the Library Section of the Office of the Chief Clerk of the BIA in March 1909. It was transferred from one office or division to another until 1926 when it was returned to the Office of the Chief Clerk. The duties of that office later became those of the assistant finance officer. The Statistics Section remained in his office until 1939 when it was made a division. The Statistics Division was abolished in 1947, and the statistician was assigned to the Tribal Relations Division.

The Statistics Division and predecessor sections rendered service to all other divisions and field offices and compiled tables and charts for the Annual Report of the Commissioner of Indian Affairs.

Only a few unnumbered maps and charts of the Statistics Division or predecessor sections are on file among the records in the Cartographic Archives Division. The first three maps described in entry 865 were apparently used as office exhibits. Statistics Division labels are pasted on reverse. Other maps and charts with statistical information are among the numbered series of the central map files.

United States

865. GENERAL. 9 items.

A blueprint of an industries chart for 1909, including Indian population by States. A photo-processed map annotated to show Indian population by States in 1930 according to the Bureau of the Census and in 1937 according to the BIA, with figures for the two agencies in different colors. A published map showing BIA activities west of the Mississippi River in 1935, with the number of agencies, reservations, and independent schools and sanatoriums added in pencil. A published map showing Indian tribes, reservations, and settlements in the United States in 1939 and giving the number of Eskimos and Indians in Alaska, with minor annotations added in pencil. A published map showing by symbols the U.S. Indian population on January 1, 1942, and an annotated copy revised on January 1, 1943. A published base map of the United States, with symbols added to show a comparison of relief grants by the States and by the Indian Service for fiscal year 1946. Photostats of three undated maps that include statistical information for Indians under the jurisdiction of the Tomah Indian Agency—one map shows the number of Indian families and individual Indians per county for Wisconsin and includes in tabular form the same information for three counties in Minnesota, two in Iowa, and one in Illinois; one shows centers of Indian population and administrative centers in the lower peninsula of Michigan; and the other shows the mileage to administrative centers of Indian population in Wisconsin and Michigan.

Alaska

866. GENERAL. 1 item.

A published map showing by symbols the native population (Indian, Eskimo, and Aleut) in Alaska on January 1, 1942.

New Mexico

867. GENERAL. 4 items.

A positive photostat in four sheets of part of a large-scale map of New Mexico annotated to show enumeration districts of lands under the United Pueblos Agency for the 1940 census, received by the BIA on March 27, 1939, and assigned textual file No. 19196.

Cartographic Records of the Civilian Conservation Corps – Indian Division

The Emergency Conservation Work program was authorized by an act of March 31, 1933. On July 1, 1933, work projects in forestry and erosion control began on Indian reservations under the direction of the BIA as Indian Emergency Conservation Work (IECW). After June 30, 1937, the activity on Indian reservations became known as the Civilian Conservation Corps—Indian Division (CCC-ID). Work continued in the field until July 10, 1942.

Forestry projects included nursery work, seed collection, planting, insect pest control, and such fire prevention work as construction of fire lanes, lookout towers, telephone lines, trails, and bridges.

Erosion control projects included range revegetation, elimination of useless range stock, and the construction of erosion dams. Other work on rangelands included the construction of stockwater dams, low-standard roads and truck trails, fences, corrals, and stock driveways.

Three of the following maps are copies of maps prepared in field offices of the IECW Division. Others are manuscript, annotated, and published maps or photoprocessed copies of maps prepared by the CCC-ID in the headquarters or field offices, representing its work on Indian reservations or areas under tribal jurisdiction in several States.

California

868. HOOPA VALLEY INDIAN RESERVATION. 4 items.

A blueprint (4 sheets) of a manuscript map of the reservation, drawn and compiled in 1935 by Frank G. Maness, senior foreman, IECW, Hoopa Valley Subagency; one sheet is annotated to show a trail being built in 1936.

Colorado

869. CONSOLIDATED UTE INDIAN RESERVATION. 2 items.

A large-scale published map of the reservation, compiled under the direction of Raymond W. Cartographic Records of the Roads Division Authorization for road work on Indian reservations was provided in an act of May 26, 1928. However, the road construction program was not inaugurated until Public Works Administration funds were allotted to the U.S. Indian Service for that purpose in 1933. Planning was done by the Roads Division, and the Indian Service projects were examined and approved as to location, type, and design by the Bureau of Public Roads. Work on the reservations was under the supervision of the superintendents and experienced road engineers. Indians were employed for all positions for which they were qualified. In 1940 the Roads Division became a part of the Engineering Branch and later the Branch of Roads under the Division of Resources.

