

SUPERSEDED

TO: Heads of Federal agencies

1. What does this document do?

GRS Transmittal 23 announces changes to the General Records Schedules (GRS) made since Transmittal 22 was published in April 2010. The General Records Schedules provide mandatory disposition instructions for administrative records common to several or all Federal agencies.

The GRS, over the course of a five-year project, is being entirely rewritten. The master plan for that project was published under memo AC02.2013. The plan has since morphed in some details but its major outlines remain solid.

2. What is GRS Transmittal 23 and how do I use it?

GRS Transmittal 23, attached to this memorandum, contains:

- five new schedules, each with schedule-specific FAQs and a crosswalk from new to old schedules
- old schedules annotated to show which items are still authoritative and which are superseded by items in new schedules
- a crosswalk for old to new GRS items
- four FAQ documents (general; about the GRS Update Project; about the impact of the new GRS on agencies; and about how, when, and the process by which agencies may deviate from the GRS), and
- a checklist for implementing the new GRS, to assist agencies in completing all the actions this Transmittal requires.

3. What changes have been made to the GRS?

Transmittal 23 publishes five new schedules:

GRS 1.1 Financial Management and Reporting Records (DAA-GRS-2013-0003)

GRS 1.2 Grant and Cooperative Agreement Records (DAA-GRS-2013-0008)

GRS 3.1 General Technology Management Records (DAA-GRS-2013-0005)

GRS 3.2 IT Systems Security (DAA-GRS-2013-0006)

GRS 4.3 Input Records, Output Records, and Electronic Copies (DAA-GRS-2013-0001)

These schedules replace portions of old GRS 3, 4, 6, 7, 8, 9, 12, 16, 20, 23, and 24.

The most obvious changes are in format:

	Old GRS	New GRS
Schedule numbers	Simple succession: 1, 2, 3, etc.	Decimal: 1.1, 1.2, 1.3, etc. Schedules of related topics are linked by sharing the same number to the left of the decimal point but differentiated by the number to the right of the decimal point.

Item numbers	Alpha-numeric hierarchy , for instance 1a1, 1a2, 2a1a, 2a2b.	Three digits , for instance 010, 020, 030. Closely related items sharing some description in common are numbered in immediate succession, such as 030, 031, 032, etc.
Layout	Narrative paragraphs. Read “down” to go from records description to records disposition.	Table. Read “across” to go from records description to records disposition.
Subject Index	Index was last updated in 2008. Even then, it was not thorough, and its usefulness was linked to paper format.	No index. Citations to new GRS items are not included in the current index, which will be phased out over time. Search for key words in pdf file instead.

Because the entire change from old to new is taking place gradually over five years, the GRS during this interim period will necessarily include both old and new formats. New schedules (decimal numbers, table format) come first in the new transmittal, followed by the old schedules (“straight” numbers, narrative format) annotated to show which items are still current and which have been superseded by new schedules.

4. What GRS items are rescinded by Transmittal 23?

Many old GRS items are superseded by new GRS items. A few old items, however, have outlived their usefulness and cannot be crosswalked to new items. Therefore, these items are rescinded by Transmittal 23. Full explanation of why items have been rescinded is discussed in the FAQs for the new schedule to which they are most closely related.

GRS	Items	Title	FAQ in which discussed
3	3b	Obligation copy of routine procurement files	1.1
3	15a	Contract appeal case files prior to October 1979	1.1
3	16	Contractor’s statement of contingent or other fees	1.1
6	2	GAO exceptions	1.1
6	6a1-6a2	Federal personnel surety bonds	1.1
6	6b	Other bonds	1.1
6	9	Telegrams supporting telegraph bills	1.1
8	7b1-7b3	Cost report data files	1.1
20	2a1-2a3	Input/source records: certain hard copy records	4.3
20	3a 3b1-3b5	Electronic records replacing temporary hard copy records	4.3
20	3.1	Electronic records replacing permanent hard copy records	4.3

Rescinded items are shown in context of their schedules in the old to-new crosswalk.

5. How do I cite new GRS items?

When you send records to a Federal Records Center for storage, you should cite its legal authority: the "DAA" number in the "Disposition Authority" column of the table. For instance: DAA-GRS- 2013-0001-0004. For informal purposes, cite by schedule and item number. The above DAA number equates to "GRS 4.3, item 020."

6. Do I have to take any action to implement these GRS changes?

NARA regulations (36 CFR 1226.12(a)) require agencies to disseminate GRS changes within 6 months of receipt.

Per 36 CFR 1227.12(a)(1), you must follow GRS dispositions that state they must be followed without exception.

Per 36 CFR 1227.12(a)(3), if you have an existing schedule that differs from a new GRS item that does not require being followed without exception, and you wish to continue using your agency-specific authority rather than the GRS authority, you must notify NARA within 120 days of the date of this Transmittal.

If you do not have an already existing agency-specific authority but wish to apply a retention period that differs from that specified in the GRS, you must create a records schedule in the Electronic Records Archives and submit it to NARA for approval.

7. How do I get copies of the new GRS?

The complete current GRS, in PDF format, can be downloaded from NARA's web site at <http://www.archives.gov/records-mgmt/grs/index.html>.

8. Whom do I contact for further information?

Writing and maintaining the GRS is the responsibility of the GRS Team. This team is part of Records Management Services in the National Records Management Program of the Office of the Chief Records Officer at NARA. You may contact the team with general questions about the GRS at GRS_Team@nara.gov.

Your agency's records officer may contact the NARA appraiser or records analyst with whom your agency normally works for support in carrying out this transmittal. A list of the appraisal and scheduling work group and regional contacts is posted on the NARA web site at <http://www.archives.gov/records-mgmt/appraisal/index.html>.

General Records Schedule 1.1

GENERAL RECORDS SCHEDULE 1.1: Financial Management and Reporting Records

This schedule covers records created by Federal agencies in carrying out the work of financial management: procuring goods and services, paying bills, collecting debts, accounting for all financial transactions, and monitoring agencies' net worth. It does not apply to copies of records forwarded to the Department of Treasury or the Office of Management and Budget in fulfillment of reporting requirements. These forwarded copies serve unique business purposes at those agencies and are therefore scheduled separately as records of OMB and Treasury.

This schedule covers financial management records of grants and cooperative agreements but does not cover administrative records of such grants and agreements. These administrative records are covered in GRS 1.2.

This schedule covers financial transactions and reporting but not overall planning for finance. These records are covered under current GRS 5, which will likely reappear as new GRS 10.3.

This schedule covers contract records maintained by Federal agencies but not records maintained by contractors, which are governed by 48 CFR 4, subpart 4.7.

This schedule covers financial transactions as an administrative function common to all agencies, but not administrative records documenting unique agency missions, such as student loan collection or seeking reimbursement for Superfund cleanups.

Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs) about GRS 1.1, Financial Management and Reporting Records

INTRODUCTION

1. What is the purpose of GRS 1.1?

The purpose of this schedule is to provide disposition authority for records created and received in the course of carrying out an agency's financial management and reporting responsibilities.

2. From whom may I request more information about this schedule?

You may contact NARA's General Records Schedules Team at GRS_Team@nara.gov with questions about this schedule.

CHANGES FROM THE OLD GRS

3. How does GRS 1.1 differ from the old GRS?

The biggest difference is the amalgamation of 34 items in old GRS 3, 4, 6, 7, and 9 into one item (010) covering financial transaction records (see details in the GRS 1.1 Crosswalk). This change occurred as a result of the new GRS aligning where feasible with the Federal Enterprise Architecture Lines-of-Business model. Under this model, the GRS groups records by the business processes that create them. The related business processes of paying bills and collecting debts—and accounting for both—are further consolidated by the fact that all share a single audit. Uniting these records under a single schedule item is also useful because most financial transactions are now conducted electronically and their documentation is born digital. Many large e-systems contain records covered by most or even all of the 34 old items superseded by new item 010.

Two new items cover records not before scheduled by the GRS: Records supporting compilation of agency financial statements and related audit, and all records of all other reports (item 020) and property, plant, equipment and other asset accounting (item 030).

4. Why are some old GRS items rescinded?

The following old GRS items that most logically would have mapped to this schedule are rescinded:

GRS item	Series title	Explanation
GRS 3/3b	Routine Procurement— Obligation copy	This copy of a multi-copy form was to keep an obligation on the radar screen until funds were in fact obligated. Hard copies no longer exist in the system work-process pipeline.
GRS 3/15a	Contract Appeals Case Files created prior to October 1979	No longer needed because all such records should have been destroyed as of 1986.
GRS 3/16	Contractor's Statement of Contingent or Other Fees	SF 119 is no longer in the GSA forms library. FAR was amended (see FAR case 93-009, published in the Federal Register November 13, 1995) to state that these statements are no longer required.

GRS 6/2	GAO Exceptions Files	SF 1100 no longer exists.
GRS 6/6a1 GRS 6/6a2 GRS 6/6b	Federal Personnel Surety Bond Files	According to 31 USC 9302, surety bonds posted by the government concerning Federal personnel were discontinued by Public Law 97-258 in 1982.
GRS 6/9	Telegrams filed to support telegraph bills	These no longer exist.
GRS 8/7b1 GRS 8/7b2 GRS 8/7b3	Cost Report Data Files: Detail cards Cost Report Data Files: Summary cards Cost Report Data Files: Tabulations	These three items are unchanged since GRS 8 was first published in 1952. They refer to an ancient system of electronic tabulation via key-punch cards. The records are no longer created nor have they been for possibly three decades. No records are in FRCs.

QUESTIONS RELATED TO ITEM 010

5. Why is the retention of accountable officers' records reduced from 6 years and 3 months to 6 years?

From the advent of the GRS in 1952 until 1977, general financial management records were retained for 6 years. The change in retention for some records to 6 years and 3 months was codified in 1977 by schedule job number NC1-064-77-5, apparently in response to 28 USC 2415. This law set the Government's right to litigate on behalf of a recognized American Indian band or tribe to "six years and ninety days" while for all other purposes the Government's right to litigate ceases after 6 years (28 USC 2401). Item 010 returns all financial transactions to 6-year retention except for those transactions concerning recognized American Indian bands or tribes, which are excluded from the GRS. Serious issues surround accounts concerning American Indian band/tribal finances. Litigation has put these records into frozen status unlikely to be altered any time soon. They will likely be ultimately scheduled for long-term temporary or even permanent retention. Their appraisal must be made on a case-by-case basis, which is outside the scope of the GRS.

6. My agency, seeking to get away from the awkward 6-year-3-month retention period, already scheduled accountable officers' and similar financial records for 7-year retention. Which takes precedence: my agency's 7-year retention or the GRS 6-year retention?

Your agency can choose whether to follow the GRS new 6-year retention or continue to retain records for 7 years in keeping with its agency-specific schedule. Retaining the records for 7 years might be necessary if your agency folded financial management records along with other administrative records into a single bucket item with 7-year retention. In such a case, it may not be possible to extract the financial management records from the bucket item without destroying the bucket.

7. If my agency chooses to continue using its own 7-year schedule item instead of the GRS, must it notify NARA?

It depends. The GRS permits business-purpose retention beyond 6 years. If your agency updates its manual to cite new GRS 1.1, item 010, as the authority for its 7-year retention, you do not need to notify NARA. If your agency has a previously approved deviation-from-the-GRS authority (such as a big bucket schedule item that merges financial management records with other series) and wishes to continue using that authority to mandate agency wide 7 year retention, it must notify NARA of this fact. In part, this is because the agency will be retiring records to storage under its own authority citation rather than the GRS authority citation. Federal Records Centers receiving these records need to know what agency items are authoritative.

QUESTIONS RELATED TO ITEM 011

8. Why is item 010 followed by an item (011) for “all other copies” but none of the other items have a similar all-other-copies counterpart?

Records in item 010 are in many cases likely to have extra copies retained in other business units for a separate business purpose. For instance, a purchase order may exist in multiple copies not only where it is held for financial audit but also in accounts payable, shipping and receiving, and other offices. These are not non record copies held for convenience, but records retained for specific and unique business purposes. Because the record copy is retained for audit, the other copies can be disposed of when their business use ceases. Copies of records covered by other items in this schedule are more likely to be held simply for convenience. They serve no unique business purpose, are therefore non record by definition, and do not need to be scheduled.

QUESTIONS RELATED TO ITEM 020

9. Item 020 is for background materials used to prepare an annual agency financial statement. Why isn't there an item for the agency financial statements themselves?

Agency financial statements have been required from all agencies since 1997 per the Government Management Reform Act (1994) section 405, now codified in 31 CFR 3515. Only a few agencies have scheduled these records, with wide disparity in retention periods. They are also sometimes scheduled as part of a larger series of reporting records that include more than financial reporting. We were unable to determine a universally applicable value to these records by the time of publication of this schedule and did not wish to hold up the schedule while waiting to resolve the one issue. We may, however, be able to revisit this at a future time.

QUESTIONS RELATED TO ITEM 030

10. Besides being included in item 030, purchase orders, contracts, and invoices also appear in item 010. How can I tell which item is the correct one for my records?

Purchase orders, contracts, and invoices appear in item 010 when they document financial transactions subject to audit to ensure that government spends its resources appropriately and within the confines of the law. Some of those purchase orders, contracts and invoices serve as a baseline to document agency investment in “property, plant and equipment” (PP&E) assets, and these are the subject of item 030.

Determining the value of PP&E assets involves knowing the original purchase price and the rate of amortization over the course of years. Many assets eventually wear out and are removed from inventory, while others (such as real estate and structures) may have a usable life of many decades or remain in government ownership to the end of the republic.

General Records Schedule 1.1

The same records may exist in both the financial management and the PP&E asset accounting offices. They are scheduled differently based on the business purpose the records serve in each office. Their retention is 6 years in item 010 to ensure their availability for financial audit. But their retention in item 030 may be for many decades. For this reason, it is advisable that duplicates of purchase orders, contracts, and invoices concerning PP&E assets be supplied to that office for inclusion in the files documenting those assets that are covered by item 030.

GENERAL RECORDS SCHEDULE 1.2: Grant and Cooperative Agreement Records

This schedule covers records created by Federal agency program offices responsible for managing grants and cooperative agreements such as program announcements, application files, case files and similar or related records, state plans, and final products or deliverables. It does not cover records related to financial transactions. Such financial transaction records are covered by GRS 1.1, Financial Management and Reporting Records. Nor does this schedule cover policy records documenting the legal establishment, goals, objectives, development, implementation, modification, and termination of agency grant and cooperative agreement programs. The type and significance of these programs vary widely among agencies, so no single disposition can be applied to the records on a Government-wide basis. An agency must submit a records schedule to NARA to cover these records or apply an existing schedule. This schedule also does not cover government-wide systems like GRANTS.GOV and USASPENDING.GOV.

