Dear [REDACTED]:

This responds to your January 13, 2015 request for assistance from the Office of Government Information Services (OGIS), which we received via email. Your request for assistance pertains to your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request to the Defense Investigative Service (DIS).

Congress created OGIS to complement existing FOIA practice and procedure; we strive to work in conjunction with the existing request and appeal process. The goal is for OGIS to allow, whenever practical, the requester to exhaust his or her remedies within the agency, including the appeal process. OGIS has no investigatory or enforcement power, nor can we compel an agency to release documents. OGIS serves as the Federal FOIA Ombudsman and our jurisdiction is limited to assisting with the FOIA process.

You made a request to DIS for records related to F [REDACTED] and DIS [REDACTED]. The Defense Manpower Data Center responded to your request on December 19, 2013, informing you that it referred records to the Air Force and the Air Force Office of Special Investigations, and that these offices would respond to you directly. You contacted OGIS because you have not received a response from these offices.

OGIS reached out to the agencies to learn the status of these requests. According to Air Force, it mailed a response to you on February 6, 2015.

I hope that this information about your request is useful to you. At this time, there is no further assistance OGIS can offer. Thank you for bringing this matter to OGIS. We will close your case.

Sincerely,

Nikki Gramian, Acting Director
Office of Government Information Services (OGIS)