Most of the maps described below were received from the Management Research Branch of the BIA in 1972. A few were received with a large accession of land and forestry maps in 1968. They consist of published, annotated, photoprocessed, and a few manuscript maps of Indian lands and reservations showing the different types of roads, proposed road construction, and the status of road work on Indian reservations mostly in the 1930's and 1940's. Some of the base maps, later annotated, are for earlier dates. Included are also some blueprints of plans and profiles of proposed Indian Service road and bridge projects. The maps are arranged in folders by State and thereunder by reservation. Sets of maps including several States are arranged under the United States as a whole. Many numbered highway and road maps are in the BIA central map files.

Wyoming

956. WIND RIVER OR SHOSHONE INDIAN RESERVATION AND IRRIGATION PROJECT. 7 items.

A 1934 published map of the Wind River or Shoshone Reservation annotated to show the "Five Year Road Program" as approved in July and August 1937, Indian Service roads constructed prior to 1937-38, and those to be constructed in 1938 and during fiscal years 1939-42, with primary and secondary State roads shown in color. A positive photostat of part of a 1934 annotated map of the reservation showing boundary of the Wind River Mountains roadless area. A blue-line print of a 1931 Indian Irrigation Service map of the Wind River project annotated in 1935 to show roads. Photoprocessed copies (4 sheets) of a part of a 1939 (revised January 1942) aerial planimetric map of the Wind River Reservation annotated apparently to indicate sections of route 13 to be constructed or improved.

Cartographic Records of the Division of Soil and Moisture Conservation Operations

Soil conservation service was first instituted on the Navajo Indian Reservation in 1933 under the "Soil Erosion Service." When the Service was transferred to the Department of Agriculture in 1935, its name was changed to Soil Conservation Service (SCS). During fiscal year 1940 the President transferred part of the funds and personnel, together with the functions concerned with soil and moisture conservation operations on lands under the jurisdiction of that Department, back to the Department of the Interior. The transferred activity was organized as the Division of Soil and Moisture Conservation Operations under the Resources Branch of the BIA. Activities of the new Division included "grass reseeding, range contour furrowing, building of check dams, dykes, and water spreading devices, the planting of trees, and surveys of ranges, forests, wildlife, and human dependency."

The Division of Soil and Moisture Conservation Operations later became the Branch of Soil Conservation under the Division of Resources of the BIA.

The following maps from the Division of Soil and Moisture Conservation Operations were received in 1968 with a large accession of land and forestry maps from the BIA Branch of Property and Supply. Most are photoprocessed copies of maps prepared in the field offices.

United States

957. GENERAL. 1 item.

A published map entitled "Federal lands of the United States" showing Indian reservations; national monuments, parks, and forests; and grazing districts as of October 1938. It is annotated to show soil conservation districts in 1940.

Arizona

Nevada

959. GENERAL. 2 items.

Two photoprocessed copies of maps on different scales of Indian lands in the vicinity of McDermitt, Nev., dated May 1, 1943, showing boundaries of Indian land, symbols for Indian and non-Indian land, different types of roads, streams, canals, windmills, and buildings. The larger map also shows allotment numbers, lands acquired under an act of January 17, 1936, and tracts purchased.

960. WESTERN SHOSHONE INDIAN RESERVATION. 1 item.

A photoprocessed copy of a map, dated April 29, 1944, of the reservation in Idaho and Nevada showing drainage, roads, fences, wells, troughs, and water storage tanks.

Oklahoma

961. GENERAL. 1 item.

A large-scale published map of Oklahoma used as a base for a "Revised Reconnaissance Erosion Survey" map and annotated and colored in the Soil Conservation Division, Osage Indian Agency, to show utilitarian erosion classes according to information obtained from the 1934 Oklahoma Erosion Survey of the SCS. No date is given for the annotations.