A grant is an award of financial assistance in the form of money, or property in lieu of money, by the Federal Government to an eligible grantee. The principal purpose of such award is to transfer a thing of value from a Federal agency to a State or local government or other recipient to carry out a public purpose of support or stimulation authorized by Federal statute (31 U.S.C. 6304). A cooperative agreement is an award of financial assistance that is used to enter into the same kind of relationship as a grant. It is distinguished from a grant in that it provides for substantial involvement between the grant-making Federal agency and the award recipient in carrying out the activity contemplated by the award (31 U.S.C. 6305). A grant or cooperative agreement shall be used only when the principal purpose of a transaction is to accomplish a public purpose of support or stimulation authorized by Federal statute. Grants are distinguished from contracts, which are used to acquire property or services for the Federal government's direct benefit or use.

Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs) about GRS 1.2, Grant and Cooperative Agreement Records

GENERAL

1. What is the purpose of GRS 1.2?

The purpose of this schedule is to provide disposition authority for records related to the process of announcing, selecting, and monitoring grants and cooperative agreements. Records related to this function include:

- Program announcements
- Application files
- Case files
- State plans
- Final products or deliverables

This schedule does not, however, provide disposition for financial transaction records related to administering grants unless they are copies maintained in the program case files. Nor does it cover policy records related to grant and cooperative agreement programs, or government-wide systems like GRANTS.GOV and USASPENDING.GOV that are involved in the grant process.

2. From whom may I request more information about this schedule?

You may contact NARA's General Records Schedules Team at GRS_Team@nara.gov with questions about this schedule.

CHANGES FROM THE OLD GRS

3. How does GRS 1.2 differ from the old GRS?

GRS 1.2 is different from the old GRS in that it expands the types of records related to grants and cooperative agreements. Previously, the GRS only covered grant administrative files and unsuccessful grant applications. The new GRS better defines and expands the scope of administrative files related to grant and cooperative agreement programs, and it now covers successful as well as unsuccessful grant application case files and final products and deliverables.

DEFINITION OF TERMS USED IN THIS SCHEDULE

4. What is the difference between a grant, a cooperative agreement, and a contract in the context of this schedule?

A grant is an award of financial assistance in the form of money, or property in lieu of money, by the Federal government to an eligible grantee. The principle purpose of a grant is to transfer a thing of value from a Federal agency to a state or local government or other recipient to carry out a public purpose of support or stimulation authorized by Federal statute (31 U.S.C. 6304). A cooperative agreement is an award of financial assistance that is used to enter into the same kind of relationship as a grant, but differs from a grant in that it provides for substantial involvement between the grant-making Federal agency and the award recipient to carry out the activity contemplated by the award (31 U.S.C.

6305). Contracts are used to acquire property or services for the direct benefit or use of the Federal government.

GENERAL QUESTIONS

5. Why are financial records related to grants and cooperative agreements not included in this schedule?

Records related to financial transactions stemming from activities of agency grant and cooperative agreement programs are covered by GRS 1.1. To include them in this schedule would be duplicative and confusing, and would render the records susceptible to inconsistent retention and disposition.

6. Why are grant and cooperative agreement program policy records not included in this schedule?

Grant and cooperative agreement program policy records can include information that documents how agencies make decisions about grants and cooperative agreements. In some cases there may be legal or business use reasons these records need to be kept for a longer period of time than less significant records. Some of these records could also be of permanent value. Due to the variable business use and value of policy records, it was impossible to determine a government wide disposition for these records. An agency must either apply an existing approved agency schedule or submit an agency specific schedule to NARA for these records.

7. Why are government-wide systems such as GRANTS.GOV and USA SPENDING.GOV not included in this schedule?

GRANTS.GOV is owned by the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS). HHS has scheduled the web version of material posted there by other agencies as temporary, assuming agencies manage that content as records in their own records management environments. The web version has the unique and sole business purpose of making grant information available to the public for a relatively short period of time.

USA SPENDING.GOV is owned by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB). It contains copies of records posted by other agencies. These copies ingested from across all government combine to create a totality of records with a new business purpose, different from the business purpose for which they exist at the creating agency. OMB is responsible for scheduling that unique totality of records in USA SPENDING.GOV.

QUESTIONS RELATED TO ITEM 010

8. Why is the retention for Grant and Cooperative Agreement Program Management records increased from 2 years to 3 years?

This item broadens the scope of program management records covered by old GRS 3, item 14: routine correspondence and subject files relating to grant administration. Item 010 includes records related to the coordination, implementation, execution, monitoring, and completion of programs, such as background files, application packages (e.g., blank forms, instructions, guidelines, templates, checklists, and evaluation criteria), and application evaluation files (e.g., panel composition, correspondence, and instructions). Because item 010 covers a wider range of records, it was necessary to increase the retention by one year compared to the old GRS. Many of the records in item 010 previously would have been scheduled by agency-specific schedules. Item 010 therefore has the advantage of giving one retention period for all administrative and operational program records, which is simpler to apply and sufficient to meet the needs of most agencies.

QUESTIONS RELATED TO ITEM 020

9. Why are successful applications now included in the GRS?

NARA has determined, based on research and experience with reference usage of accessioned grant case files, that these records do not generally warrant permanent retention. They are often quite voluminous, contain little information of significance, and get little research use. Many agencies already schedule grant case files as temporary. For these reasons we have determined that grant and cooperative agreement case files can be scheduled across the Federal government as temporary records. If an agency believes they have grant case files that are of historical value they can submit a schedule to NARA for those records.

10. Why should successful grant and cooperative agreement applications case files be kept for 10 years?

The 10-year retention aligns with the 10-year statute of limitations in the False Claims Act (31 U.S.C. 3731(b)), which governs claims related to these records.

11. What if my agency wants a shorter retention for successful grant and cooperative agreement applications?

If your agency does not have an existing agency-specific schedule for these records, it may submit a schedule requesting to deviate from the GRS to your agency's assigned NARA appraiser. Please keep in mind, however, that the 10 year retention is based on a statute of limitations, so the GRS Team will request confirmation that your agency's legal counsel agrees to a shorter retention prior to our concurrence on your deviation request.

If your agency has an existing agency-specific schedule for these records, it may choose to continue to use the existing schedule by informing NARA of its intent to do so (per 36 CFR 1227.12(a)(3). Notifications can be sent to GRS_Team@nara.gov. However, due to the legal risk in keeping these records for a shorter period of time, we recommend you review the existing schedule for these records with your General Counsel prior to implementation.

QUESTIONS RELATED TO ITEM 022

12. Why is there an "All other copies" item for Grant and Cooperative Agreement Case Files, but none of the other items have a similar catch-all item?

Extra copies these case files may be retained in other business units for a separate business purpose. These extra copies are not non-record copies held for convenience, but record copies in their own right retained for a specific and unique business purpose outside the purview of an agency's grant and cooperative agreement program. As such, their retention and disposition can be based on business use.

Copies of records covered by other items in this schedule are more likely to be held simply for convenience, making them non record by definition.

QUESTIONS RELATED TO ITEM 030

13. Why are final products or deliverables scheduled as temporary?

While instinct inclines us to think these records inherently have universal permanent value, we found that was not the case. In fact, few agencies have scheduled these records at all. Among agencies that have, only about half scheduled them as permanent; and half of those stipulated specific and fairly stringent criteria be met for a product or deliverable to warrant permanent retention. Where agencies have scheduled these records as permanent, research use of records accessioned into NARA's holdings has proved surprisingly low. Based on this actual rather than perceived value, we determined that a blanket designation of these records as permanent is simply not supported. However, if an agency believes it has grant or cooperative agreement products or deliverables that do warrant permanent retention by the National Archives, it can write an agency specific schedule requesting an exception to the GRS.

GENERAL RECORDS SCHEDULE 3.1: General Technology Management Records

This schedule covers records created and maintained by Federal agencies related to the general management of technology. It includes records related to developing, operating, and maintaining computer software, systems, and infrastructure improvements; complying with information technology policies and plans; and maintaining data standards.

This schedule does not apply to system data or content. This schedule does not apply to records documenting the Office of Management and Budget and the US Federal Chief Information Officers Council government-wide information management planning and programming. There may be copies of the Exhibit 300 records within these case files. However, agencies should continue to file the recordkeeping copy as part of IT Capital Investment Records. Records needed to support contracts should be in procurement files, which are scheduled under the GRS for General Financial Management Records.

Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs) about GRS 3.1, General Technology Management Records

INTRODUCTION

1. What is the purpose of GRS 3.1?

The purpose of this schedule is to provide disposition authority for records related to technology management, including records related to developing, operating, and maintaining computer software, systems, and infrastructure improvements; complying with information technology policies and plans; and maintaining data standards.

2. From whom may I request more information about this schedule?

Please contact NARA's General Records Schedules Team at GRS_Team@nara.gov with questions about this schedule.

CHANGES FROM THE OLD GRS

3. How does GRS 3.1 differ from the old General Records Schedules?

GRS 3.1 replaces half of the items from GRS 24, Information Technology Operations and Management Records. Other GRS items have been moved to 3.1 because they are similar in function and content, such as GRS 16, item 9, Feasibility Studies. Three items from GRS 20, Electronic Records now appear in 3.1:

- GRS 20, item 1a, Records Created to Test System Performance
- GRS 20, item 10, Special Purpose Programs
- GRS 20, items 11a1 and 11a2, Documentation

IT Customer Service Files (GRS 24, items 10a and 10b) are planned for development in a future GRS; the existing authorities are unchanged and are valid for use. The remaining items from GRS 24 are rescheduled in the new GRS 3.2, Information Systems Security Records.

DEFINITION OF TERMS USED IN THIS SCHEDULE

4. What are the definitions of subject-specific terms used in GRS 3.1?

Information technology infrastructure (item 010)

Information technology (IT) Infrastructure means the basic systems and services used to supply the agency and its staff with access to computers and data communications. Components include hardware such as printers, desktop and laptop computers, network and web servers, routers, hubs, and network cabling, as well as software such as operating systems and shared applications (e.g., word processing). The services necessary to design, implement, test, validate, and maintain such components are also considered part of an agency's IT infrastructure.

System development (item 011)

System development is the development of information technology (IT) systems and software applications through their initial stages up until hand off to production and includes planning, requirements analysis, design, verification and testing, procurement, and installation.

Special purpose computer programs and applications (item 012)

Special purpose computer programs and applications are software that is developed by the agency or under its direction solely to use or maintain electronic records. (Item 012 covers such software for electronic records that are authorized for disposal in a GRS item or a NARA approved records schedule.)

Master files (item 012)

Master files are the actual content of the electronic records series or system, or in other words the recordkeeping copy of an electronic record or system. Master files may consist of data, scanned text, PDFs, digital images, or some other form of electronic information. They may include the information content of an entire system or that of a group of related files. Related records within a single master file are not always the same format.

Configuration and change management (item 030)

Configuration and change management is a process or methodology used to develop, operate, and maintain computer software, systems, and infrastructure improvements.

Data administration (items 050 and 051)

Data administration includes maintenance of data standards, corporate data models, registries, and data definitions and dictionaries.

GENERAL QUESTIONS

5. Why doesn't GRS 3.1 cover system backups and other information security types of records?

GRS 3.1 addresses general records related to technology management. We devised GRS 3.2, Information Systems Security Records, to cover more specialized information security records. System backups are listed in GRS 3.2.

6. Why doesn't GRS 3.1 cover IT help desk records?

Since there are many types of help desks, GRS 24, items 10a and 10b, IT Customer Service Files, will be expanded and moved to GRS 5.8, Internal Help Desk Services Records. Since this schedule has not been developed, the current GRS 24, item 10a and 10b, disposition authorities remain valid and available for use.

7. Why doesn't GRS 3.1 apply to system data or content?

GRS 3.1 excludes system data or content because it would be impossible to apply an across the board retention period for these records. Instead, each dataset should be evaluated by an agency and submitted to NARA on a records schedule for approval.

8. Why does GRS 3.1 exclude records documenting the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) and the US Federal Chief Information Officers Council (CIO Council) government-wide information management planning and programming records?

These records are not included in the GRS since they are scheduled as agency records. Certain records maintained by Federal Chief Information Officers (CIO) and their program offices are covered currently under GRS 27, Records of the Chief Information Officer. CIO Committee Records and CIO Subject and Office Records will be addressed in another GRS.

9. Why aren't the OMB Exhibit 300 records covered explicitly by this GRS?

OMB Exhibit 300 business cases for major investments, systems, acquisitions, or operational assets identified in the agency's capital investment portfolio and related clearance and review records are covered under GRS 27, item 3, IT Capital Investment Records. There may be copies of the Exhibit 300 records within case files in GRS 3.1, such as Infrastructure Project Records (item 010). However, agencies should continue to file the recordkeeping copy as part of IT Capital Investment Records in GRS 27.

10. Why can't I use this schedule for contracts for IT projects?

Records needed to support contracts should be in procurement files, which are scheduled under GRS 1.1, Financial Management and Reporting Records.

11. I see several major series are being retained for 5 years with various implied cutoff instructions. Why can't I just keep everything in GRS 3.1 for 5 years?

The quick answer is these records are not maintained for a flat 5 years. Different series have different points in time in which the retention period starts based on the business processes related to the records. For instance, for one series the 5 year retention doesn't start until the project has terminated. For another, the retention period starts when the system itself is superseded or terminated. This can lead to considerably different amounts of time records are held by an agency. That being said, this does not preclude agencies from aggregating records into big buckets without NARA approval, provided they are not destroying records too soon. The reason is that this schedule allows agencies to retain all temporary records on the schedule for longer periods of time to meet business needs.

QUESTIONS RELATED TO ITEM 012

12. Why does Item 012 exclude software or applications necessary to use or maintain any unscheduled master file or database or any master file or database scheduled for transfer to the National Archives? Why does it also exclude commercial, off-the-shelf (COTS) programs or applications, unless modified?

Software and applications used in conjunction with permanent records are not covered by this GRS schedule because they may be needed to maintain and access the permanent records and therefore may be of permanent value. Such software and applications need to be scheduled and appraised on a case by case basis. Similarly, software and applications related to unscheduled records are excluded from this schedule because the related records may be of permanent value. Commercial, off the shelf (COTS) programs or applications, unless modified for use, are considered non records.

13. Why does computer software need to be kept?

Computer software needs to be kept as long as needed to ensure access to, and use of, the electronic records in the system throughout the authorized retention period to comply with 36 CFR Sections 1236.10, 1236.12, 1236.14, and 1236.20.

QUESTIONS RELATED TO ITEM 030

14. Why do system management records need to be kept? Which schedule is appropriate for these types of records?

System management records are kept not only to keep track of systems changes, but also because they have a secondary value in that they are needed to understand electronic records transferred to NARA. Should system management activities have a major impact on a system or lead to a significant change, those records should be maintained as part of Item 014 Configuration and Change Management Records.

QUESTIONS RELATED TO ITEM 040

15. Why aren't security plans or Privacy Act System of Records Notices (SORNs) covered by Item 040?

While there may be copies of both documents interfiled within this series, oversight and compliance are not the primary functions associated with either document. Rather, security plans are scheduled under the GRS 3.2, Information Systems Security Records, and SORNs will be covered in another GRS.

QUESTIONS RELATED TO ITEM 050

16. Why do I not cite a separate GRS disposition authority for documentation when it is transferred to NARA with associated permanent electronic records?

Per NARA practice, documentation for permanent electronic records must be transferred with the related records using the disposition authority for the related electronic records rather than the GRS disposition authority. So, you will not be citing the GRS authority when you actually transfer the records but the disposition authority for the electronic records themselves.

This practice is to simplify transfer. NARA practice has been to accession system documentation along with the related records. Prior to the establishment of NARA's Electronic Records Archives (ERA), the GRS authority for system documentation was included along with the agency specific authority for the master files on the paper SF 258. ERA, however, requires a separate Transfer Request for each disposition authority. To eliminate the need to create a separate transfer request for system documentation, practice has been to simply include the system documentation along with the related records in the same Transfer Request. Additionally, records covered by GRS authorities cannot currently be transferred using ERA and a paper SF 258 must be used.

17. Why should I use item 050 for certain technical documentation (e.g., data dictionaries, file specifications, code books, record layouts, etc.) rather than items 011 System Development and 030 Configuration and Change Management Records?

When electronic records are scheduled as permanent in the GRS or in a NARA approved agency schedule, the documentation that is needed to read and/or understand the records must be transferred to the National Archives to allow for continued access. Without these records NARA cannot provide access to the information; therefore the specific record types listed in item 030 have additional value beyond their use in system development and configuration management.

Stand-up configuration and validation records relate to installing and validating both the Certification Authority (CA) and Registration Authority (RA), obtaining final approval or rejection from the agency's oversight or authorizing body, creating and generating a CA signature key, testing security procedures for the CA and RA, validating certification revocation procedures, and establishing back-up and storage for the PKI system. Termination, consolidation, or reorganization records relate to terminating, consolidating, or reorganizing a PKI; notifying subscribers of decisions, transferring inactive keys and revocation certificate lists to storage repositories, transferring consenting subscribers' and certificates and related materials to a new Certificate Authority, destroying sensitive records involving privacy (in accordance with an authorized records schedule), and shutting down and disposing of RA hardware and CA software. Note: Select PKI administrative records serve as transaction records that must be retained as part of the trust documentation set with transaction-specific records. Records are embedded or referenced within the transaction stream and may be appended to the transaction content or information record. Along with PKI administrative and other administrative records, transaction-specific records are part of the PKI trust documentation set that establish or support the trustworthiness of a transaction. They may vary from transaction-to- transaction and agency-to-agency. When retained to support the authentication of an electronic transaction content record (information record), PKI digital signature transaction records are program records. Note: Extreme care must be taken when applying the GRS-PKI to transaction records. Destruction of the transaction-specific and administrative records embedded in the transaction stream prior to the authorized retention of the information record that they access/protect will render the PKI incapable of performing what it is designed to do-protect and provide access to the information record. Due to the relative newness of PKI technology, both from an implementation and a litigation perspective, it is recommended that agencies identify all PKI transaction records (including PKI select administrative records embedded in the transaction stream and transaction-specific records) to be retained as part of the trust documentation for the records the PKI is designed to protect and or access and link the retention of the transaction records with that of the information record it protects/accesses. Transaction records must be retained as trust documentation set records together with the content/information record.	Temporary. Destroy/delete when 7 years 6 months to 20 years 6 months old, based on the maximum level of operation of the appropriate CA and after the information record the PKI is designed to protect and/or access is destroyed according to an authorized schedule, or in the case of permanent records, when the record is transferred to NARA legal custody. Longer retention is authorized if the agency determines that transaction-specific PKI records are needed for a longer period.	N1-GRS-07-3, item 13b

Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs) about GRS 3.2, Information Systems Security Records

INTRODUCTION

1. What is the purpose of GRS 3.2?

The purpose of this schedule is to provide disposition authority for records related to system and data security and access, reports on computer security incidents, and backup tapes and files.

2. From whom may I request more information about this schedule?

Please contact NARA's General Records Schedules Team at GRS_Team@nara.gov with questions about this schedule.

CHANGES FROM THE OLD GRS

3. How does GRS 3.2 differ from the old General Records Schedules?

GRS 3.2 is comprised of updated items from GRS 24, Information Technology Operations and Management Records, that are related to information systems security. Public Key Infrastructure (PKI) Records schedules (GRS 24, items 13a1, 13a2, and 13b) are not rescheduled, but they are now part of this schedule (items 060, 061, and 062) under their existing authorities. GRS 3.2 also includes a few items relevant to this schedule that were in GRS 20, Electronic Records.

DEFINITION OF TERMS USED IN THIS SCHEDULE

4. What are the definitions of terms used in GRS 3.2?

Information system

An information system means the organized collection, processing, transmission, and dissemination of information in accordance with defined procedures, whether automated or manual. (36 CFR 1220.18)

Information systems security records

GRS 3.2 defines these as records created and maintained by Federal agencies related to protecting the security of information technology systems and data and responding to computer security incidents.

Information technology infrastructure (item 010)

Information technology (IT) infrastructure means the basic systems and services used to supply the agency and its staff with access to computers and data communications. Components include hardware such as printers, desktop and laptop computers, network and web servers, routers, hubs, and network cabling, as well as software such as operating systems and shared applications (e.g., word processing). The services necessary to design, implement, test, validate, and maintain such components are also considered part of an agency's IT infrastructure.

Computer incident (item 020)

A computer incident within the Federal Government as defined by NIST Special Publication 800 61, Computer Security Incident Handling Guide, Revision 2 (August 2012), is a violation or imminent threat of violation of computer security policies, acceptable use policies, or standard computer security practices.

Significant computer incident (item 020)

A significant computer incident that would require scheduling of records outside of this GRS would be defined as one that caused widespread system outage or denial of service, or gained notice by local news media, law enforcement, or the agency's Inspector General's office.

System access records (items 030 and 031)

GRS 3.2 defines these as records created as part of the user identification and authorization process to gain access to systems. Records are used to monitor inappropriate systems access by users.

System backups (items 040 and 041)

Backup files maintained for potential system restoration in the event of a system failure or other unintentional loss of data.

Master files (items 050 and 051)

Master files are the actual content of the electronic records series or system, or in other words the recordkeeping copy of an electronic record or system. Master files may consist of data, scanned text, PDFs, digital images, or some other form of electronic information. They may include the information content of an entire system or that of a group of related files. Related records within a single master file are not always the same format.

Electronic signature (items 060, 061, and 062)

An electronic signature is a technologically neutral term indicating various methods of signing an electronic message that (a) identify and authenticate a particular person as source of the electronic message and (b) indicate such person's approval of the information contained in the electronic message (definition from Government Paperwork Elimination Act, Public Law 105 277). Examples of electronic signature technologies include PINs, user identifications and passwords, digital signatures, digitized signatures, and hardware and biometric tokens. (See Appendix A, Records Management Guidance for Agencies Implementing Electronic Signature Technologies, NARA, October 18, 2000)

QUESTION RELATED TO ITEMS 030 AND 031

5. Why don't Items 030 and 031 (system access records) include monitoring that is part of an agency's mission activities?

Records associated with mission activities, such as law enforcement, wilderness preservation, and aeronautics engineering, are scheduled separately because the value of the records varies and they

GENERAL RECORDS SCHEDULE 4.3: Input Records, Output Records, and Electronic Copies

This schedule provides disposal authorization for the following records related to electronic systems or collections of electronic records: input or source records, system output records, and non-recordkeeping copies of electronic records. In other words it covers records that contain information duplicated in the recordkeeping copies of electronic records (also known as the master records or master files). This schedule does not cover the recordkeeping copies themselves, which must be scheduled based on their content. Electronic records not included in GRS 4.3 may not be destroyed unless authorized by a NARA approved schedule.

Also not covered by this schedule are original hardcopy still pictures, graphic materials/posters, aerial film, maps, plans, charts, sound recordings, motion picture film, or video recordings that are scheduled as permanent or unscheduled that have been converted to an electronic format. Electronic versions of special media records such as these often do not adequately replace the original and therefore the original records may not be destroyed as “input records.”

Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs) about GRS 4.3, Input Records, Output Records and Electronic Copies

INTRODUCTION

1. What is the purpose of GRS 4.3?

This schedule provides agencies with disposition authority for records related to electronic systems or collections of electronic records, including:

- records used to create or update the master or recordkeeping copy
- certain records extracted from electronic systems, including queries on system content
- electronic and hard copy (i.e. non-electronic) reports
- non-recordkeeping copies of electronic records

In other words, it covers records that contain information duplicated in the recordkeeping copies of electronic records. This schedule does not cover the recordkeeping copies themselves, which must be scheduled based on their content.

2. From whom may I request further information about this schedule?

Please contact NARA's General Records Schedules Team at GRS_Team@nara.gov with questions about this schedule.

CHANGES FROM THE OLD GRS

3. How does GRS 4.3 differ from the old General Records Schedules?

GRS 4.3 replaces most of GRS 20. A few items from GRS 20 are rescheduled in new GRSs, including GRS 3.1, General Technology Management Records, or will be included in other future schedules. Some items in GRS 20 have been rescinded. For information on the final outcome of specific items in GRS 20, see the GRS 20 crosswalk.

The schedule continues to cover input/source records, output records, and copies of word processing files, electronic mail, and spreadsheets. Items have been reorganized and redefined, but there have been no significant changes to the retention of records. Changes include:

- GRS 20, item 2a4 is broken out into three items for hard copy or analog input/source records depending on whether and how the original records were scheduled. This item was broken out to provide clarity to agencies about how to dispose of these records.
- Multiple GRS 20 items covering electronic input records have been aggregated into a single item.
- Items for hard copy and electronic ad hoc reports have been merged into a single, media-neutral item.
- Multiple GRS 20 items covering electronic output files have been aggregated into a single item.
- Items in GRS for copies of word processing files, electronic mail, and spreadsheets have been aggregated and the new item written to expand coverage to other copies of electronic files.

4. Why were GRS 20, items 2a1-3, rescinded?

These three items were rescinded because they are not actual disposition authorities. They are exceptions to the general rule that hard copy inputs can be destroyed after verification of conversion (for temporary records) or upon notification to NARA and verification (for permanent records); or, in other words, item 2a4. This rule has not changed. These three items now appear as exclusions to item 011. GRS 20, item 2a3, is also generally covered by GRS 4.3, items 010-012 in that they explicitly state that the items apply only to records converted in their entirety to electronic format.

5. Why were GRS 20, items 3 and 3.1, rescinded?

These items were rescinded from the GRS because they are not disposition authorities. They are instructions either to apply an existing schedule or to submit a new SF-115. For example, the instruction for item 3 says, "Delete after the expiration of the retention period authorized for the hard copy records." This equates to "apply the existing approved schedule." Additionally, due to changes with scheduling records in ERA, disposition instructions must start with either "Temporary" or "Permanent," which these old disposition instructions cannot do. The regulations still provide guidance on when agencies can apply existing schedules and when they must reschedule records; the rules defined in 36 CFR 1225.24 apply even though items 3 and 3.1 are rescinded.

6. Can I still apply existing schedules for paper records to electronic versions?

Yes, in certain circumstances. 36 CFR 1225.24 and NARA's publication Frequently Asked Questions \(FAQs\) About Media Neutral Schedule Items provide instructions on when existing schedules for hard copy or analog records may be applied to electronic versions.

DEFINITION OF TERMS USED IN THIS SCHEDULE

7. What are the definitions of terms used in GRS 4.3?

Master files

Master files are the actual content of the electronic records series or system, or in other words, the recordkeeping copy of an electronic record or system. Master files may consist of data, scanned text, PDFs, digital images, or some other form of electronic information. They may include the information content of an entire system or that of a group of related files. Related records within a single master file are not always the same format.

Input/source records

Input records are the source of the information in an electronic system. They are used to create, update, or modify master files retained to meet recordkeeping requirements and covered by a NARA-approved schedule. Input records may be electronic files or non-electronic documents. They may include records such as upload files staged for ingest into a system or hard copy forms scanned or otherwise entered into the system.

Not all input processes create separate records. Those that do not include:

- Structured data entered from online forms, structured data manually input directly into the system by user (no hard copy form), and unstructured (textual) data that is born digital (i.e., not scanned from paper).

- Data moved automatically from another system with no associated data file. Thus, the data is copied from one system to the other without creating an intermediary data file. This does not cover data migrated from a legacy system to a new system.

Verification of successful conversion

Verification of successful conversion means that the agency has taken steps to ensure that hard copy or analog records have been converted to electronic format in their entirety, that no information or pages are missing, all information is readable, especially in cases where records are scanned, and that the electronic version of the record is accessible (i.e., it can be opened). It is up to Federal agencies to define their verification procedures. NARA does not have specific requirements for how conversion of records to an electronic format should be verified.

Output records

Output records are derived directly from the system master file. For example, a report that agency staff print from the system by clicking on a field or radio button in the system. By contrast, reports using system information but not created directly from the system itself are not system output records. For example, an annual report that agency staff prepare after reviewing information in the system.

Non-recordkeeping copies

Non recordkeeping copies are any copies other than the “official record” kept by the agency for formal recordkeeping purposes. Do not confuse the term with “non record.” Non recordkeeping copies are records if they are used to make decisions or take actions. For example, e mail you create and receive in the course of Federal business is a Federal record; if it is copied into an official recordkeeping system for long term preservation, it is the official record copy. However, the copy that remains on your computer is still a Federal record used to conduct business even though it is not the official record copy; it is therefore a non recordkeeping copy. Non recordkeeping copies that are Federal records generally do not need to be kept for documentation purposes for the same length of time as the official record copy.

8. Item 040 states that it includes “copies of the above electronic records maintained in websites or web servers, but excluding web pages themselves.” What are “web pages” in this context?

The term “web pages” as it is used in this item refers to the electronic file(s) that make up the page as it renders on the web, such as an HTML or XML file, style sheets, and any other associated files that may make up the web page.

SCHEDULE IMPLEMENTATION

9. Why doesn't GRS 4.3 cover electronic records/system master files?

GRS 4.3 does not cover electronic records/system master files because the content of such records is too variable. The GRS schedules records based on their content, not the type of records. Input and output records may seem like they are being scheduled by record type, but really they are scheduled based on their content: their content is duplicative information contained in other records. GRS 4.3 schedules records containing information duplicated in other electronic records or recordkeeping systems. Some electronic records/system master files may be covered by other GRS schedules depending on their content.

10. Why does the GRS state that input records must be copied “in their entirety”?

If the input record is not copied in its entirety, the master file is not a duplicate of what is contained in the input record. The input record could then contain unique information that might change the value of the record. For example, a hard copy source record could contain an annotation that is not clearly picked up when the record is scanned. Therefore the scan does not copy the input record in its entirety, the source record contains additional information not in the scanned version, and the annotation on the source record has unique value requiring the record to be kept.

This requirement applies to more than scanned documents. For example, data may be entered from a form. If not all of the form’s data is entered into the system, then the source record has not been copied in its entirety. However, when a form is used to update a record already in the system, and information on the form exactly duplicates information already in the system, it is not necessary to re enter the identical data from the form again; just enter the new or changed data. This still results in the information on the input form and in the system being identical, and the form being copied in its entirety. As long as there is a one to one relationship between the source record and the electronic version, and they match, then the source record is being copied in its entirety.