Utah

962. GENERAL. 3 items.

Photoprocessed copies of 1943 base maps of "Utah Quad.," Nos. 26-28, compiled from data obtained from the GLO, Geological Survey, aerial mosaics, forestry maps, Indian Service maps, and Grazing Service range surveys.

963. SHIVWITS INDIAN RESERVATION. 1 item.

A photoprocessed copy of a base map of the reservation, dated April 2, 1946, showing drainage, diversion dams, roads, trails, fences, corrals, telephone lines, and houses.

964. SKULL VALLEY INDIAN RESERVATION.1 item.

A photoprocessed copy of a manuscript base map, dated May 3, 1941, showing boundaries of privately owned lands and a few Indian allotments.

Wyoming

965. WIND RIVER INDIAN RESERVATION.5 items.

A large-scale undated printed map, without legend, on tracing cloth (4 sheets), and a reduced copy on paper (1 sheet).

Cartographic Records of the Branch of Industrial Development

The Bureau's industrial development program was initiated early in the fiscal year 1956. The purpose of the program was to assist the Indian people in cooperating with their neighboring communities in the development of plans and programs to attract industry to reservation areas and thus provide employment opportunities. By 1963, reports indicated that 500 Indians were working in industrial plants on or near Indian reservations. The BIA works closely with tribal organizations and maintains liaison with industrial concerns interested in new plant locations. As a means of developing interest in potential developments and tourist and recreational possibilities of the reservation areas, the Branch of Industrial Development published State maps and a map of the United States showing the reservations, points of interest, and principal roads and highways. The following maps were received with a large accession from the BIA Branch of Property and Supply in 1968.

United States

966. GENERAL. 16 items.

A set of 14 State maps, reprinted in 1960, showing Indian reservation areas, related features of interest, principal highways, and connecting roads. A map of the United States, published in 1961, showing Indian reservation areas and principal highways leading thereto, with brief descriptions printed on reverse pertaining to each reservation and principal points of interest. A 1965 map of the United States showing Indian land areas operating under some degree of Federal responsibility and including on reverse a list of field office addresses.

967. NAVAJO COUNTRY. 1 item.

An undated map annotated to show boundaries of subdivisions, subagency headquarters, and towns with industrial sites.

Cartographic Records of the Branch of Plant Management

The Branch of Plant Management was established by a memorandum of the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, dated February 1, 1957, and each area office was instructed to establish a similar unit. The Branch under the Division of Administration was given responsibility for all functions comprising plant management, including the repair and maintenance of buildings and utilities. Primary emphasis was given to such educational facilities as school buildings, dormitories, auditoriums, dining halls, and gymnasiums and such noneducational facilities as employees' clubs.

The following records of the Branch of Plant Management were received from the BIA in 1969.

United States

968. GENERAL. 20 items.

Photoprocessed copies of schedules, dated February 14, 1964, for advance planning and initiation of construction of new Federal public works projects and for those underway; the projects are listed by State and thereunder by name of school or agency facility. A set of 18 State maps annotated to show locations of some of the projects; no dates are given for the annotations.

Alaska

969. GENERAL. 17 items.

A set of photoprocessed plans, dated September 9, 1963, of streets and storm drainage for the Metlakatla Indian Community, including location plans and a vicinity map. A photoprocessed copy of a map of the townsite of Barrow, with lots revised in 1963. Aerial photographs of 15 villages, each bearing a 1966 identification card giving location by longitude and latitude and population figures.

Cartographic Records of Field Offices

With the exception of the New York Agency, the cartographic records described below are published or photoprocessed maps. The records from the New York Agency were received with an accession of miscellaneous maps in 1954 and were probably sent to the headquarters office when the agency was closed in 1949. Many of these maps are manuscript; some are annotated. A few maps from other field offices were received with a large accession from the BIA Branch of Property and Supply in 1968. Other cartographic records from field offices are filed with the numbered series of the central map files and with the records of other divisions. Most of them are annotated.

INDIAN AGENCIES

Navajo Agency

970. GENERAL. 1 item.

A photoprocessed copy of a map prepared in the Navajo Agency, Window Rock, Ariz., to accompany a bill for the stabilization of the use of certain rangelands primarily used by the Navajo Indians in the Eastern Navajo, Ramah, Puertecito, and Canoncito areas.