The requirement that input records be ingested in their entirety is not new. GRS 20, item 2a3, specified that hard copy input/source records that contained information that was not, or could not be, captured in the electronic version of the records (e.g., certain handwritten annotations) had to be disposed of according to the schedule for the hard copy record.

11. When is it not appropriate to destroy input records once they are converted to an electronic format?

Primarily, this is an agency decision. Agencies should assess their business need for the source records and may establish a longer retention in their agency specific disposition manuals without additional NARA approval if there is an agency business need to keep the records longer. In addition, in some cases source records may be or become part of another record series scheduled on an agency specific schedule. In these cases, the agency specific schedule should be applied rather than the GRS. For example, if the source record is part of another record, such as a case file, but the electronic version of the record is not a copy of the entire case file or has a separate purpose from the case file, then an agency specific disposition authority for the case file may apply to the source record, rather than the GRS.

12. How and when is GRS 4.3 applied to input records?

If the input records are in hard copy format:

13. Why are data file outputs from records scheduled as permanent, but that no longer exist or can no longer be accessed, excluded? How can a permanent record no longer exist or no longer be accessed?

Records may have been scheduled as permanent but the record itself may no longer exist or be accessible because it was lost, corrupted, or in some other way can no longer be opened or read. In that case, a data file output may be the only accessible version of the record and NARA might want to take the output record. This note should not be interpreted to mean that outputs must be kept just in case the permanent record becomes inaccessible; it means only that if you have the output records and the master file is inaccessible, then you should contact NARA to see if the output records should be transferred instead.

SUPERSEDED

14. Why does GRS 4.3 schedule non-recordkeeping copies?

Not all copies are non record. Copies may still be records if they are used to make decisions or take actions, so they require an approved schedule for disposition. Non recordkeeping means only that the record is not maintained for recordkeeping purposes. It is still a record if it is used to make decisions or take actions.

INTRODUCTION TO THE GENERAL RECORDS SCHEDULES

General Records Schedules (GRS) are issued by the Archivist of the United States to provide disposition authorization for records common to several or all agencies of the Federal Government. They include records relating to civilian personnel, fiscal accounting, procurement, communications, printing, and other common functions, and certain nontextual records. They also include records relating to temporary commissions, boards, councils and committees. These records comprise an estimated one-third of the total volume of records created by Federal agencies.

In 1978, use of the GRS was made legally mandatory. The disposal authorizations must be used by a Federal agency to the greatest extent possible. Because these schedules are designed to cover records common to several agencies, many of the records descriptions are general. Agency records officers may either use the schedules as an appendix to an agency printed schedule or tailor the general schedules to the agency's own particular needs and incorporate them into agency schedules.

The GRS covers only records that are common among several agencies. For complete coverage of the disposition of all its records, each agency must independently develop schedules for the remaining records. Agencies should exercise particular care in applying items in GRS 1-16 and 18 to subject or correspondence files that may include a mix of administrative and program records. Usually, administrative subject files have short retention periods, less than 3 years. Program subject files may be needed by the agency for 10 years or more and may have archival value as well. Except when the volume of administrative records is negligible, agencies should maintain administrative records separately from program records in their agency recordkeeping systems. If administrative records are mixed with program records in the recordkeeping system and cannot be economically segregated, the entire file must be kept for the period of time approved for the program records. Similarly, if documents described in the GRS are part of a subject or case file that documents activities different from those covered by the schedules, they should be treated in the same manner as the files of which they are a part.

For more information on scheduling records not covered by the GRS, including potentially permanent records, see the Disposition of Federal Records Handbook. Also, the National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) has prepared a series of instructional guides that provide information on scheduling nontextual records that are not covered by the GRS. The handbook and separate guides on electronic records, audiovisual records, and cartographic and architectural records are available from the National Archives and Records Administration (NWCP), Room G-9, Washington, DC 20408.

GRS items cover only record copies. In some instances, more than one copy of a document or file would be considered a record if different offices use it to perform different functions. When it is difficult to decide whether files are record or nonrecord materials, the records officer should treat them as records. Records officers may consult with the NARA Life Cycle Management Division (NWML) to determine the record or nonrecord status of particular files.

The disposition instructions in the GRS are to be implemented without further approval from NARA, with the exception that most records created before January 1, 1921, must first be offered to NARA for appraisal. If NARA rejects these records they may be destroyed immediately. GRS 3, 11, 16, and 21 have other delimiting dates. Agencies that convert records covered by the GRS to microform should apply the GRS disposition standards to the microform copies and destroy the paper copies after verification of the film unless legal considerations require longer retention of the paper (36 CFR 1230.10(b)). No further authorization from NARA is required to implement these provisions. If an agency wishes to apply a different retention period for any series of records included in the GRS, the records officer must submit a Standard Form (SF) 115 providing justification for the deviation.

The GRS includes an index of commonly used Standard and Optional Forms. The forms index includes only the forms most frequently used by the various Government agencies.

Items at the end of GRS 1-16, 18, 23, 24, 25 and 26 provide disposition instructions for electronic mail and word processing copies, maintained apart from the recordkeeping copy, of the records described in the other items in those schedules. The other items authorize the disposition of the recordkeeping copy. The electronic mail and word processing records covered in each of those schedules are those that remain in personal and shared directories after the recordkeeping copy has been produced, and electronic copies used for dissemination, revision, or updating that are maintained in addition to the recordkeeping copy.

Questions of applicability of any GRS item to agency records or differences of interpretation between the records officer and other agency personnel that cannot be reconciled within the agency may be referred to the Director, Life Cycle Management Division (NWML), NARA, from offices in the Washington, DC area, or the NARA regional records services facility from offices outside the Washington, DC area.

Some records series covered by the GRS are eligible for retirement to the Washington National Records Center or to records center storage in a NARA regional records services facility. Records should be retired from agency space to such storage only if transfer costs do not exceed the expense of retaining them in agency space. Records sent to records center storage in a NARA facility should have a remaining retention of at least 1 year. If special circumstances, such as lack of filing equipment or space, make it imperative that records be retired, exceptions can be made to this policy. These decisions are made on an individual basis by the appropriate NARA facility director. Procedures for transfer of records to records center storage in a NARA facility are found in NARA regulations (36 CFR 1228.152).

GENERAL RECORDS SCHEDULE 1

This schedule covers the disposition of Official Personnel Folders of civilian employees and other records relating to civilian personnel, wherever located in the agency. Specifically excluded are program records of the Office of Personnel Management (OPM), the Bureau of Medical Services (PHS/HHS), the Office of Workers' Compensation Programs (DOL), and the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission. Any records created prior to January 1, 1921, must be offered to the National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) for appraisal before these disposition instructions may be applied.

[NOTES: (1) OPFs covering periods of employment terminated prior to January 1, 1921, are not covered by this item. If an agency has such files, it should contact NARA to request appraisal of the files. If NARA rejects the records, the disposition for GRS 1, item 1b applies. (2) Certain agencies have been exempted by OPM from retiring their OPFs to NPRC. GENERAL RECORDS SCHEDULE 2

Payrolling and Pay Administration Records

Payrolling and pay administration records pertain to disbursements to civilian employees of the Government for personal services. This schedule applies to the pay records that are common to all agencies, but it excludes (a) retirement records (Standard Form (SF) 2806 or equivalent) that are maintained during employee duty and then transferred to the Office of Personnel Management (OPM); (b) files maintained in agency space for audit by the General Accounting Office (GAO) under 31 U.S.C. 3529(c); (c) records relating to tax withholding, savings bonds, fidelity bonds, or other records held by the appropriate units of the Treasury Department responsible for the related Government-wide programs; and (d) Office of Management and Budget files reflecting agency personnel needs and problems. The National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) must be consulted for any records created prior to January 1, 1921 before applying these disposition instructions.

Documents required by the Comptroller General to be maintained for site audit are segments of accountable officer's accounts. In no event may disposal be made of records pertaining to accounts, claims, or demands involving the Government of the United States which have not been settled or adjusted by the GAO unless the agency concerned has written approval of the Comptroller General, as required by 44 U.S.C. 3309. Most Federal civilian pay accounts are prepared and maintained in accordance with Title 6 - Pay, Leave, and Allowances and incorporated in the GAO Policy and Procedures Manual for Guidance of Federal Agencies.

In the payrolling process different types of records are accumulated. Under Title 6 of the GAO Manual these records are normally site-audited on a sample basis by GAO representatives who examine primarily the earnings record card, payroll change slips that are prepared to document changes in normal pay, certification sheets containing the signatures of the certifying officer, checklists prepared in lieu of the more formal payrolls by Department of the Treasury or local disbursing personnel, source personnel documents such as basic time and attendance reports, and copies of personnel action forms documenting changes in pay. In addition, pay registers and other accounting devices are maintained to check and balance the accounts.

All payroll systems require the maintenance of a leave record used to submit data to the payroll system. Information is posted to this record from more detailed records kept by time and attendance clerks located throughout an agency. Depending on the type of system in operation, this leave record may be a hard-copy input form or it may be a wholly electronic input.

Other records incidental to the payrolling process are employee requests for tax withholding; employee requests for Thrift Savings Plan deductions; savings bond records; and other records not pertaining to individuals, but rather to the general administration of the payrolling office and the payrolling function.

Procurement, Supply, and Grant Records

Agency procurement and supply records document the acquisition of goods and non-personal services, controlling the volume of stock on hand, reporting procurement needs, and related supply matters which are part of daily procurement operations. The basic procurement files reflect a considerable range of procedure, from simple, small purchases to complicated prime contractor and subcontractor operations.

Any records created prior to 1895 must first be offered to the National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) for appraisal before applying the disposal instructions. Frequently copies of procurement papers become integral parts of the other files in the agency, such as project files of various types or general subject files pertaining to program operations; such copies are not covered by this schedule because they cannot be considered and evaluated separately from the files of which they are a part.

The General Accounting Office (GAO) no longer requires agencies to maintain a separate file of contracts for site audit. The agency contract files maintained in the contracting officer's office are accessible to GAO auditors and have generally been used by them in the past.

When a claim is filed by or against the Government, records relating to the claim should be retained without regard to the otherwise applicable records retention schedules which would have authorized destruction of the records prior to the time when the claim is finally resolved unless the agency has received written approval from the GAO (44 U.S.C. Section 3309 and 62 Comp. Gen. 42 (1982)). A claim is finally resolved: (1) when it is disallowed and the time for appealing the denial or instituting suit on the claim has expired; or (2) when it is allowed and paid or the amount offered in compromise is accepted and paid; or (3) when the amount found due and owing proves uncollectible because time limits for collecting the indebtedness through legal proceedings or by way of setoff have expired.

Records documenting procurement and supply in the agencies are largely standardized by various regulations of the Comptroller General and the Administrator of General Services. The physical arrangement of the transaction files themselves differs in the various agencies, however. In all agencies the official contract files, for example, contain a minimum core of specified documents, but there are also other documents that vary in accordance with what the individual agency deems to be best for its own operating purposes.

The key procurement file is the transaction case file containing the formal contract or informal purchase order or lease instruments and all related papers. The documents flowing into the transaction file differ in detail, but they include, in addition to the purchase document, specifications, bids, schedules of delivery, the initiating requisition, invoices, and correspondence. Other copies of these documents, made for expediting and other administrative purposes, are scattered throughout the inspection, shipping, expediting, and other units of the agency procurement organization.

Other files related to the procurement and supply function include reports used for supply management purposes by the agency creating the records as well as the staff agency involved with Government-wide programs. They also include local requisition and stock inventory files and other minor supply papers. Of a specialized character in the procurement field are the title papers documenting the acquisition of real property (by purchase, condemnation, donation, exchange, or otherwise). These papers are required by the Government as long as the property remains in Government hands or if it has been sold or released -- conditionally or with recapture clauses. When properties are disposed of by quitclaim deeds, this fact should be confirmed prior to the disposal of title papers, since the title evidence might be needed by the Government to defend the title in the event the properties were disposed of by deeds containing general or special warranties.

It should also be ascertained that the title evidence relates only to the properties which were sold by the Government. In many instances, lands acquired by the Government are disposed of in different size parcels, and if the Government retains the title to any portion the title evidence should be retained.

This schedule does not apply to Interior Department records relating to the public domain or to the title opinion files of the Department of Justice.

This schedule includes some of the common agency records relating to grant programs. Since many Federal agencies conduct grant programs which document projects contracted between the agency and an outside party, these records are included as an adjunct to the procurement and supply records.

GENERAL RECORDS SCHEDULE 4

Property Disposal Records

These records pertain to the sales by agencies of real and personal property surplus to the needs of the Government. The act creating the General Services Administration (GSA) transferred to the new agency the functions of the former War Assets Administration relating to property disposition. This schedule is not applicable to transaction or policy files created by the GSA and predecessor agencies, to records in the Department of the Interior relating to the public domain, and to records relating to overseas property under Department of State control. Any surplus property transaction files dated prior to the establishment of the former Procurement Division of the Department of Treasury in 1933 must be offered to the National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) for appraisal before applying these disposition instructions.

In no event may disposal be made of records pertaining to accounts, claims, or demands involving the Government of the United States which have not been settled or adjusted by the General Accounting Office without written approval of the Comptroller General, as required by 44 U.S.C. 3309.

Three forms are prescribed for use by an agency selling surplus personal property under GSA regulations:

a. Standard Form (SF) 114, Sale of Government Property, Invitation, Bid, and Acceptance. Related papers that are maintained by the agencies, usually in case fashion, consist of correspondence, bids, other notices of sale, invoices, and sales slips.

b. SF 120, Report of Excess Personal Property, and SF 121, Quarterly Report of Utilization and Disposal of Excess and Surplus Personal Property. Agencies use SF 120 to report excess personal property to the regional GSA offices, which initiate screening action. The quarterly reports are submitted to the Office of Property Management, Office of Federal Supply and Services, GSA, which consolidates the data.

Transfer to new custodian upon completion of sale, trade, or donation proceedings, or acceptance of purchase money mortgage.

GENERAL RECORDS SCHEDULE 5

Budget Preparation, Presentation, and Apportionment Records

Budget and apportionment records include the various files accumulated in an agency in the course of formulating its budget for submission to the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) and to the Congress; in defending its requests for funds before both bodies; and after enactment of an appropriation bill, in ensuring that the funds are used in such a way as to suffice for the appropriate period of time. The funds are made available to the agency by OMB, usually in quarterly portions, and the agencies must indicate and justify regularly to OMB their proposed rate of expenditure. After the funds have been made available to the agency, its own controls over the funds are in its expenditure accounting records (Schedule 7), and detailed information relative to expenditures is contained in the accountable officers' accounts (Schedule 6).

This schedule applies to certain records of budget preparation and apportionment in all agencies, but does not apply to records of OMB and the Department of Treasury reflecting the Government-wide budget responsibilities of those agencies. Records created prior to January 1, 1921, must be offered to the National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) before applying the disposition instructions.

Agency budget records are normally created at all levels of agency organization. They show proposals from all operating levels as well as the bureau-wide and agency-wide coordinating work done by formally organized budget offices. Therefore the records consist of detailed work papers and budgetary statements developed by single operating units, the more significant budget statements and related papers representing consolidated submissions prepared at the bureau or equivalent level and forwarded to the agency budget officer, and the records at the highest level pertaining to the budget submission for the entire agency.

The nature of the budget presentation itself is standardized by OMB which prescribes format and procedures for all Federal agencies. However, the internal reports and papers which support the budget and are used in its preparation vary from agency to agency. The budget submission, a record copy of which is usually designated by the agency, is a duplicate of the set of papers submitted to OMB. These include summary statements of appropriations and expenditures, statements of contract authorizations, and statements of receipts as well as narrative summary statements which highlight the principal features of the agency requests and immediately related supporting documents. The narrative presents the policies and the programs of the agency which the budgetary requests are to support. In addition to the summaries, the submission includes schedules of obligations and statements pertaining to each type of appropriation and fund under which the individual agency operates. Finally, OMB requires additional supporting data pertaining to objects of expenditure, particular agency programs, and figures based on the cost of various type of service operations, such as personnel and payrolling activities.

1. Budget Correspondence Files.

Correspondence files in formally organized budget offices pertaining to routine administration, internal procedures, and other matters not covered elsewhere in this schedule, EXCLUDING files relating to agency policy and procedure maintained in formally organized budget offices.

Destroy when 2 years old. (GRS 5, 1952, items 1 and 3)

2. Budget Background Records.

Cost statements, rough data and similar materials accumulated in the preparation of annual budget estimates, including duplicates of budget estimates and justifications and related appropriation language sheets, narrative statements, and related schedules; and originating offices' copies of reports submitted to budget offices.

Destroy 1 year after the close of the fiscal year covered by the budget. (NC1-GRS-81-13 item 2)

3. Budget Reports Files.

Periodic reports on the status of appropriation accounts and apportionment.

a. Annual report (end of fiscal year).

Destroy when 5 years old. (GRS 5, 1952, item 5a)

b. All other reports.

Destroy 3 years after the end of the fiscal year. (NC-64-75-2 item 5b)

4. Budget Apportionment Files. [See note after this item.]

Apportionment and reapportionment schedules, proposing quarterly obligations under each authorized appropriation.

Destroy 2 years after the close of the fiscal year. (GRS 5, 1952, item 6)

[NOTE: The following budget files are not covered by the GRS:

- * Budget office correspondence or subject files documenting budget policy and procedures and reflecting policy decisions affecting expenditures for agency programs.
- * Budget estimates and justifications of formally organized budget offices at the bureau (or equivalent) or higher organizational level. Depending on agency recordkeeping practices and patterns of documentation, these records may have archival value and must be scheduled by submitting a Standard Form 115 to NARA. (GRS 5, 1952, items 1 and 2)]

GENERAL RECORDS SCHEDULE 6

Accountable Officers' Accounts Records

This general schedule covers accountable officers' returns and related records, including records under the cognizance of the General Accounting Office (GAO). This schedule does not apply to the copies of schedules and related papers held by the Chief Disbursing Officer of the Treasury. Any records created prior to January 1, 1921, must be offered to the National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) before applying these disposition instructions.

Accountable officers' accounts include record copies of all records concerned with the accounting for, availability, and status of public funds. There are several types of "accountable officers," such as: (a) the collecting officer, who receives monies owed to the Federal Government and ensures that it is credited to the proper account; (b) the disbursing officer who is responsible for providing documentation to GAO, since he/she accomplishes the actual payment of public monies to proper Federal creditors; and (c) the certifying officer, whose signature on a summary attests to the authenticity of vouchers listed on the schedule.

Disbursements for most civilian Government agencies are made by the Chief Disbursing Officer of the Treasury, who heads the Division of Disbursement of the Bureau of Government Financial Operations within the Department of Treasury. Since July 1949, disbursements have been made for most agencies on the basis of certified schedules, with the detailed vouchers transferred to GAO from the agency or held in agency space if a site audit was involved. This procedure was extended and confirmed by GAO General Regulation No. 115, issued January 29, 1952, which promulgated a standard form voucher and schedule of payments (Standard Form (SF) 1166 and SF 1167) for use by all agencies, effective July 1, 1952, and formally eliminated the transfer of vouchers of the Chief Disbursing Officer of the Treasury.

This schedule includes records held for onsite audit by GAO, as described in item 1a below. Under onsite audit, vouchers, contracts, schedules, statements of transactions and accountability, and other related supporting documents are retained in agency space for GAO auditors. Section 5 of the Post Office Department Financial Control Act of 1950 and Section 117(b) of the Budget and Accounting Procedures Act of 1950 (whenever the Comptroller General determines that an audit shall be conducted at the site) require agencies to retain these records, which are under GAO cognizance. GAO has given general authority to the agencies, if the records are no longer required for administrative purposes, to transfer all audited records and any unaudited records more than 1 full fiscal year old to Federal records centers. However, to transfer unaudited accountable officers' accounts less than one year old, permission must be obtained from the Director, Records Management, GAO. Because the records previously transferred to GAO are retained in the agency, some agencies have eliminated the creation of memorandum copies as described in item 1b of this schedule.

Records relating to the availability, collection, and custody of funds include (1) the appropriation warrants, (2) other documents that deposit funds into the Treasury, and (3) documents that provide accountable officers with status reports on funds in their custody, such as the proofs of depository account and statements of funds to their credit. Agency copies of these deposit and status documents are so intimately related to the accounts of these officers that they are included in this schedule. The

Expenditure Accounting Records

Expenditure accounting records are the ledgers and related documents maintained by all Federal agencies to show in summary fashion how their funds, appropriated and nonappropriated, are spent after allotment by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB), and the sources and nature of any receipts. The key records are the general ledger accounts, which constitute, as a unit, the heart of the agency accounting system. These ledgers summarize the financial status and financial transactions of the agency, showing the current status of funds available for expenditure, the amounts due and collected for the account of the Government, accumulated expenditures and liabilities, and the values of stock, equipment, and other property in agency custody. They are controls that serve not only as central fiscal records, but also as a primary source of data for top management concerned with agency solvency, expenditures, and program costs.

The general ledgers are subdivided into arbitrarily created account titles, which are based on programs, projects, costs, and funds. Supporting them are a group of subsidiary ledgers and documents further detailing the information in the general ledgers or serving as posting media to the ledgers themselves. To the extent that they reflect appropriation expenditures, the general ledgers are supported by allotment ledgers, which at all times show the current unobligated balance of funds allotted for specific agency purposes and thereby provide a safeguard against overexpenditure by operating officials. The allotment ledgers are general controls over expenditures, and they, in turn, summarize and are supported by more detailed controls that normally take the form of project or job orders that authorize exact and specific expenditures.

The sources of data that are posted to the ledger files are somewhat diverse, but they fall into two general groups:

- a. Copies of various obligation or expenditure documents, such as vouchers and schedules, that flow through the ledger unit for posting.
- b. Journal vouchers and similar internal control documents created to authorize and convey entries to the general ledger.

As the centralized fiscal record, the general ledgers ultimately summarize stores, plant, and cost accounting data, which are treated in a separate schedule, but these are only several aspects of the total ledger accounts. Consequently, the ledgers are the source of the data included in the basic apportionment reports to the OMB and the Department of Treasury, and overall reports of agency fiscal condition which may be required by the General Accounting Office (GAO) (Schedules 6 and 8). The adequacy for audit purposes of the general ledger accounts is normally considered by GAO auditors to be indicative of the agency's entire accounting system and the reliability of its financial data.

This schedule does not apply to such records maintained on a Government-wide basis by the Department of Treasury and the OMB, or to those formerly maintained by the GAO. Any records created prior to January 1, 1921, must be offered to the National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) before applying these disposition instructions.

General Records Schedule 7

When a claim is filed by or against the Government, records relating to the claim should be retained without regard to the otherwise applicable records retention schedules that would have authorized destruction of the records prior to the time when the claim is finally resolved, unless the agency has received written approval from the GAO (44 U.S.C. Section 3309 and 62 Comp. Gen. 42 (1982)). A claim is finally resolved: (1) when it is disallowed and the time for appealing the denial or instituting suit on the claim has expired; or (2) when it is allowed and paid or the amount offered in compromise is accepted and paid; or (3) when the amount found due and owing proves uncollectible because time limits for collecting the indebtedness through legal proceedings or by way of setoff have expired.

GENERAL RECORDS SCHEDULE 8

Stores, Plant, and Cost Accounting Records

Specialized stores, plant, and cost accounting records are maintained by most agencies, particularly those with extensive plant and stock inventories. These records, which reflect the net monetary worth of an agency and its assets, are periodically reconciled with the supply data found in stock inventory records, but they do not include procurement papers. Any records created prior to January 1, 1921, must be offered to the National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) before applying these disposition instructions.

a. Stores Accounting. These records are maintained to provide personal accountability for the receipt and custody of materials and to document the monetary worth of such materials. Completed copies of material movement documents show custody, and stores accounting data are normally reviewed and consolidated by means of records and returns submitted to agency headquarters. The information is used for procurement planning, budget, and other management purposes. These records do not include records reflecting the physical movements of material to and from storage points, although they may be involved in posting. Summary data on plant value are also available in pertinent ledger accounts.

b. Plant Accounting. These records document principal characteristics of each item of physical plant and equipment, including real property. They constitute primarily a type of inventory control, but in addition are a principal source of data on the capital investment in physical plant (as distinguished from maintenance or operating costs) and other items not normally represented in a store or stock inventory system. Summary data on plant value are also maintained.

c. Cost Accounting. These records are designed to show accumulated data on the costs of agency operation, the direct and indirect costs of production, administration, and performance of program functions of the agency. The data, which are normally accumulated by means of cost reports and statistics accumulated by operating personnel, are ultimately integrated into the accounts concerned with operating and program costs. Material cost information is collected by posting requisitions for material or procurement documents to intermediate records, and labor cost information is obtained by charging time expended on individual jobs and projects assigned control numbers for cost control purposes. Cost data are used in evaluating economy of agency operation and in preparing budget estimates.

GENERAL RECORDS SCHEDULE 10

Motor Vehicle and Aircraft Maintenance and Operation Records

These records pertain to the management, maintenance, and operation of motor vehicles and aircraft used by agencies.

Motor vehicles. Items 1 through 7 pertain to motor vehicles used by agencies. 41 CFR 101-34 prescribes policies and procedures. Certain cost and inventory control forms have been developed, but they are not mandatory. This portion of the schedule covers agency records pertaining to the daily use and operation of the vehicles.

In general, records pertaining to motor vehicles reflect a threefold responsibility: (a) the accumulation of cost and operating data for internal accounting and management purposes and for reports submitted to the Federal Acquisition Service (SF 82, Agency Report of Motor Vehicle Data); (b) the maintenance of the vehicles themselves; and (c) protecting the interest of the Government in accident claims against it. The records themselves consist of chauffeur service logs and reports, vehicle repair and maintenance checkoff sheets, cost ledgers, and claims correspondence and forms.

Specifically excluded from this schedule are previously approved records series from the Federal Aviation Administration, Department of the Air Force, Department of the Navy, and the Department of the Army.

[Note: Some of these records may be necessary for the investigation and preparation of accident/incident reports. Agencies conducting their own internal accident/incident investigation congruent with those conducted by the Federal Aviation Administration and the National Transportation Safety Board must maintain those records in accordance with item 13 of this schedule. GENERAL RECORDS SCHEDULE 15

Housing Records

The housing records covered by this schedule include files and data accumulated in the maintenance and management of Federally owned and operated housing facilities within the continental United States for civilian employees of the Federal Government, military personnel, and others eligible by law to reside in the projects. These facilities may consist of low cost quarters located either within or adjacent to the confines of Federal installations or in a critical defense or other area. Maintenance records reflect repair and general upkeep of the housing project or units. Management involves the assignment and rental of units, rent collection and other fiscal operations, and overall supervision. However, rental charges for military personnel are normally represented by checkages made against pay accounts.

Certain housing records are subject to the provisions of other General Records Schedules. Supply and fiscal files are covered by General Records Schedules 3 and 6. Schedules 1, 2, 8, and 10 may also be involved. Many records of agent cashiers serving as housing rental managers are similar to those of other Federal accountable officers and are disposable under General Records Schedule 6.

GENERAL RECORDS SCHEDULE 16

Administrative Management Records

This schedule provides for the disposal of certain records relating to administrative management activities in Federal agencies, excluding records of operating personnel, budget, accounting, and printing functions, which are covered by other General Records Schedules. Included within the scope of the schedule are disposable records created in the course of organizational planning, development, and simplification of procedures; records management activities; and administration of management improvement programs. General Records Schedule 1 (Items 12 and 13) provide for the disposition of case files on individuals involved in incentive award and similar types of management improvement programs. Any records created prior to January 1, 1939, must be offered to the National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) before applying these disposition instructions.

The organizational locations and titles of administrative management units vary from agency to agency. They may be scattered at numerous levels or locations, or may be centralized. For the purposes of this schedule, the nomenclature standards set forth by the Senate Committee on Government Operations in Senate Report No. 245, 80th Congress, 1st session, are followed: the first organizational level within an agency is the bureau level; subordinate components are, successively, division, branch, section, and unit.

This schedule is based on the presumption that management activities are carried on by a specialized person or unit with, at least, division-wide and usually bureau-wide or agency-wide responsibilities or by a group of such persons or units in an agency, although its provisions are applicable to exactly comparable records of agencies without such formal assignments of responsibility. Many similar or comparable records created at lower organizational levels or in field offices vary so greatly in content, value, and arrangement that they are not covered by this schedule.

Because of the nature of the activities documented by administrative management records, a relatively large proportion of them is of continuing value. Files with potential archival value are not covered by the General Records Schedules. They must be scheduled individually by submission of a Standard Form (SF) 115 to NARA. These records include organizational charts and reorganization studies, functional statements, delegations of authority, and agency histories. However, related temporary or ephemeral materials include working papers that do not have a direct bearing on the transaction, intermediate drafts of documents and worksheets that do not represent significant basic steps in the preparation of final drafts, letters or memoranda of transmittal and acknowledgment, routing slips, and extra copies of documents.

[NOTE: Record sets of formal directives, procedural and operating manuals, publications, and management improvement reports submitted to the Office of Management and Budget (OMB), and the case files documenting their development are potentially permanent records and must be scheduled by submission of an SF 115 to NARA. (NC1-64-77-8 items 1a & 2a)]

GENERAL RECORDS SCHEDULE 17

Cartographic, Aerial Photographic, Architectural, and Engineering Records

Federal agencies create or receive cartographic, aerial photographic, architectural, and engineering design records in connection with their official activities. Many of these records have continuing historical value after they are no longer being used by the agency. Descriptions of both historically valuable and temporary records were formerly included in General Records Schedule 17, Cartographic, Remote Sensing Imagery, and Related Records, and in General Records Schedule 22, Design and Construction Drawings and Related Records. The General Records Schedules have been revised to cover only temporary records, and this schedule covers temporary records formerly included in those two schedules. Guidelines for identifying and scheduling the records of continuing value are now provided in "Managing Cartographic and Architectural Records: An Instructional Guide." The Guide must be used in conjunction with the General Records Schedule to ensure proper disposition of all cartographic, aerial photographic, architectural, and engineering design records held by an agency.