New York Agency

971. GENERAL. 39 items.

An annotated published map of New York State mounted on a large sheet on which are listed the names of reservations in the New York Agency in 1878; also an accompanying sheet of manuscript sketches of the nine reservations, including a description of each. Two blueprints—one of a map of New York State with boundaries of the Phelps and Morris Purchases outlined in color; the other of an 1804 map of the Morris Purchase or West Geneseo, with Indian reservation areas colored. A group of manuscript and annotated maps and sketch maps and diagrams apparently representing the IECW program on the Allegany, Cattaraugus, Onondaga, St. Regis, Tonawanda, and Tuscarora Indian Reservations between 1933 and 1937 and including two manuscript maps of the Tuscarora Reservation prepared in 1940, probably under the Civilian Conservation Corps—Indian Division.

972. ALLEGANY INDIAN RESERVATION. 4 items.

A manuscript map (3 sheets) of southeast, southwest, and west middle Salamanca, dated 1885, showing tracts with names of occupants and acreage. A published map of the dependent resurvey of the boundary of the reservation in 1937-38, as accepted by the GLO on April 29, 1939, annotated and colored to show village sites, areas leased, and names of holders of two tracts in Carrolton Township. See also entry 971.

973. CATTARAUGUS INDIAN RESERVATION. 1 item.

A blueprint of a 1923 map of the reservation and adjoining land showing producing and abandoned oil wells and locations for test wells and including minor annotations. See also entry 971.

San Carlos Agency

974. SAN CARLOS AGENCY AND SCHOOL. 1 item.

A photoprocessed copy of a plan of the agency and school, including an inset map of San Carlos and vicinity, approved by James B. Kitch, superintendent, January 1938.

OTHER FIELD OFFICES975. CHOCTAW NATION. 2 items.

A blueprint of a large-scale undated map of the timberlands of the former Choctaw Nation prepared in the office of the Commissioner to the Five Civilized Tribes at Muskogee, Okla., showing the estimated amount of pine and hardwood timber per section; also a published map, dated June 1913, prepared in the same office, overprinted in color to show agricultural, grazing, and timber land with estimates of pine timber per section.

976. GILA RIVER INDIAN RESERVATION. 51 items.

Photoprocessed copies of two sets of cartographic records from the Pima Area Office pertaining to the "Groundwater Hydrological Survey" in the Gila River Indian Reservation, prepared under the direction of Dr. Heinrich J. Thiele, ground water consultant. One set is of the survey in the Sacaton region (26 plates), dated July 1954, and the other of the survey in the Gila Crossing region (25 plates), dated April 1958.

977. LOWER COLORADO RIVER BASIN. 91 items.

A group of published engineering and land classification maps prepared in the Phoenix, Sacramento, and Gallup area offices in 1956 and 1957 showing irrigated and irrigable Indian lands, land classification, and irrigation projects or units for Indian reservations in Arizona and parts of adjoining States lying within the Lower Colorado River Basin. These maps are assembled in book form with an index and identified as "Atlas of Maps—Bureau of Indian Affairs."

Appendix

Township Plats, Maps, and Diagrams of Lands in Indian Reservations and Adjacent Areas, 1850-1935

Most of these township plats are published GLO plats. Some of the plats, especially those bound in volumes, have been annotated to show allotments, withdrawals, land classification, and the disposition of land. There are also some special manuscript plats and diagrams, tracings, and blueprints in both the volumes and folders that are described in group A, "Special Maps, Plats, and Diagrams in the Township Plat Files," under Cartographic Records of the Land Division.

There are two index volumes to the bound volumes of plats. One is arranged by name of Indian reservation and thereunder by township and range, and the other is arranged by State and thereunder by Indian reservation. There is no index to the plats arranged in folders.

Index

This is an index to most of the proper names that appear in the special list. Included are names of Indian tribes, bands, reservations, lands, nations, agencies, pueblos, and schools; military reservations or posts, forts, and camps; States, counties, towns, and townsites; irrigation and other projects; and names of a few companies, compilers, surveyors, and draftsmen. By using the index the reader can locate all the references to a given Indian tribe, band, or reservation listed herein although it occupied lands now in more than one State. Some maps including areas in several States are listed under "general" for the United States and under the separate States with different entry numbers and will appear in the index more than once. Numbers refer to entries and not to pages.