This schedule relates to cartographic records prepared during intermediate stages of publication, unannotated aerial photographic negatives and prints, and architectural and engineering drawings. Cartographic and aerial photographic records created before January 1, 1950, and architectural or engineering drawings created before January 1, 1921, must be brought to the attention of the National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) before applying the disposition instructions in this schedule.

1. Cartographic Records Prepared During Intermediate Stages of Publication.

Scribed plastic sheets, color separation sheets, composites prepared as a step in the making of color separation sheets, photographic negatives, glass plate negatives, enlargements or reductions, color pulls, proof copies subject to final revision, "correction file" maps annotated to show corrections to be incorporated into the next edition of the published map, and similar items whose informational content is duplicated by the final published map.

GENERAL RECORDS SCHEDULE 18

Security and Protective Services Records

Security and protective services records include the various files created by agencies to control and protect classified information; to protect Government facilities from unauthorized entry, sabotage, or loss; to ensure the adequacy of protective measures at privately owned plants given security cognizance by the Government; to determine loyalty and fitness of individuals employed by, or seeking employment from the Government; and to develop and implement plans for the protection of life and property under emergency conditions. Included are selected files of offices having Government-wide or agencywide responsibility for security and protective services programs. Also included are files of security units, guard forces, and other organizational elements documenting the control of classified information, access to facilities, and like matters.

This schedule authorizes for disposal records documenting administrative actions relating to the above functions. Records documenting Government-wide or agencywide security and protective services planning and programming, reflecting basic overall policies and determinations are not authorized for disposal by this schedule. Variations among agencies in methods of implementing statutory requirements for security and protective services result in dissimilarities in program documentation. The application of standard techniques of filing and disposition to such records through the medium of a General Records Schedule is therefore impractical. Any records created prior to January 1, 1921, must be offered to the National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) before applying these disposition instructions.

GENERAL RECORDS SCHEDULE 20

Electronic Records

This schedule provides disposal authorization for certain electronic records and for specified paper, microform, or other hard copy records that are integrally related to the electronic records.

This schedule applies to electronic records created or received by Federal agencies including those managed for agencies by contractors. It covers records created by computer operators, programmers, analysts, systems administrators, and all personnel with access to a computer. Disposition authority is provided for certain master files, including some tables that are components of data base management systems, and certain files created from master files for specific purposes. In addition, this schedule covers certain electronic records produced by end users in office automation applications. These disposition authorities apply to the categories of electronic records described in GRS 20, regardless of the type of computer used to create or store these records.

GRS 20 does not cover all electronic records. Disposition may not be carried out for electronic records not covered by GRS 20 unless authorized by a Standard Form (SF) 115, Request for Records Disposition Authority, that has been approved by the National Archives and Records Administration (NARA). The records covered by several items in this schedule are authorized for erasure or deletion when the agency determines that they are no longer needed for administrative, legal, audit, or other operational purposes. NARA cannot establish a more specific retention that would be appropriate in all applications. Each agency should, when appropriate, determine a more specific disposition instruction, such as "Delete after X update cycles" or "Delete when X years old," for inclusion in its records disposition directives or manual. NARA approval is not needed to set retention periods for records in the GRS that are authorized for destruction when no longer needed.

Items 1a (in part), 2a, and 16 of this schedule apply to hard copy records used in conjunction with electronic files. Item 1 also covers printouts produced to test, use, and maintain master files. Items 10 and 11 of this schedule should be applied to special purpose programs and documentation for the referenced electronic records whatever the medium in which such programs and documentation exist.

This schedule has been revised to expand the authority agencies have to apply previously approved schedules to electronic records; grant broader authority to agencies to dispose of hard copy records that have been converted to an electronic format; and provide disposition instructions for ad hoc printouts and for documentation associated with permanent electronic records. Additionally, because copies of system security records are now covered by GRS 24, item 5, a cross-reference has been provided for item 11b to that effect. The items affected by the revisions to this GRS 20 schedule are 2, 3, 3.1, 11, and 16.

Electronic versions of most records authorized for disposal elsewhere in the GRS may be deleted under the provisions of item 3 of GRS 20. See also 36 CFR Part 1234 for NARA regulations on electronic records management.

GENERAL RECORDS SCHEDULE 21

Audiovisual Records

This schedule covers audiovisual and related records created by or for agencies of the Federal Government as well as those acquired in the course of business. For audiovisual records that are not described in this schedule, agencies must request disposition authority by submitting a Standard Form (SF) 115, Request for Records Disposition Authority, to the National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) Life Cycle Management Division (NWML).

Audiovisual records include still and motion picture photography, graphic materials, and sound and video recordings. Related documentation includes (1) production files or other files documenting the creation, justification, ownership, and rights to the records and (2) finding aids used to identify or access the records.

This schedule does not cover: (1) cartographic records, (2) remote sensing imagery recorded on film or magnetic tape, or (3) microform copies of textual records. Disposable cartographic records and remote sensing imagery recorded on film are covered by GRS 17; temporary computerized data are covered by GRS 20 and GRS 23; and microform copies of textual records that have been authorized by NARA for destruction need not be separately scheduled, in accordance with 36 CFR 1230.10(b).

This schedule does not include descriptions of permanent or potentially permanent records. Guidance about the identification, maintenance, use, and disposition of potentially permanent audiovisual records is provided in the NARA publication, "Managing Audiovisual Records: An Instructional Guide" and NARA records management regulations at 36 CFR 1228.184, Audiovisual Records.

The word "destroy" is used to authorize the destruction of data or information. Erasable media such as audio tape should be reused whenever practical. Silver-bearing photographic film must be destroyed in accordance with 41 CFR 101-45.10, "Recovery of Precious Metals."

This General Records Schedule authorizes the disposal of certain records without further concurrence from NARA. Agencies are encouraged to include specific series descriptions for such records in their comprehensive schedules while citing the applicable disposition instruction from this General Records Schedule as the authority for destroying the records.

GENERAL RECORDS SCHEDULE 22

Inspector General Records

Prior to issuance of the 1998 edition, the General Records Schedules included in GRS 22 coverage of investigative and audit case files maintained in the Offices of Inspector General (OIG) of civilian agencies other than the Central Intelligence Agency. The National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) first issued a general records schedule for OIG records in 1986. Over a period of ten years, NARA (on a case by case basis) granted a number of agencies authority to deviate from the provisions of GRS 22, which in many instances involved scheduling some or all of the records in a series as permanent.

A study of the disposition of OIG records in Federal agencies conducted by NARA demonstrated that GRS 22 does not provide effective disposition authority for most agencies' OIG audit and investigation case files. The many exceptions, exclusions, and deviations approved for agency use demonstrate that for practical purposes the GRS standards no longer had Government-wide application. Also, in some agencies the OIG has assumed additional specialized responsibilities (e.g., the conduct of external audits) which were not reflected in GRS 22. As a result of the study, NARA determined that the disposition of OIG records should not be governed by a General Records Schedule. This approach will ensure that all agency OIG records are properly appraised by NARA.

GRS 22 is therefore WITHDRAWN.

GENERAL RECORDS SCHEDULE 23

Records Common to Most Offices within Agencies

This schedule provides for the disposal of certain records common to most offices in Federal agencies. It covers administrative subject files; facilitative records such as suspense files, tracking and control records, calendars, and indexes; and transitory documents. This schedule does not apply to any materials that the agency has determined to be nonrecord or to materials, such as calendars or work schedules, claimed as personal.

Office Administrative Files described under item 1 are records retained by an originating office as its record of initiation of an action, request, or response to requests for information. This item may be applied only to separate administrative files containing such records as copies of documents submitted to other offices for action including budget feeder documents, purchase orders, and training requests. Item 1 may not be applied to files that also contain program records, and it may not be applied by an office that receives and takes action on documents submitted by other offices.

1. Office Administrative Files. [See note after this item.]

Records accumulated by individual offices that relate to the internal administration or housekeeping activities of the office rather than the functions for which the office exists. In general, these records relate to the office organization, staffing, procedures, and communications, including facsimile machine logs; the expenditure of funds, including budget records; day-to-day administration of office personnel including training and travel; supplies and office services and equipment requests and receipts; and the use of office space and utilities. They may also include copies of internal activity and workload reports (including work progress, statistical, and narrative reports prepared in the office and forwarded to higher levels) and other materials that do not serve as unique documentation of the programs of the office.

Destroy when 2 years old. (N1-GRS-98-2 item 43)

[NOTE: This schedule is not applicable to the record copies of organizational charts, functional statements, and related records that document the essential organization, staffing, and procedures of the office, which must be scheduled prior to disposition by submitting a Standard Form (SF) 115 to the National Archives and Records Administration (NARA). (N1-GRS-98-2 item 43 Note)]

2-4. Reserved.

5. Schedules of Daily Activities.

Calendars, appointment books, schedules, logs, diaries, and other records documenting meetings, appointments, telephone calls, trips, visits, and other activities by Federal employees while serving in an official capacity, EXCLUDING materials determined to be personal.

- a. Records containing substantive information relating to official activities, the substance of which has not been incorporated into official files, EXCLUDING records relating to the official activities of high Government officials. [See note after item 5a.]

Destroy or delete when 2 years old. (N1-GRS-87-19 item 5a)

[NOTE: High level officials include the heads of departments and independent agencies; their deputies and assistants; the heads of program offices and staff offices including assistant secretaries, administrators, and commissioners; directors of offices, bureaus, or equivalent; principal regional officials; staff assistants to those aforementioned officials, such as special assistants, confidential assistants, and administrative assistants; and career Federal employees, political appointees, and officers of the Armed Forces serving in equivalent or comparable positions. Unique substantive records relating to the activities of these individuals must be scheduled by submission of an SF 115 to NARA. (N1-GRS-87-19 item 5a Note)]

- b. Records documenting routine activities containing no substantive information and records containing substantive information, the substance of which has been incorporated into organized files.

Destroy or delete when no longer needed for convenience of reference. (N1-GRS-87-19 item 5b)

6. Suspense Files.

Documents arranged in chronological order as a reminder that an action is required on a given date or that a reply to action is expected and, if not received, should be traced on a given date.

- a. A note or other reminder to take action.

Destroy after action is taken. (N1-GRS-80-8 item 3a)

- b. The file copy or an extra copy of an outgoing communication, filed by the date on which a reply is expected.

Withdraw documents when reply is received. (1) If suspense copy is an extra copy, destroy immediately. (2) If suspense copy is the file copy, incorporate it into the official files. (N1-GRS-80-8 item 3b)

7. Transitory Files.

Records of short-term (180 days or less) interest, including in electronic form (e.g., email messages), which have minimal or no documentary or evidential value. Included are such records as:

- * Routine requests for information or publications and copies of replies which require no administrative action, no policy decision, and no special compilation or research for reply;

- * Originating office copies of letters of transmittal that do not add any information to that contained in the transmitted material, and receiving office copy if filed separately from transmitted material;
- * Quasi-official notices including memoranda and other records that do not serve as the basis of official actions, such as notices of holidays or charity and welfare fund appeals, bond campaigns, and similar records;
- * Records documenting routine activities containing no substantive information, such as routine notifications of meetings, scheduling of work-related trips and visits, and other scheduling related activities;
- * Suspense and tickler files or "to-do" and task lists that serve as a reminder that an action is required on a given date or that a reply to action is expected, and if not received, should be traced on a given date.

Destroy immediately, or when no longer needed for reference, or according to a predetermined time period or business rule (e.g., implementing the auto-delete feature of electronic mail systems). (N1-GRS-04-5, item 1)

8. Tracking and Control Records.

Logs, registers, and other records used to control or document the status of correspondence, reports, or other records that are authorized for destruction by the GRS or a NARA-approved SF 115.

Destroy or delete when 2 years old, or 2 years after the date of the latest entry, whichever is applicable. (N1-GRS-98-2 item 45)

9. Finding Aids (or Indexes).

Indexes, lists, registers, and other finding aids used only to provide access to records authorized for destruction by the GRS or a NARA-approved SF 115, EXCLUDING records containing abstracts or other information that can be used as an information source apart from the related records.

Destroy or delete with the related records. (N1-GRS-98-2 item 46)

GENERAL RECORDS SCHEDULE 24

Information Technology Operations and Management Records

This schedule provides disposal authorization for certain files created and maintained in the operation and management of information technology (IT) and related services. As defined in the Information Technology Management Reform Act of 1996 (now the Clinger-Cohen Act), "information technology" includes computers, ancillary equipment, software, firmware and similar procedures, services (including support services), and related resources.

This GRS does not cover all records relating to information technology operations and management. Offices with responsibility for IT operations also maintain administrative records covered by other GRS and records not in the GRS that must be scheduled by the agency. In addition, this GRS does not apply to system data or information content, which must be scheduled separately by submitting an SF 115, Request for Records Disposition Authority, to NARA.

The disposition instructions apply to records regardless of physical form or characteristics. Records may be maintained on paper, in microform, or electronically. Dispositions apply, however, only to records that are maintained as described in each item or subitem. If documents are part of a larger case file or recordkeeping system that contains records not covered in this GRS, agencies must separately schedule that file or system by submitting an SF 115 to NARA. If records covered by more than one item in this schedule are maintained together in one file or recordkeeping system, agencies must retain the records for the longest retention period authorized for those items.

Note that GRS 20, Electronic Records, remains in effect. GRS 20 covers certain temporary files associated with data base management. This new schedule supplements GRS 20 by providing disposal authority for temporary records relating to overall IT management, as opposed to the operation and use of specific systems. NARA is reviewing alternatives to GRS 20 and will develop revised requirements as it explores new approaches to managing electronic records.

GENERAL RECORDS SCHEDULE 25

Ethics Program Records

Title IV of the Ethics in Government Act of 1978 as amended, 5 U.S.C. appendix, title IV, authorizes the development of an executive branch-wide ethics program to ensure that decisions made by employees are neither tainted by, nor appear to be tainted by, any question of conflicts of interest. Under the relevant sections of title IV and Office of Government Ethics (OGE) executive branch-wide regulation at 5 C.F.R. part 2638, each agency is required to establish an ethics program. This schedule covers records documenting the activities of executive branch agency ethics program offices and provides disposition for financial disclosure reports; ethics agreements; outside employment and activity records; referrals of violations of criminal conflict of interest statutes; ethics determination, advice, consultation, and training records; and other commonly held ethics program records. Records pertaining to legislative branch and judicial ethics programs, the Hatch Act, the Whistleblower Protection Act, procurement integrity and other areas often associated with, but not expressly under the authority of executive branch ethics programs, are not covered by this schedule.

Master lists of financial disclosure report filers, individuals requesting outside employment and activities approval, and other types of ethics-related master lists are not included in this schedule. GENERAL RECORDS SCHEDULE 27

Records of the Chief Information Officer

This schedule provides disposal authorization for certain records created and maintained by Federal Chief Information Officers (CIO) and their program offices. This schedule applies to the records of CIOs at agency or departmental headquarters as well as those of deputy and subordinate CIOs at the bureau or field office level. This schedule does not apply to officials with Government wide responsibilities for information resources management (IRM) and information technology (IT) governance.

In accordance with the Clinger Cohen Act (originally the Information Technology Management Reform Act), CIOs of 24 major departments and agencies have IRM as their primary duty. They are responsible for advising and assisting the agency's executive with IT acquisition and management; developing and maintaining the agency's IT architecture; promoting the efficient design and operation of the agency's major information resources management processes; monitoring the performance of IT programs of the agency; and developing the knowledge and skill of IT staff. CIOs may also lead, coordinate, or participate in programs to support the mandates of the Paperwork Reduction Act, Government Paperwork Elimination Act, Federal Records Act, E Government Act of 2002, Privacy Act, Government Performance and Results Act, and other Federal laws and regulations relating to IRM.

This schedule does not cover all records relating to the work of CIOs. CIOs are often responsible for programs and activities whose records are already covered by an approved GRS. Records not described in this or any other GRS must be scheduled by submission to NARA of an SF 115, Request for Records Disposition Authority. If records are part of a larger case file or recordkeeping system that contains records not covered in this schedule, agencies must separately schedule those records or systems by submitting an SF 115 to NARA. If records covered by more than one item in this schedule are maintained together in one file or recordkeeping system, agencies must retain the records for the longest retention period authorized for those items.

The disposition instructions apply to records regardless of physical form or characteristics. Records may be maintained in any format on any medium.

Note that GRS 20, Electronic Records, remains in effect. GRS 20 covers certain temporary files associated with database management. This schedule supplements GRS 20 by providing disposal authority for records relating to the administration of a CIO's office, as opposed to the operation and use of specific systems. This schedule does not apply to the data or information content of IT systems. Records relating to specific systems that support or document the agency's mission must be scheduled individually by submission of an SF 115 to NARA.

1. Information Technology (IT) Program Planning Records

Records relating to the development of agency IT programs. Included are records that document agency-wide IT goals; specify milestones to be achieved; identify performance measures for the agency's IT portfolio; or summarize the underlying principles and approach by which the agency will plan for and manage its IT resources. Records may include strategic and tactical plans documenting the implementation and maintenance of IT systems in support of the agency mission and also may include records supporting formally issued plans, such as records of concurrence, comments, clearances, justifications, and other issuance records.

Cut off annually. Destroy/delete when 7 years old or when no longer needed, whichever is later. (N1-GRS-04-4 item 1)

[Note: This item does not apply to the data content or design of individual IT systems. Records relating to specific mission-related systems must be scheduled individually by submission of an SF 115 to NARA. (N1-GRS-04-4 item 1 Note)]

2. Enterprise Architecture Records

Records identifying the IT systems and networks required to perform the agency's mission and the transitional processes required to implement comprehensive programs to support that mission. Records may include technical reference models, diagrams, graphics, models, and narratives that describe the agency's baseline architecture, target architecture, and related sequencing plans.

Cut off when superseded by a new iteration of the enterprise architecture. Destroy/delete when 7 years old or when no longer needed, whichever is later. (N1-GRS-04-4 item 2)

3. IT Capital Investment Records

Records documenting the integration of IT investments with agency-wide strategic planning, budgeting, procurement, and management. Records include routine and periodic reports on IT capital investments; capital asset plans; business cases for major investments, systems, acquisitions, or operational assets identified in the agency's capital investment portfolio; and clearance and review records.

Cut off annually. Destroy/delete when 7 years old or when no longer needed, whichever is later. (N1-GRS-04-4 item 3)

[Note: Records needed to support contracts are scheduled under GRS 3. (N1-GRS-04-4 item 3 Note)]

4. Legal and Regulatory Compliance Records

Records documenting agency compliance with Federal IRM laws and regulations, including systems and reports created to support compliance with the mandates of OMB, GAO, and other Federal IRM and IT oversight agencies.

5. CIO Committee Records

Records include meeting minutes, summaries, agendas, and transcripts; reports, studies, and publications; membership records; correspondence, mailing, and distribution records; and other administrative committee records.

Cut off annually. Destroy/delete when 5 years old. (N1-GRS-04-4 item 5)

Cut off annually. Destroy/delete when 5 years old. (N1-GRS-04-4 item 6)

[Note: Official agency policy records generated by the CIO are not covered by this item. They are considered agency policy and issuance records and are scheduled elsewhere. (N1-GRS-04-4 item 6 Note)]

7. Schedules of Daily Activities

Calendars, appointment books, schedules, logs, diaries, and other records documenting meetings, appointments, telephone calls, trips, visits, and other activities by the CIO while serving in an official capacity, EXCLUDING materials determined to be personal and those that have been incorporated into other recordkeeping systems.

Cut off annually. Destroy/delete when not less than 2 years but not more than 5 years old. (N1-GRS-04-4 item 7)

Frequently Asked Questions about General Records Schedule 27, Records of the Chief Information Officer

1. To whom does General Records Schedule 27 apply?

GRS 27 provides disposal authorization for certain records created and maintained by Federal Chief Information Officers (CIO). This schedule applies to the records of CIOs at agency or departmental headquarters as well as those of deputy and subordinate CIOs at the bureau or field office level.

2. Does this schedule describe all of the records of Federal CIOs?

Not necessarily. CIOs are often responsible for programs and activities whose records are covered by another General Records Schedule or approved agency records schedule.

3. How does this schedule differ from GRS 20, Electronic Records, and GRS 24, Information Technology (IT) Operations and Management Records?

GRS 20 and GRS 24 cover certain records associated with the day to day operation of individual information systems and related support services. GRS 27 provides disposal authority for records documenting the administration of the office of the CIO and its agency wide information resources management.

4. How does GRS 27/4, “Legal and Regulatory Compliance Records,” differ from GRS 24/1, “Oversight and Compliance Files”?

GRS 27/4 covers CIO records that document an agency’s compliance with Federal laws and regulations governing information resources management. GRS 24/1 covers records that document an office’s or a system’s compliance with the IT policies, directives, and plans that are typically developed or issued by the agency CIO.

5. Does this schedule cover records related to IT security?

Insofar as they document agency wide efforts to comply with the laws and regulations that govern IT security, such CIO records would be covered by 27/4, “Legal and Regulatory Compliance Records.” However, records that document the security of individual IT systems including vulnerability assessments, audits, risk management analyses, and security plans are covered by GRS 24/5, “Files Related to Maintaining the Security of Systems and Data.” Records related to specific security breaches or incidents are covered by GRS 24/7, “Computer Security Incident Handling, Reporting and Follow up Records.”

6. Does this schedule cover system data?

This schedule does not apply to the data or information content of IT systems. Records relating to specific systems that support or document the agency’s mission must be scheduled individually by submission of an SF 115 to the National Archives.

7. Do records have to be arranged in these categories?

Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs) about the General Records Schedules

1. What are the General Records Schedules (GRS)?

The General Records Schedules (GRS) are issued by the Archivist of the United States to provide agencies with disposition authority for records common to several or all agencies of the Federal Government. “The GRS” refers to the entire set of schedules, but “GRS” is also commonly used to refer to a single schedule within the whole. These schedules authorize, after specified periods of time, the destruction of temporary records or the transfer of permanent records to the National Archives of the United States (NARA). (36 CFR 1227.10)

2. What are the “New General Records Schedules”?

The New General Records Schedules are schedules that are the product of NARA’s 5 year project to update and revise the GRS. This project came out of OMB/NARA M 12 18, Managing Government Records Directive, and is being carried out by the GRS Team in the Office of the Chief Records Officer at NARA.

The new schedules will eventually completely replace the old GRS chapters with an organizational structure based on functional areas. New General Records Schedules are identifiable by their X.X number, as opposed to the old Chapter X identifier. Eventually, the entire old GRS will be replaced with new schedules organized as follows. Schedules bearing “DAA” numbers are published in this Transmittal. All other schedules are still pending.

3. Is there a NARA glossary of terms and definitions related to the GRS?

There is no glossary of terms specifically related to the GRS. Terms and definitions relevant to the GRS can be found in 36 CFR 1220.18. The FAQs for an individual new GRS may contain definitions specific to that schedule.

4. When must agencies apply the GRS?

FAQs about the General Records Schedules

There are situations in which agencies must apply a GRS and situations in which an agency may either apply a GRS or request a deviation (36 CFR 1227.12). These situations are:

If...	...then...
the particular GRS states that its provisions must be followed without exception	your agency must follow the disposition instructions in the GRS, regardless of whether your agency has existing schedules. Your agency may not request a deviation from a GRS that states the provisions must be followed without exception.
the particular GRS allows agencies to use existing agency schedules	your agency may follow the disposition instructions in either the GRS or the existing agency schedule, but it must follow the same disposition instructions throughout the agency and instruct its staff to do so. If an agency chooses to follow its own schedule, it must notify NARA within 120 days after NARA has issued the new or revised GRS. Notification may be submitted via e mail to GRS_Team@nara.gov .
your agency does not have existing schedules covering records scheduled by a GRS	your agency must follow the disposition instructions of the GRS.
your agency requires a different retention period to meet its business needs	it must submit a records schedule in accordance with 36 CFR 1225 and a justification for the deviation.
your agency does not create or maintain the records covered by the particular GRS	no action is required.

5. Where can I find additional information on the General Records Schedules?

Additional information about the GRS can be found on the GRS web page or in other GRS related FAQs. Questions may also be sent to the GRS Team at GRS_Team@nara.gov.

Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs) about the GRS Update Project

GENERAL ISSUES

1. How does OMB/NARA M-12-18, Managing Government Records Directive, affect this effort, or how does this effort fit into the Directive?

OMB/NARA M 12 18, Managing Government Records Directive, requires that NARA revise, update, and expand the GRS by December 31, 2017. The GRS Update Project is the effort to meet that mandate by revising the existing schedules and adding new content.

NARA recognizes that the Directive requires agencies to submit schedules for all unscheduled paper and other non electronic records by December 31, 2016, and that this deadline may, at times, result in agencies scheduling records that ultimately end up covered by a new GRS as well. Unfortunately, NARA cannot condense its GRS update project timeframe to adjust for this because of the scope of the project. NARA apologizes for the inconvenience, but recommends agencies continue to follow their own scheduling timeline to meet their Directive requirements, rather than wait on a future GRS update.

2. How will the new GRS be different from the current GRS?

Agencies should see the following changes in the new GRS:

- A new structure: the GRS will be completely reorganized along functional lines.
- More streamlined items: we are aggregating previously scheduled records as well as some new records whenever retention requirements allow. The new GRS, as a result, contains a number of big bucket items.
- General updating: we are revising records descriptions and retention to reflect current business practices and rescinding items that are no longer needed.
- More flexible retention periods: new disposition instructions for temporary records establish retention parameters (usually a minimum retention periods), allowing for agencies to set retention periods based on their own business needs without having to request approval from NARA. This will also aid agencies looking to include GRS items in big buckets—they will be able to extend retention periods without NARA approval. This will also provide more clarity as to when a retention period is fixed and cannot be deviated from without significant justification.
- Additional clarity: FAQs and other implementation aides for individual schedules help interpret and implement the GRS.
- New content is included in updated items to reflect current business practices. For instance, records created by credit card purchasing make their debut in the GRS with Transmittal 23 (GRS 1.1). New content is also planned as entirely new schedules in future transmittals, such as executive records—records commonly created or maintained by high level officials—and mission planning and performance records.

3. Will the new GRS include new record content?

The new GRS may include new record series related to the functions mapped to the current GRS. We are also planning to add some completely new functional areas to the GRS, such as Public Affairs Records and Legal Records, but inclusion of these records will depend on whether series are ultimately appropriate for a GRS. Because new content takes more time to research and verify, some of the proposed new schedules may not be completed by December 31, 2017.

4. Are any legacy GRS items being retired?

Disposition items no longer needed are rescinded from the GRS as new schedules replace old ones. For instance, “telegrams filed in support of telegraph bills,” added to the GRS in 1977, make their exit with Transmittal 23. NARA makes the rescissions known by issuing transmittal memos sent out via RM Communication and posted on the GRS website.

5. Why do the new schedules no longer match up with the original GRS Restructuring Plan item list?

The GRS Team used The New GRS: A Plan for Restructuring and Updating the General Records Schedules (September 2012) as a fluid framework to map the older GRS authorities to functional lines of business (LOB) based in part on the Federal Enterprise Architecture (FEA). These functions and sub functions were not meant to be the actual buckets under which records would be aggregated and scheduled. The functions and sub functions only identified the general structure for the new GRS and the organizational structure of the published version of the GRS. During the schedule research and writing phases, the GRS Team found the need to make changes to the original restructuring plan.

THE GRS UPDATE PROCESS

6. Does NARA update the entire GRS at one time or in parts? When will the GRS be updated again?

The GRS is actually multiple schedules—1 through 27. These schedules have, over the years, been updated individually in whole or in part, but never has the whole compendium been updated at once. The new GRS is also comprised of multiple schedules and like its predecessor will be updated in parts. In Fiscal Year 2013, the GRS Team started a five year process of updating the GRS. As new schedules are released they will replace parts of the old GRS. Superseded items will be clearly marked in each new GRS Transmittal until the entire old GRS has been replaced. Once the five year revision project is complete, the GRS Team will continue with periodic updates and revisions of the GRS as needed.

7. How does NARA inform agencies of new GRS updates?

NARA has multiple ways to keep agencies aware of GRS updates. NARA issues new schedules through GRS Transmittals distributed via RM Communications to agency records management staff. NARA also posts updates on its GRS web page. New schedules are published online; both as individual schedules in the Records Control Schedules online repository, and as incorporated with other schedules in GRS Transmittals. The GRS Team has given, and will continue to give, regular updates on the project during NARA's Bimonthly Records and Information Discussion Group (BRIDG) meetings, to which representatives from all agencies are invited.

8. Does NARA solicit agency participation in developing new GRSs?

The GRS Team works closely with agencies to gather information about processes, their related records, and business needs for those records. We solicit agency input in a variety of ways, such as focus groups, and approach some agencies specifically based on their subject matter expertise. We are always looking for new ways to get agency input on new schedules. If you have thoughts about a particular schedule, please contact us at GRS_Team@nara.gov.

THE NEW SCHEDULES

9. Why do the new schedules have flexible disposition instructions such as “when no longer needed” or “longer retention is authorized if required for business use”?

The flexible GRS authorities set parameters for retention periods, rather than specific lengths, so that agencies have some latitude in implementing the GRS for their programs. Agencies may establish fixed retention periods within those parameters without further NARA approval. Agencies may also create big bucket items for records within the flexible GRS retention parameters without requesting approval by NARA.

10. How can agencies using electronic records management applications (RMAs), which require fixed cut-off statements and retention periods, implement the open-ended disposition authorities in the GRS?

The agency may continue to use fixed disposition instructions suited to RMAs as long as the instructions fit within the parameters of GRS disposition instructions and the agency cites the GRS authority. If the agency schedule fixed disposition instructions do not fit within the parameters of the new GRS disposition instructions, the agency may use its existing schedules by notifying the GRS Team within 120 days of the new GRS issuance (if the GRS permits). If the agency finds the new GRS authority covers records not previously scheduled by the agency and its business needs require fixed disposition instructions outside the parameters of the new GRS, the agency may request a deviation from the GRS by submitting a new schedule.

11. Why does the GRS include items for copies of records? Aren't copies "non-record" material?

Some copies of records are used in the course of agency business to make decisions or take action. These, even though they are copies, are also Federal records and the new GRS schedules them. For example, a program office may initiate and track a case file and send a copy to another program office to support the second office's mandate. The agency then has two copies of the case file fulfilling different program directives, and both are Federal records. Other copies are kept only for convenience of reference. Those are non records and for that reason are not mentioned in the GRS.

PROJECT TIMELINE

12. Why will it take five years to complete this project?

The revision project isn't a matter of updating a single schedule. While the GRS Team will build upon current schedules, each new schedule must be built fresh from the ground up. We reexamine old authorities to see if they are still relevant, investigate current business practices to identify new records series that need to be added, solicit and incorporate agency input as much as possible, and analyze all this information to create more comprehensive schedules. We are also committed to building new schedules on the bucket model wherever useful. It is not a small task. It's comparable to an agency updating and revising its entire records manual after 20 years, but even more complicated; rather than looking at records in just one agency, we seek to accommodate all agencies.

13. How long will it take for the GRS Team to finish and issue each new GRS schedule?

The GRS Team estimates it takes about 24 months to draft, review, and issue a new GRS schedule. Depending on the complexity of the schedule and review or other variables, the scheduling process for a particular schedule may be shorter or longer than that estimate.

Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs) about the Impact of the New GRS on Agencies

IMPACT ON AGENCY RECORDS SCHEDULING

1. Should an agency proceed with scheduling records that are going to be covered by a GRS?

If an agency needs disposition authorities ahead of the GRS timetable, it should go ahead and schedule the records. There is no guarantee that new record series proposed for the GRS will ultimately be included. Many factors may either delay certain series or prevent their inclusion in a GRS.

2. Will NARA stop accepting agency-submitted schedules, or processing schedules already in the queue, in anticipation of a pending new GRS?

NARA continues to accept and process agency schedules even if the records may be covered by a pending GRS. An agency may also withdraw a submitted schedule, or an item on a schedule, at any time. If you have questions about when a GRS is scheduled to be revised please contact the GRS Team at GRS_Team@nara.gov.

3. Do new GRS items supersede agency-specific disposition authorities?

According to 36 CFR 1227.12, agencies must use a new or revised GRS only when the GRS states that the provisions must be followed without exception. In all other cases, if your agency has an existing schedule and the new or revised GRS permits use of existing agency specific schedules, you may choose to follow either your agency specific disposition instruction or the GRS. If your agency chooses to follow its own schedule, you must notify NARA at GRS_Team@nara.gov within 120 days of the issuance of the new or revised GRS.

4. If the new GRS does not meet an agency's disposition needs what should the agency do?

If the agency already has an approved agency schedule and the GRS permits the use of existing agency schedules, the agency may choose to use its own schedule, notifying NARA at GRS_Team@nara.gov of its intent within 120 days of the new or revised GRS issuance. If an agency does not have an approved schedule for the records and the new or revised GRS allows for deviations, the agency may request a deviation from the GRS by submitting a schedule to NARA that explains why a deviation is necessary for the agency's records. Please keep in mind that as long as the agency disposition instruction is within the parameters set by the GRS a deviation request is not required.

5. Are the new GRSs mandatory?

The GRSs are mandatory, but unless an item or schedule says that it must be followed without exception, an agency may request a deviation to a GRS by submitting a schedule to NARA with a justification for the deviation. This rule applies to permanent GRS items as well. However, please keep in mind that while an agency may request a deviation, NARA may not agree to approve it, especially for permanent records.

FAQs about the Impact of the GRS on Agencies

IMPACT ON RECORDS IN FEDERAL RECORDS CENTERS

6. Should agencies continue to use existing GRS items to transfer records to the Federal Record Centers (FRCs) or other storage facilities and the NARA custodial units even though the items are being revised?

Yes. If NARA determines existing GRS disposition or retention instructions are in significant conflict with proposed GRS revisions, it will inform agencies not to destroy the affected records until the GRS changes are approved and ready for implementation. This information will be distributed via the GRS web page and an RM Communications email to agencies.

7. Is there a plan in place for NARA to provide the FRCs with the new GRS retention requirements for records in storage?

The FRC Program is an internal stakeholder in the GRS restructuring process and is kept well informed about disposition changes affecting records in storage. The GRS Team provides the FRC Program with copies of the crosswalks for mapping new GRS disposition authorities to superseded ones. However, these crosswalks cover only records retired by agencies under old GRS authorities. Agencies need to notify the Federal Records Center Program (FRCP) of any agency schedule retention requirements that are superseded by new GRS items, including revised manual citations, if applicable.

8. Will my agency be charged for the mass data changes that result from new GRS authorities superseding old GRS ones?

No. Your agency will not be charged because mass data changes are a baseline service provided by the FRCP to agencies, and the changes are paid for in the initial processing fee for each transfer. The FRCP will automatically make updates to new GRS disposal authorities for records center holdings coded under superseded GRS disposal authorities in the Archives and Records Centers Information System (ARCIS). Agencies incorporating new GRSs into their comprehensive records schedules, and desiring mass data changes to ARCIS, will need to inform the FRC Program of revisions in the retention period or item numbering within their comprehensive agency schedule.

Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs) about General Records Schedule Deviations

1. What is a deviation from the GRS?

A deviation from the GRS occurs when an agency uses a retention period for records different from the retention period authorized by the GRS. Deviations are of two types: those that require NARA approval and those that do not.

DEVIATIONS THAT REQUIRE NARA APPROVAL

2. Under what circumstances does a deviation require NARA approval?

NARA approval is required when an agency needs to deviate from the GRS and does not have an existing NARA approved agency schedule for the records.

3. Why would an agency seek to deviate from a current GRS?

Situations where an agency might request a deviation are illustrated by these not exhaustive examples of actual requests:

- a. Extending retention period for Personnel Awards (old GRS 1/item12a) from 2 years to 10 years because the agency has frequent need to refer back to these records for employee promotions.
- b. Merging GRS items to create a new retention period of 4 years, thus extending the current retention periods ranging from 3 months to 3 years, for Motor Vehicle Maintenance/ Operations, Costs and Reports Files (old GRS 10/items 2, 3, and 4). This deviation was requested because the agency's business practice is to maintain these records as a single system of records.
- c. Extending retention period from 3 months to 4 years for Complaint Correspondence files (old GRS 14/item 5) because this agency reviews these letters for possible patterns that may have investigatory value.
- d. Reducing retention period for Badging and Access Control Data (old GRS 18/item 17b) from 2 years to 6 months because the agency determined it had no business need to retain the records for the entire GRS retention period.

4. How does an agency request to deviate from a current GRS when it does not have an already approved agency records schedule for the records?

An agency must submit a proposed records schedule to request the use of a disposition other than that approved in a GRS. The agency submitted schedule must cite each GRS item from which the agency wants to deviate, identify the agency schedule item that supersedes it, and provide a justification for the deviation. This applies whether the records are scheduled in the GRS as temporary or permanent. Some GRS items, such as accountable officer records, require additional concurrence from other oversight agencies such as GAO. Please contact the GRS Team at GRS_Team@nara.gov if you have questions about whether a request requires additional agency review as the current list of oversight agencies is in flux.

DEVIATIONS THAT DO NOT REQUIRE NARA APPROVAL

5. What action must an agency take to deviate from a new GRS and continue using its own previously approved disposition instructions?

If an agency chooses to follow its own schedule instead of a new or newly revised GRS, and if the new GRS does not state that it must be followed without exception (see question 8), the agency must notify NARA within 120 days of the issuance of the new or revised GRS.

Notification should be sent to GRS_Team@nara.gov with the subject heading "<Agency name> GRS Notification." The body of the email should include:

- Agency name
- Name of requester and/or point of contact (POC)
- Requester/POC email address and telephone number
- NARA Disposition Authority (job and item number or DAA item number)
- Agency manual citation (manual name/number, item number)
- Title of the record series or system of records or bucket schedule item

INFORMATION APPLICABLE TO ALL DEVIATIONS, BOTH THOSE THAT REQUIRE NARA APPROVAL AND THOSE THAT DO NOT

6. Can an agency deviate from the GRS without submitting a schedule or requesting a deviation?

Yes, under the following circumstances:

- a. When an agency is aggregating GRS items without changing the GRS retention period
- b. When the GRS disposition is open ended and the agency wishes to have a more specific retention period, as long as it falls within the parameters established by the GRS. See also question 9, below.

- c. When an agency seeks only to temporarily extend the retention period. Per 36 CFR 1226.18a, agencies may temporarily retain records approved for destruction beyond their NARA approved retention period if special circumstances (such as a records freeze or hold) alter the normal administrative, legal, or fiscal value of the records. How to request a records freeze is detailed in the Freeze Process Overview/FAQ on NARA's web site.

7. When is a deviation from the GRS not allowed?

Agencies must use the GRS and cannot request deviations when a GRS states that its provisions must be followed without exception.

8. A GRS disposition instruction is open-ended, stating that records must be kept for a certain period of time but may be kept even longer to meet agency business needs. My agency either already has or wants a more specific disposition instruction than allowed by the GRS. Does my agency need to notify NARA that it will use its own schedule or request a deviation via a new schedule?

Examples of an open ended disposition include "Destroy when no longer needed" or "Destroy when no longer needed for business use, or audit requirements, or to fulfill legal requirements." Open ended dispositions may also contain a specific time period for destruction of records (e.g., "Destroy when 6 years old") and include wording like "or when no longer needed for business use, whichever is later" or "Longer retention is authorized if required for business use." Such disposition instructions are designed as open ended to meet the needs of more agencies, while still establishing basic requirements for destruction of the records.

When the GRS disposition is open ended, an agency may issue its own more specific disposition instructions, provided that these instructions meet the requirements of the GRS disposition. The agency does not need to request a deviation or otherwise notify NARA. For example, if the GRS disposition is "Destroy when no longer needed," the agency may set a disposition of "Destroy when 3 years old." The agency might choose such a disposition when it decides that it would not need any of the records beyond 3 years.

Checklist for Implementing the GRS

The purpose of this optional checklist is to assist agencies to implement a new General Records Schedule (GRS) when one is issued. Agencies may use this tool, in full or in part, as they need when updating agency materials on records disposition. Such materials may include comprehensive schedules, bucket schedules, or disposition manuals. Questions about GRS implementation may be addressed to the GRS Team at GRS_Team@nara.gov.

When NARA issues a new GRS transmittal, an agency should:

- 1. Identify old GRS items in its comprehensive disposition manual that are superseded by any new GRS items. Use the new to old crosswalks for each new schedule, included in the GRS Transmittal, to aid in this process.
- 2. Identify agency specific authorities that are covered by new GRS items.
- 3. Determine whether it is necessary to revise the agency's comprehensive disposition manual to conform to new GRS item(s).
 - If the GRS item states that it is mandatory and must be followed without exception, the agency must follow the GRS and cannot use an agency authority, even if previously approved by NARA. The agency must update its agency comprehensive disposition manual with the new GRS disposition authority.
 - If agency specific schedule disposition instructions fall within the parameters of the new GRS disposition instructions, update the agency specific schedule with the new GRS disposition authority.
 - The agency may define cutoff instructions and set retention periods different from the GRS ones and still cite the new GRS disposition authority—as long as the agency instructions and retention periods fall within the parameters of the new GRS flexible disposition instructions. For instance, if the GRS retention instruction is “destroy 3 years after program closure, but longer retention is authorized if required for business use,” the agency may choose to specify destruction 6 years after program closure and still cite the GRS item as the authority, if the agency has a business need for longer retention.
 - If the agency specific schedule disposition instructions do not fall within the parameters of the GRS disposition instruction, the agency has two options:
 - If the new GRS disposition instruction is appropriate for the records, revise the agency specific disposition instructions in accordance with the new GRS authority.
 - If the new GRS disposition instruction does not meet agency needs, the agency may use its current disposition rather than the GRS one, but must inform NARA within 120 days of its intention to do so. Send notification to GRS_Team@nara.gov with the subject heading “<Agency name> GRS Notification.” In the body of the email, include:

Checklist for Implementing the New GRS

- agency name;
 - name of requester and/or point of contact (POC);
 - requester/POC email address and telephone number;
 - NARA SF 115 or DAA number and item number;
 - agency manual number and item number; and
 - title of the record series or system of records or bucket schedule item
- If the agency has unscheduled records covered by the new GRS item, the agency may choose between the following two options for the unscheduled records:
 - If the agency determines that the new GRS disposition instructions meet its business needs for the records, the agency should add the GRS item to its agency comprehensive disposition manual.
 - If the agency determines that it needs disposition instructions outside the parameters of the new GRS instructions, the agency must submit to NARA a schedule requesting a deviation from the GRS. Note that unless explicitly prohibited, an agency may request to deviate from the new GRS for permanent as well as temporary records.
4. Make changes to the agency's comprehensive disposition manual as needed. Keep track of changes to inform the Federal Records Center Program (FRCP) or storage service providers and agency staff.
5. Issue comprehensive records disposition manuals updated to conform to new GRS items through the agency's policy process.
- Consider vetting the proposed changes with concerned stakeholders such as affected program offices, General Counsel, Inspector General, and others designated as part of the agency policy approval process.
 - Submit new schedules or change transmittals through the agency directive approval process.
 - Prepare schedules and/or manual for normal agency distribution (e.g., through publication on the agency intranet or Internet).
6. Communicate changes in the agency schedule and/or records management manual to agency staff.
- Consider rolling out training with the issuance of new agency specific schedules.
7. Identify changes in agency schedules resulting from new GRS items that affect agency records stored in FRCs or other agency records storage facilities, as appropriate.
8. Inform the FRC account manager and/or other storage service provider of changes to agency comprehensive records disposition manuals, as applicable.
- NARA will provide the FRC program with crosswalks from old to new GRS items. Transfers using existing GRS citations will be updated in ARCIS by the FRCP. The agency needs to inform the FRCP of alterations to agency specific schedule authorities and/or comprehensive records disposition manuals affecting records stored in an FRC in order to accomplish any other required ARCIS updates.

- Contact information for agency FRCP account managers can be found at http://www.archives.gov/frc/acct_reps.html.
- NARA does not provide GRS crosswalks to commercial records storage facilities. If an agency stores records at such a facility, it must inform the service provider of any changes in records retention or disposition.
